MacDONALD INVITED TO U. S.

100,000 DEFY HITLER; RALLY TO REPUBLIC

Gravity of German Crisis Stressed.

BERLIN, Jan. 29.—(AP)—The gravity of the republic's situation since the resignation yesterday of the cabinet of Gen. Kurt von Schleicher was stressed by speakers today in the square before the former imperial palace. At least 100,000 republicans had assembled in an anti-Fascist iron front demonstration.

Thirty-five persons were arrested in various parts of Berlin as scores of other political meetings were held.

Reichsbanner Divisions March.

The challenge of the republicans was strengthened by "maneuvers" which were held by three reichsbanner divisions of 6,000 men in Tegel prior to the demonstration.

Pessimists predicted that the demonstration may have been the swan song of the republicans, but there was no evidence of a letdown in spirits. The speakers challenged Hitlerism and junkerism. Assurances that the "working class is ready to mount barricades to defend our constitutional rights" were loudly acclaimed.

On the other hand, mention of former Chancellor Franz von Papen as the man "who took away the dole from the unemployed, the hungry, and the sick to enrich former royal chamberlains and even Princess Hermine Hohensollern," wife of the former kaiser, brought a chorus of boos.

Iron Front Alarmed.

Franz Kuenstler, Socialist leader, declared:

"Events transpiring in the Wilhelmstrasse bring alarm to the iron front."

When he admitted that the republic had made many mistakes there was silence, but, as he significantly promised, "We will make amends in the not far distant future," the crowd cheered wildly.

The presence at the demonstration of many completely equipped divisions of reichsbannermen added weight to the defy to Fascism. Fears that the demonstration would be disturbed proved groundless, and the marchers, under heavy police guard, were not molested.

Train to Fight Fascists.

In the "wehrsport" exercises at Tegel the splendidly trained reichsbannermen scouted "the enemy," leaped artificial ditches, crawled through wire obstacles and scaled walls like real soldiers.

The reichsbanner has been training for years to combat possible attempts by the Fascists to overthrow the government.

In reply to a question as to what would happen if the reichsbanner were prohibited, one of the leaders said, "We would then carry on illegally."

Centrists Hold Balance.

Former Chancellor Heinrich Bruening's Centrists held the balance of power tonight as continued efforts were made by Von Papen to find a parliamentary majority to form a cabinet. Meanwhile the republican opposition openly flaunted threats of a general strike in the chancellor designate's face.

Von Papen, who has headed the cabinet before as chancellor, spent the day in discussion with political leaders and afterward conferred with President von Hindenburg, acquainting him with the latest developments.

Von Papen's program is to seek to get a majority through a combination of the National Socialists, Adolf Hitler's party, the Nationalists and the Centrists. In an attempt to bring this about he met with Hitler. It was believed the meeting is the preliminary to a further conference.

Ask Guarantees.

With the 196 Nazi members, the 51 Nationalists, and the 89 Centrists and Bavarians, Von Papen might find a majority in the reichstag. The Centrists, by joining the 121 Socialists and the 100 Communists, also could form a majority.

The Centrists at this time are unprepared to support a dominantly Hitler combination, holding fast, it is reported, for ironbound guarantees that the constitution would be observed. The negotiations were expected to take from three to five days.

PLAN TO RENEW SAFEGUARDS ON SALES OF LIQUOR

Leaders Prepare for Illinois Repeal Era.

BY PARKE BROWN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Although Mayor Cermak, Gov. Horner and some of their Democratic associates from Chicago devoted a large part of their conference at the executive mansion today to talking economies, the subject of prohibition repeal also came in for serious consideration.

The decision in this field was that the bills to regulate the handling and selling of intoxicants in the post-Volstead era which is on the horizon will be introduced in the assembly this week and will be advanced as rapidly as possible to catch up with the Ward repealers now on third reading in the senate so that final action to eliminate state prohibition may be taken next week.

"We favor the restoration of the safeguards around the handling of alcoholic beverages that were in force before prohibition," said Mayor Cermak. "Those regulations were the product of the best thought on this subject after many years of debate and we urge that they be replaced on the statute books.

To Keep It in Clean Hands.

"We have already begun to clean up the situation in Chicago so that if this business is restored to its former legality it will not be allowed to get into unclean hands. We have made hundreds of arrests, not for selling beer, but for operating outside city control by failure to take out licenses. And the bills we hope to see passed will establish close control throughout the state."

One new proposal for an estimated saving of $500,000 to taxpayers of Cook county was indorsed. The terms of six Superior court judges expire next year. If a separate election is held the cost will be at least half a million dollars and the conferees agreed it could be saved if a bill were passed to provide that the election be held on June 5 of this year when there are to be one judge of this same court—the term of Judge John Prystalski expiring—and all twenty judges of the Circuit court to be elected.

Two Economies Agreed On.

If this plan is made effective the six judges would not start their terms until the arrival of the time for their taking office if they were elected in 1934.

Another economy proposal supported was to push the survey of state and city leases in Chicago office buildings with a view to taking over a building where they may all be housed at a greatly reduced cost.

A real consolidation came in in connection with the new automobile licensing plan, providing for joint offices of the secretary of state and the city collector of Chicago, where state licenses and city vehicle tax licenses will be taken out simultaneously neither without the other.

Another step provides a special color for Chicago license plates. There also was discussion of issuing only one plate for the rear of the car and a specially colored sticker for the windshield showing both city and state licenses.

It also was proposed to require all garage owners to submit reports on cars from outside the state.

The conference placed itself squarely behind the general state sales tax bill.

BLAST WRECKS FLATS; FAMILIES AWAY AT TIME

An explosion and fire early this morning leveled the two story brick flat building at 846 Miller street, rousing the entire neighborhood and doing approximately $5,000 damage.

For more than an hour police and firemen feared that the occupants of the structure had perished in the blast. Just as they were about to dig in the debris, the tenants appeared on the scene. They had been to a party, they explained. They were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Carssello and their children, Carmen, 17 years old, and James, 20, who reside on the first floor front, and another daughter, Mrs. Florence Coduti, 28 years old; her husband, Anthony, 35, and their son, Andrew, 6, who live on the first floor rear.

The explosion occurred about 3:10. The fire following was so intense that firemen could not get close to the house. Division Chief Patrick Pierce said a gas leak, or perhaps a still, caused the explosion. This latter suspicion will be investigated further today.

Busch Heiress Target of Plot by Bandit Gang

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—A daring plot by a gang of a dozen machine gun armed and masked bandits to rob wealthy and socially prominent guests at a pre-wedding luncheon for Miss Lily Busch Magnus, great-granddaughter of the late Adolphus Busch, multimillionaire brewery founder, was frustrated today. Kidnaping, too, may have been planned, officers believe.

A hunt club president was beaten into unconsciousness and bound in his own home, and two other men were trussed up before the robbers became frightened and fled.

Appear Early in Morning.

The plot began unfolding at 6 o'clock this morning when two of the gang appeared at the home of George S. Tiffany, president of the Bridle Spur Hunt club, at Chestfield, Mo., where the party was to be held for Miss Magnus and D. B. Preece, huntsman for the club, whose engagement had been announced recently.

One of the bandits pounded on the front door of the Tiffany home. Mr. Tiffany raised an upstairs window and inquired what was wanted. He was told that the bandits' car had broken down and that they were in need of assistance. Clad only in his pajamas, Tiffany went down and opened the door.

Beat and Gag Tiffany.

Both intruders leaped at him. One struck him in the eye and knocked him down. The other tore a strip from his pajamas and gagged him. Then, menaced by pistols, Tiffany was forced to open a wall safe. When the robbers failed to find anything of value in it they beat and kicked him until he was unconscious and bound him with picture wire.

After Tiffany had been overpowered two other bandits entered the house and a number of their confederates with machine guns in two automobiles invaded Tiffany's four car garage, where they seized and bound a family employé on duty there.

Plan to Rob Guests.

Then the four bandits in the house began laying their plans for seizing the wealthy guests as they arrived later for the luncheon set for 2 o'clock and robbing and binding them. After Tiffany regained consciousness one of the gangsters remarked to him that the intruders proposed to remain about five hours.

Had the plot been carried out as planned it is estimated that the bandits would have obtained many thousand dollars in jewelry and money.

About 9 o'clock an employé of the hunt club arrived at the house on an errand. He too was trussed up. He remarked that he was expected back at the club within an hour. This statement caused uneasiness among the bandits. They held a consultation and, apparently fearing a search might be made for the employé, decided to retreat.

Seize Weapons and Flee.

The robbers made a hasty search of the house, seized five shotguns and a rifle, ran out to the garage, and fled in the two cars with their confederates.

Credence to the theory that the gang may have planned to kidnap Miss Magnus was lent by the fact that her cousin, Adolphus Busch Orthwein, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy J. Orthwein, was kidnaped from the grounds of the Orthwein home in Huntleigh Village Jan. 1, 1931. The boy later was released unharmed.

SEA CUTS OFF TIP OF CAPE COD AND MAKES AN ISLAND

Chatham, Mass., Jan. 29.—(AP)—The ocean in its offensive of the last two days apparently has taken a new island from the jutting extremities of Cape Cod.

Monomoy Point, eight miles down a narrow peninsula from Chatham, at low tide tonight was cut off from the mainland by a channel 600 feet wide which stretched from Stage Harbor to the Atlantic.

The new waterway made an island of about a four mile tip of the peninsula and made the Monomoy Point coast guard station an island outpost. The point is surrounded by numerous shoals.

The new channel was burrowed by the heavy surf that rushed from the open ocean to the harbor.

2 Lie in Wait, Assassinate Liquor Dealer

Harry Silver, 37 years old, who abandoned the saloon business for bootlegging several months ago, was shot and killed last night inside the doorway of his office in the apartment building at 3944 North Kimball avenue. He occupied two apartments at that address under the name of the Lone Star Novelty company, dealers in old and used slot machines. Police believe this was a blind.

Four or five well worn black ledgers were found in Silver's office, and these were promptly confiscated by Acting Captain John Bourke of the Albany Park station.

Police Keep Records Secret.

Bourke refused to reveal the contents of the books, saying he would turn them over to State's Attorney Courtney. It is believed the ledgers contain records of Silver's booze transactions.

Silver was shot twice in the chest and once in each leg. Revolvers were used. There apparently were two killers. Only one was seen fleeing, however. The killers evidently had lain in wait for more than four hours.

Silver appeared at his office about 4:30 p. m. With him were Alex Skwoj, 50 years old, and Charles Mueller, 40, who served as employés in return for living quarters. About 9 o'clock Silver put on his hat and coat, told the two men to take care of any calls, and started for the door.

Shot as He Opens Door.

As he opened the door the assassins, who had been waiting outside in the building corridor, seized the knob. Silver tried to shut the door against them, but the two men fired and he toppled backward into the office. Mueller and Skwoj summoned police, but Silver was dead when they arrived.

Besides the ledgers, police found an adding machine, a cash box containing $40, and several bank deposit books, one showing deposits of $500. On the wall was pasted a page from a telephone directory listing all Chicago police stations. In the other apartment rented by Silver, on the second floor directly above the office, the police found a quantity of alcohol and several cases of bottled booze.

Quits Saloon After Raids.

Police said Silver formerly operated a saloon in the 3400 block on Irving park boulevard. He was raided by the federal prohibition agents and also by police. About six weeks ago he opened his Kimball avenue liquor depot.

Silver was married, and lived at 3337 Belle Plaine avenue with his wife, Hattie, and two children, Edwin, 14 years old, and Bernard, 12. The widow was questioned at the police station. She said she did not know [illegible] thing about her husband's business or his enemies.

London Discusses Bid to Prime Minister.

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Jan. 29.—It was understood in official circles tonight that President Elect Roosevelt would send an invitation to Prime Minister MacDonald to visit the United States and discuss war debts and economic subjects with him after he takes office. Sir Ronald Lindsay, who discussed the proposed conference with Mr. Roosevelt today, is expected to be the bearer of the invitation.

PREPARE FOR DEBT PARLEY.

LONDON, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Prime Minister MacDonald and the national cabinet will plunge into another busy week tomorrow. Formal cabinet sessions are scheduled for Monday and Wednesday to clear the decks of domestic issues before the reassembly of parliament on Feb. 7 and the homecoming of Sir Ronald Lindsay, British ambassador to the United States.

The utmost importance is attached here to the visit of the British ambassador with President Elect Roosevelt in America. It was thought that it would link Mr. Roosevelt and MacDonald in a preliminary direct contact which the President elect desired for the success of the forthcoming Washington negotiations on debts.

In official circles, where debts have been the main topic of discussion for several weeks, little mention has been made of Stanley Baldwin, lord president of the council, as a possible member of the British debt mission. He has long been subject to criticism for his original debt funding agreement with the United States.

Informed quarters admit that the whole trend points toward MacDonald as the head of the British delegation with Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, as his chief aid.

CONFERS WITH ENVOY

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.
(Pictures on Back Page.)

Warm Springs, Ga., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—After spending four hours in a discussion with President Elect Franklin Roosevelt, in the latter's "Little White House," today Sir Ronald Lindsay, the British ambassador, said he was hopeful that his country and the United States might reach an accord on their economic problems.

Sir Ronald conceded that there would be "decided differences" between the two nations next March when the British delegation comes across the Atlantic to plead for a reduction or cancellation of the British war debt to the United States.

Issues Formal Statement.

A brief and formal statement concerning today's conference was issued by Sir Ronald after it had been agreed upon by President Elect Roosevelt. It read:

"The British ambassador and Mr. Roosevelt have had a wholly informal and unofficial but very satisfactory conversation concerning tentatively the arrangements for the coming meetings in Washington. It is hoped that it will be possible to start these meetings early in March."

Although it was made to appear that the purpose of Sir Ronald's airplane trip from Washington to Warm Springs, which he made immediately upon having been ordered to return next Tuesday to England for conferences with his home government, was to make arrangements for the March meetings, the reports here were that he really came to sound out Mr. Roosevelt on his attitude toward slicing or canceling the debt of several billion dollars.

Doesn't Betray Outcome.

The indirect method by which Sir Ronald previously had sought to obtain the President elect's views, which was through Secretary of State Stimson, are known to have been unsatisfactory to the British view. It was not made known whether his mission was encouraging or not, and nothing could be deduced from the attitude of the bland, smiling Britisher, Sir Ronald, as he emerged from the long discussion.

In stating his views to newspaper men, Sir Ronald foresaw some difficulties when the March conference gets "down to brass tacks," but he added that "of course, I am more hopeful

Church Studies New Theory of Birth Control

Out of the centuries old opposition of the Roman Catholic church to artificial methods of birth control a strong hope has evolved among its clergy that medical science is on the way to a solution of the problem. Concrete evidence of that attitude was registered yesterday in a seminar under the auspices of the Cosmas and Damian Associates, the organization of Catholic physicians of Chicago, at Butler house, Broadway and Belmont avenue. The seminar was attended by leading members of both the clergy and the medical profession.

The Chicago discussion dates back to November of 1932, when a small volume entitled "The Rhythm of Sterility and Fertility in Women" was published. This booklet, compiled by Dr. Leo J. Latz, a member of the staffs of Loyola university medical school and the Alexian Brothers hospital, details the theory of Dr. K. Ogino of Niigata, Japan, and Dr. Hermann Knaus of Vienna, who some years ago, according to Dr. Latz, reached almost identical conclusions on the subject through different methods of research.

Interpretation of Old Law.

The basic theory embodied in the Chicago booklet, of which 7,000 copies have been sold since its appearance, is that these two gynecologists, Dr. Ogino and Dr. Knaus, are now interpreting for the human race a law established by nature when the world was young, which provides for birth control by utterly natural means. This law is designated as a regularly recurring period of fertility and of sterility in women, under normal conditions, providing their monthly cycle is regular. Even where it varies by some days the same conditions may be applied after a conference with the family physician, it is contended.

To date this theory is frowned on by the large majority of medical authorities, whose principal objection to it is that it is only relatively accurate in practice. Opinions of authorities on various matters fundamental to the theory are still widely at variance, it was emphasized yesterday.

Catholic World Interested.

The tremendous interest manifest in the topic by the Catholic world is reflected in the large sale of the Chicago booklet: in articles in Catholic publications in which it is discussed in optimistic vein; in the publication in New York of a volume similar to the Chicago booklet and carrying the imprimatur of Cardinal Hayes; in the foreword of Dr. Latz's brochure by the Rev. Joseph Reiner, S. J., former dean of Loyola university, and in the presence at yesterday's seminar of priests who participated in the discussion.

"Let me remind you," the Rev. John Barrett, superintendent of hospitals for the archdiocese of Chicago, cautioned the men and women who attended the meeting, "that the Catholic church has been a conservative than a month ago." The opportunity of talking with Mr. Roosevelt was, he said, a great advantage.

Explains "Economic" Reservation.

The towering, bulky emissary from the Court of St. James's, who has since the war been a close friend of the Roosevelt family, relieved somewhat the reports, based upon the language of the British note accepting the invitation of Mr. Roosevelt to have a delegation come in March, that his country would refuse to discuss general economic problems at the conference.

"They must be discussed," he said, and he insisted that the British reply to the Roosevelt invitation "shows a willingness" to take up economic problems other than the war debts. He parried most of the questions asked him, and could not be drawn into any admission that Britain would be willing to discuss disarmament, the tariff, and related issues at the conference.

His attitude was taken by some to indicate that his country would not enter into any such discussions prior to the holding of the world economic conference which is scheduled to be held within several months. It is the hope of the British that an Anglo-American accord on debts will be reached prior to the world conference.

Ambassador Lindsay, in response to questions along this line, declared he felt England and America could not come into agreement on the other problems without the calling in of the other world powers affected.

BANKERS JOIN DRIVE

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING,
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—The Hoover administration and New York banking and business interests are bringing powerful pressure to bear on President Elect Roosevelt to agree to a general drastic reduction of the war debts at once without any strings tied to it.

According to one well authenticated report, the pressure became so great that it nearly snapped a long distance telephone wire in a heated conversation between Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson and Mr. Roosevelt.

Encouraged by their ultimate success, after the initial rebuff, in prevailing upon Mr. Roosevelt to invite the British government to discuss the debt revision, these allied forces are now endeavoring to commit the President elect to the plan of procedure desired by London. It was in pursuance of this project, it transpires, that the visit of Sir Ronald Lindsay, the British ambassador, to Mr. Roosevelt at Warm Springs was arranged by the state department.

British Not Satisfied.

Although Mr. Roosevelt's approach to the debt question is not entirely clear, it is one that does not wholly suit the British government, which is bent on getting a reduction tantamount to cancellation of its four billion dollar obligation before the next payment falls due on June 15.

Mr. Roosevelt has talked of bringing about tariff and exchange adjustment which would enable the debtors to pay their debts in goods without any reduction of the principal. Of late he has allowed it to be understood that there would be no concessions on the debts unless there were concessions by the debtors, among which might be the return of Britain to the gold standard.

The British are not diposed to bargain for what they want. They seek a readjustment of their debt on the basis of reduced capacity to pay, which was the basis of the debt settlements. Furthermore, dickering on counter trade and monetary concessions which are involved in the projected world economic conference would make an agreement unlikely before June 15.

Stimson Works on Roosevelt.

According to information oozing out of the state department, Mr. Stimson has been endeavoring to convert Mr. Roosevelt to the British view with experiences not entirely happy. In his frequent long distance telephone conversations with Warm Springs, the secretary is said to have found Mr. Roosevelt in an obdurate frame of mind.

In one of them, something like an altercation is reported to have occurred in which Mr. Stimson threatened to wash his hands of the whole affair unless Mr. Roosevelt yielded and Mr. Roosevelt, while refusing to yield to the British view, displayed considerable vexation with his unofficial secretary of state.

While this has been going on Democrats closely affiliated with Wall street have been pulling the wires at Warm Springs to get Mr. Roosevelt to agree to debt revision negotiations independently of tariff, exchange and disarmament concessions.

Result of Chamber Poll.

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States announced today that its referendum of American business organizations had resulted overwhelmingly in favor of national revision of the war debts for a limited period only. The vote was:

1. Further postponement of payments on the governmental debts due the United States should be authorized by congress on a temporary basis in the case of those debtor countries showing ability to make present payments. For, 1,834; against, 89.

2. Congress should give authority for negotiation of a modified agreement that will promote the best interests of the United States upon a debtor country showing material changes in the bases of its existing debt agreement with the United States. For, 1,791; against, 100.

3. Any modification of an existing debt agreement should be conditioned upon definite provisions for such treatment of our trade by the debtor country as will assure access of American goods to its markets on fair competitive terms. For, 1,743; against, 146.

4. Any modification of an existing debt agreement should be conditioned upon reduction in expenditures for armament. For, 1,568; against, 292.

5. Proposals for the United States to cancel war debts owed it by other governments should be rejected. For, 1,826; against, 44.

YOUNG WRITES HE CANNOT TAKE POST IN CABINET

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Owen D. Young, who has been discussed for secretary of state in the Roosevelt cabinet, has written a letter to Mr. Roosevelt at Warm Springs, Ga., informing him that he cannot be considered for a cabinet position.

This information was made known here today by Democrats in the confidence of Mr. Young. According to them, he was prompted to send such a message to Mr. Roosevelt, now making up his cabinet, because he understood that the latter had seriously discussed him for secretary of state with leading Democrats with whom the President elect had consulted about cabinet timber.

Mr. Young, it is asserted, gave the same reason that he offered when early last year he withdrew his name from consideration as a possible presidential candidate. He cited business obligations and personal reasons.

Baker, Baruch on List.

With Mr. Young out some Democrats thought that the final selection might be either Newton D. Baker or Bernard M. Baruch.

The composition of the cabinet may now become a more serious task than it has appeared heretofore due to the attitude of Mr. Young and the reported indicision of Senator Glass with respect to acceptance of the secretaryship of the treasury. Should Mr. Glass finally decline the offer made to him last week, two of the most important places in the cabinet would be open with the possibility that no selections might be finally made by Mr. Roosevelt for these places until late in February.

Senator Glass may have sent his decision to Mr. Roosevelt today. He had an hour's conversation this afternoon with James A. Farley, chairman of the Democratic national committee. The meeting was held to learn, if possible, Mr. Glass' final decision.

Farley Visits Glass.

Mr. Farley stopped off here three hours on his way to Warm Springs, where he and Lewis McH. Howe will go over with President Elect Roosevelt the situation respecting cabinet and ambassadorship places. Mr. Farley declined to say whether the senator had accepted the offered appointment. Some of Mr. Glass' friends say that he will accept.

The fact that Mr. Farley also visited Senator Hull gave rise to the belief that the discussion with the Tennessee senator also dealt with a cabinet place. While Democrats who figure in Mr. Roosevelt's advisory board said tonight that Senator Hull would be in the cabinet, they believed it likely that he would be either secretary of the treasury, in case Mr. Glass declines the proffered appointment, or secretary of commerce.

Two Suspects Identified as Robbers of Hospital

Herbert Snell, 27 years old, 5449 Magnolia avenue, and Carl Mitchell, 31 years old, 1542 East 65th place, were arrested yesterday and identified as two of the four robbers who on Jan. 21 looted the office of the Swedish Covenant hospital of $100, after threatening 35 women in the hospital lobby. They were arrested in front of 5400 Winthrop avenue by Policemen Otto Ruge and Rudolph Ziegler of the Summerdale station.

Steal Photographer's Outfit from Parked Automobile

Photographic equipment valued at about $800, belonging to Paul Stone-Raymor Studios, Ltd., 430 North Michigan avenue, was stolen from a parked car last night. The theft occurred in the neighborhood of Kedzie avenue and Washington boulevard. The loot included a camera, two lenses, four lamps, some background scenery, and photographic cases.

LIGHTS GO OUT; SHOT TO DEATH AS HE INVESTIGATES

William Mallerich, 38 years old, a roofer, was shot and fatally wounded in the basement of his home at 2045 Ogden avenue last evening when he went downstairs to investigate the sudden shutting off of the electric lights in his home.

James Callahan, 32 years old, a boarder in the Mallerich home, who was with Mallerich at the time, told police that his friend was slain by a petty thief who had entered the basement to steal electric light fuses. Police said a number of such thefts had occurred in the district.

"We were upstairs when the lights went out," related Callahan. "Mallerich remarked that some one probably had stolen the fuses. We went down to the basement and found a man. Mallerich grappled with him and the thief shot him."

STATE TO ASK $75,000 BONDS FOR STEVENSES

Jury to Get Illinois Life Crash Case at 10 A. M.

The Cook county grand jury will be asked to hold James W., Raymond W., and Ernest J. Stevens in bonds of $25,000 each, if they are indicted today on charges of conspiring to defraud the Illinois Life Insurance company of more than $1,000,000. This was announced yesterday by Grover C. Niemeyer, first assistant to State's Attorney Courtney.

Presentation of evidence against the Stevenses will begin at 10 o'clock this morning, Prosecutor Niemeyer said, at which time Ernest J. Stevens will be arraigned before Judge Philip L. Sullivan on a charge of conspiracy to defraud. He was arrested Friday on a warrant obtained by the state's attorney, who learned that Stevens was planning a trip to Europe, for which a passport had been secured. The passport has been surrendered, however, and the case will be continued for action by the grand jury.

Three Witnesses to Testify.

Only three witnesses will be asked to testify against 80 year old James W. Stevens, who was chairman of the insurance company and the Stevens and La Salle Hotel companies, and his sons, Raymond W., former president of the insurance company, and Ernest J., former president of the hotels. Ernest is still manager at a reported salary of $3,000 a month. The witnesses are George F. Ramer, former auditor of the company, in whose name a dummy loan of $1,800,000 was obtained from the company by the Stevenses and turned over to the hotels; Bert J. Stookey, former director of the company and nephew of James W. Stevens; and Clarence C. Walker, state's attorney's auditor.

Evidence for Jury.

The evidence will concern the making of collateral loans, chiefly through dummies, including a subsidiary, the Lincoln Securities company, totaling $3,447,000 and secured by collateral now worth at the most $100,000; the investment of $13,000,000 now frozen in stocks and bonds of the Stevens and La Salle hotels, which were carried on the company's books and in its sworn statements at par; and the payment of $3,000,000 in dividends in 1930 and 1931, $1,000,000 of which went to James W. Stevens when the company was allegedly insolvent.

Evidence showing that the valuation of the home office and fee at 1212 Lake Shore drive was carried on the life insurance company books at $3,500,000, while the cost price was only $922,000, is also to be presented to the jury.

Federal agents of the bureau of investigation are continuing their investigation of the crash of the insurance company, which failed with $150,000,000 insurance on 70,000 policyholders. The inquiry is reported to be centering on evidence of possible violations of the mail fraud statute. It is said that the government does not plan any presentation of evidence to the grand jury until after March 4, when the Democratic administration takes office, with the possibility of a change in the district attorney's office.

KENTUCKY NURSE STOPS SNEEZING AFTER 120 HOURS

Princeton, Ky., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Mrs. Lonnie Dickson, 48, a trained nurse, who had sneezed almost continuously for more than 120 hours, had stopped sneezing today and physicians believed they had discovered the cause of all the trouble.

Mrs. Dickson stopped sneezing last night. She started at 5 a. m. last Monday and sneezed from eight to 25 times a minute all week. Aside from being exhausted, the woman was reported by physicians to be resting normally today.

Dr. W. T. Morse, one of the physicians who attended Mrs. Dickson, said a hair was removed from the woman's nose and the sneezing abated thereafter.

Notables Attend

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Broadwayites rubbed elbows with the judiciary and Mendelssohn's wedding march had a ragtime lilt when Lillian Roth, musical comedy blues singer, was married to Municipal Court Justice Benjamin Shalleck at the Hotel Savoy Plaza this afternoon.

Big Bill Dwyer, bankroll man for the Owney Madden bootleg mob; Benny Leonard, former lightweight champion prize fighter, and Jimmy Hines, Tammany district leader from beer baron Dutch Schultz's bailiwick, vied with such personages as D. Basil O'Connor, President Elect Roosevelt's law partner; Supreme Court Justice Samuel Hofstadter, and other legal luminaries to congratulate the newlyweds.

Rabbi Bernard Birstein performed the ceremony.

"Try the sandwiches, folks; I catered to this party!" simultaneously urged those famous Broadway restaurant rivals, Arnold Reuben and Dave Kleckner, of Dave's Blue Room.

The Shallecks will have a month's honeymoon in Florida.

URGE CLEANUP OF SOUTH SIDE AREA FOR FAIR

Fifteen hundred representatives of 40 churches and more than 100 civic organizations in the south side colored district held a massmeeting yesterday at the Pilgrim Baptist church, 33d street and Indiana avenue, and adopted a resolution urging Mayor Cermak to use the police department and other city agencies to clean up the south side in preparation for the World's Fair.

The petition is to be given to the mayor today by the Rev. J. C. Austin, pastor of the Pilgrim church; Wilson Lovett, head of the South Side Community council, and Edgar G. Brown, director of the ten year progress plan for colored citizens.

"We want to get rid of the 'black belt' as the name of our district," said Mr. Brown. "Our program includes a general physical cleanup of the district."

VIRGIL BRAND'S FORTUNE IN RARE COINS TO BE SOLD

Collection in 15 Chests Is Worth Millions.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The famous collection of coins assembled by the late Virgil Brand, millionaire brewer, is about to be broken up and sold, according to reports.

Appraisers are now making an inventory of the collection, the value of which was estimated a few years ago between $3,000,000 and $5,000,000. The present value cannot be reckoned easily. Like the market value of rare books, values of rare coins have fallen sharply in the last three years.

The collection is now owned by the two surviving brothers of Virgil Brand. They are Horace L. Brand, former editor of the Staats Zeitung, defunct Chicago German language newspaper, and Armand Brand.

Gets Czarina's Collection.

Mr. Brand, who died in 1926, spent years in accumulating the coins. He traveled extensively and attended auctions all over the world. Associates say that he frequently bought large private collections in order to get single coins which he coveted. He bought one large collection from the late czarina of Russia.

Mr. Brand was 64 at the time of his death. He had never married and for years lived mostly in rooms fitted up for him in the Brand Brewing company's building at 3530 Elston avenue. He was known as a benefactor of the poor, but is said to have skimped in his own comforts. His one extravagance was his collecting hobby, and he would pay heavily for a coveted specimen.

In addition to inherited wealth he had a large income as secretary of the brewers' association. Most of this income was expended in adding to his treasure store, it is said.

For years he had kept his collection in his own living quarters. As it grew in bulk and value, however, the hoard was transferred to the vaults of the Continental and Commercial National bank, then at 208 South La Salle street. At this time the collections filled about fifteen chests. It took up so much space that the annual vault rental is said to have been in the neighborhood of $3,000. It is now stored in the vaults of the First National bank, it is reported.

Brothers Get Collection.

Upon the death of Mr. Brand the collection came into the possession of his two brothers, Horace L. and Armand Brand. Horace L. is a large real estate holder and has an office at 28 South Wells street.

Until the recent inventory was begun by a well known Philadelphia appraiser it was said that the brothers were not aware of the size or the worth of the collection.

Appraisers state that the collection is so large that it must be split up to be sold. It would be impossible to find a buyer if the owners wished to sell the whole collection, in the opinion of collectors.

Coins of every description, including specimens of money of every ancient and modern state, are to be found in the collection. Many rare specimens are included.

HONEYMOONS OF FOUR A STUDY IN PSYCHOLOGY

Bridegrooms Will Be Laboratory Subjects.

New York, Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Two students of an exclusive girls' school in Boston, where they majored in biology and psychology and made some adventures into psychiatry, are leaving the classroom work for laboratory experiments.

Their subjects are to be two brand new bridegrooms. The four plan a long honeymoon in the southern seas together; then they are to occupy the same house on Long Island.

Two years hence the girls, unless some little things upset their plans, expect to return to their alma mater, where they will read theses to the students on "behaviorism of mankind when in continued proximity."

They hope to prove or disprove the truth of the old theory that two couples cannot live in peace and amity beside the same fireplace.

The two young students are Jeanne Converse, daughter of Cyrus Holmes Converse of Springfield, Mass., and Elizabeth Harrington, daughter of Virgil D. Harrington of Andover, Mass. They announced the wedding ceremony would take place in the Little Church Around the Corner on Saturday.

Miss Converse's husband-and-specimen-to-be is Henry Harlow Lincoln, son of J. Gardner Lincoln of Ware, Mass., while Miss Harrington's intended study material is James Edwin Wilson, son of Mrs. Bessie E. Wilson of New Castle, Del.

It will be a single ring ceremony attended by upwards of 200 friends and relatives of the social experimenters. The study will begin a couple of hours later when the couples will sail on the honeymoon cruise of the West Indies.

The prospective bridegrooms have made no statement on the subject. Neither is a student of psychology or biology, but each is confident the history of mankind has shown more successes than failures and each looks to the future with bright and fearless eyes, their head unbowed.

SCHOOL BUDGET OF $71,549,701 TO BE VOTED TODAY

Trustees Expect to Make Further Cuts Later.

The 1933 school budget, with total appropriations of $71,549,701, will be adopted by the board of education today unless unforeseen obstacles arise. A poll of the trustees yesterday did not disclose any opposition to passage of the budget but indicated that reductions must come later if the schools are to be operated within anticipated revenue this year.

Nearly all of the 14,000 teachers and 4,000 other employés in the system will receive a straight 15 per cent slash in their basic salary and wage scales this year. Employés who receive less than $1,000 are exempted from the cut.

Cut Total Pay $3,111,805.

The budget item of "personal services," which includes the pay roll appropriations, amounts to $39,332,083, a decrease of $3,111,805 in contrast with the 1932 budget. Last year the pay rolls totaled $42,443,888. Appropriations for regular teachers' salaries this year will be $32,284,542, while the 1932 figure was $34,689,928. Compensation for civil service employés is set at $6,691,191 for 1933. In 1932 it was $7,383,360.

Fund—	—Appropriations for— 1932.	1933.
Educational	$53,200,716	$51,905,403
Free text book	697,438	626,246
Playgrounds	801,666	676,880
Building	12,380,217	8,923,009
Bond redemption	6,488,888	7,962,222
Teachers' pension	1,311,359	1,315,606
Lunch rooms	188,985	119,309
Special funds	21,000	21,850
Totals	$75,180,263	$71,549,701

An item of $3,476,842 in the building appropriations has been set aside for the completion of several schools upon which work is at a standstill.

Expect Passage This Afternoon.

Lewis E. Myers, whose resignation as president and member of the board will take effect upon the adoption of the budget, has called the trustees for a general committee meeting on the budget this morning. Actual passage is expected this afternoon.

The opinions of the trustees, stated privately, that the paring knife will not in be used on the budget, are based on the fact that the stated resources of the school board, against which the appropriations are balanced, include a "paper surplus" of $9,463,869. The so-called surplus represents mainly uncollected taxes for prior years above the expenditures for those years.

Registration in the Chicago public schools for the second term will start this morning. School officials expect an increase of 13,000 in senior and junior high schools and a decrease by almost as much in the elementary schools. Night schools will also start registration tonight.

GRANGE STARTS PLAN TO RECALL GOVERNOR ROLPH

Sacramento, Cal., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Leaders of the California state grange said today a petition seeking recall of Gov. James Rolph Jr. on the general charge of "incompetency" would be rushed to the printers tomorrow.

Approval of the petition form followed the adjournment Saturday of the legislature first half session and failure to balance the governor's budget, although 3,697 pieces of proposed legislation were introduced. The legislature reconvenes Feb. 28.

George H. Sehlmeyer, state master of the grange, said he had been urged to provide a petition, which will need approximately 166,000 signatures to qualify.

"Perpetual Motion"

This device, displayed by engineers at a recent technicraft show in Cleveland, O., is considered by them the nearest approach to perpetual motion. Made entirely of glass, it can be stopped and started, but will run indefinitely with no apparent motive power. It is a vapor turbine which utilizes the very slight difference of one or two degrees of temperature as the motive power. The vapor movement blows on the turbine wheel and causes it to revolve. The cloth wrapping around the upper spiral is wet. The evaporation causes a lower temperature than in the lower spiral.

ILL. WESLEYAN U. TO TAKE CHICAGO SCRIP AS TUITION

Bloomington, Ill., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Illinois Wesleyan, foremost among schools of the middle west in the policy of assisting high school graduates victimized by the depression, to obtain college educations, announces through the offices of its president, H. W. McPherson, and business manager, Nate Crabtree, another plan to help high school students, primarily those of Chicago, complete their education.

The university offers to accept in payment of tuition from families of Chicago teachers and others whom Chicago teachers may recommend, scrip and tax anticipation warrants issued by the schools of Chicago.

The policy has been inaugurated with three purposes in view:

1. To provide an opportunity of further education for children of Chicago.
2. To present a market or outlet or scrip and tax anticipation warrants of unpaid and hard-pressed Chicago teachers.
3. To increase the enrollment at the university, a class A college answering every qualification of the North Central association.

HARVEY SCHOOLS TO REOPEN AFTER 5 WEEK HOLIDAY

Fifteen hundred elementary school pupils in Harvey will go back today to their classrooms, which have been closed since the regular Christmas vacation began on Dec. 23, because of lack of funds.

A citizens' committee started to sell $50,000 worth of tax warrants in the suburb some weeks ago. The school board is between two and three months in arrears in salary payments to the 50 grade school teachers. Dr. George Stevenson, treasurer of the school board, said yesterday that while the original goal has not been reached, sufficient funds are on hand to permit reopening the schools. The tax warrant drive must be continued, however, if enough money is to be collected to keep the school open for the remainder of the term, Dr. Stevenson said.

Teachers in Homewood, who were seven months behind on their pay, got two weeks' pay a week ago as a result of tax warrant sales by a citizens' committee in that town.

PACKING HOUSES BUY $2,300,000 TAX WARRANTS

3 Concerns Aid Drive to Pay Public Employes.

A subscription of $2,300,000 for 1932 tax warrants, the proceeds of which will be used to pay city, school, and county employés, was announced yesterday by Charles S. Dewey, chairman of the committee that is selling the warrants of the three local governments at the request of the citizens' committee on public expenditures.

The subscription is in addition to pledges already received for the purchase of $5,500,000 worth of the warrants and was given by three packing companies, Armour & Co., Swift & Co., and Wilson & Co. Of their total $2,300,000 subscription, $1,850,000 was taken by the three companies for an investment, according to Mr. Dewey, and the remainder for use in paying taxes.

Encouraging, Says Dewey.

"It is most encouraging," said Mr. Dewey, "to gain such a response to our efforts as has come from one of our oldest, most basic, and best known industries. This fine subscription indicates that these business men appreciate the necessity of paying the policemen, firemen, and school teachers, and it shows also what these business men, after careful investigation, think of these 1932 warrants as an investment.

"If we can get the taxpayers and investors to understand what we have to sell and why it must be sold promptly there can be no question about the successful outcome of this drive.

"The need for the proceeds of the warrants is desperate. Civil government exists in Chicago today only because policemen, firemen, teachers, and other employés stay on the job and extend their own personal credit to the governments. This condition cannot continue much longer. The employés have been patient and very game, but they cannot carry on the government much longer without some pay even if they are willing to continue."

Team Captains Named.

The committee is first approaching large taxpayers in its efforts to sell the warrants. Later it will appeal to other ranges of taxpayers and to investors. The team captains who have been delegated to approach the various lines of business, trade, and industry are as follows:

1. D. F. KELLY—Newspapers, advertisers, and publishers.
2. GEN. ROBERT E. WOOD and E. H. POWELL—Mail order houses and wholesale dry goods.
3. HORACE ARMSTRONG—Groceries and confectionery.
4. W. O. BATCHELDER—Hardware, electrical, and sport goods.
5. WARD SEABURY—Insurance.
6. MERLE J. TREES—Iron and steel.
7. GEORGE R. CARR Chemical and drugs.
8. IRVING FLORSHEIM—Leather, rubber and shoes.
9. THOMAS E. WILSON—Stock yards.
10. EDWARD H. CLARK—Heating, ventilating, and plumbing.
11. T. E. DONNELLEY—Printing and paper.
12. STANLEY FIELD—Public utilities.
13. MAX EPSTEIN—Railroads.
14. DAVID CRAWFORD—Railroad supplies.
15. GRAHAM ALDIS—Loop real estate.
16. ARTHUR G. CABLE—Investment bankers, brokers, and the Board of Trade.
17. GEORGE A. RANNEY—Machinery.
18. GORDON STRONG and H. M. McBAIN—State street stores.
19. B. J. MULLANEY—Oil and bus transportation.

No tax warrants have ever been sold by the local governments under such carefully restricted conditions as to issue, safety, and use of the proceeds, according to Mr. Dewey. Only 1932 warrants of the city and county corporate funds and the educational fund of the school board are being offered.

Mr. Dewey also cited the passage by the city council, the county board, and the board of education of ordinances restricting the issue of warrants of these funds to 50 per cent of the tax levies. He said that with such a limitation there is little, if any, chance that warrants of these funds can be bought below par at any time before the 1932 taxes go into collection.

Oak Park Dog Is Coffee Drinker and Mathematician

Stephen L. Austin of 814 North East avenue, Oak Park, claims to own the smartest dog in Oak Park. His name is Boston and he is a bulldog. He is 12 years old and is somewhat of a mathematician. His left eye is brown and his right eye is blue. When a skeptic called at the Austin home, Boston started to show off. He danced on his hind legs, and a moment later lapped up a bowl of coffee with evident relish. Then Boston began his mental tricks. He subtracted four from six with a couple of barks and added three to nine with twelve barks.

TAXPAYERS RISE IN THREE MORE FRENCH TOWNS

Daladier Forming Cabinet; Vague on Debts.

PARIS, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Edouard Daladier, a veteran politician of only 49 years, has been picked as the strong man by President Albert Lebrun to master the turbulent chamber of deputies and dissipate the clouds of unrest and disorder throughout the country. Daladier said tonight that he hoped to announce the personnel of his cabinet tomorrow evening.

While politicians were conferring today, taxpayers in Lyons, Nice, and Quimper staged demonstrations similar to those which were held in Paris yesterday. The demonstrators came in conflict with police in Lyons and Nice. Another massmeeting has been called in Paris tomorrow.

Biggest in Herriot's Party.

Daladier, who was minister of war in the cabinet of Premier Joseph Paul-Boncour which was swept out of office Saturday by a defiant chamber, today accepted the invitation of the president to attempt the formation of a new cabinet. Daladier is a widower, his wife having died only recently.

He is the biggest figure since former Premier Edouard Herriot in the ranks of the radical Socialists. This group with its membership of 160 is the largest party in the chamber.

If he is successful in forming a cabinet, in which it was believed he also would take the post of minister of interior, he must face a budget badly unbalanced, with a daily deficit of 21,250,000, and the shadow of a debt default.

Offers Socialists a Ministry.

Daladier's position on the debts question is believed to be sufficiently vague to enable him to bridge the gap between default and a resumption of payment. As a minister in the cabinet of former Premier Herriot he voted for payment of the debts, but in party councils he expressed reservations.

His reported intention to ask a decree of power is worrying the Socialists, whose support he is seeking. They fear that if they refuse he will form something akin to former Premier Poincare's National Union that operated with almost dictatorial methods.

Daladier talked today with M. Paul-Boncour and M. Herriot and then offered Leon Blum, leader of the Socialists, participation in the cabinet. The Socialists will decide tomorrow what their attitude will be. If the Socialists refuse Daladier then will turn to the moderates.

Herriot Won't Accept.

Herriot said that he had told Daladier, that he was entirely devoted to his proposed ministerial combination and to him personally. In the ensuing negotiations, he said, "I will seek the best method of being useful to him and will make the maximum effort to aid him."

Echo de Paris will say tomorrow that M. Daladier likely will offer the post of foreign affairs to M. Herriot, but that it was believed Herriot would decline because of his stand on debts. In case the Socialists refuse collaboration, the newspaper hinted that François Pietri, who has held posts in several cabinets, might be offered the position of minister of finance.

Find Body of Man Shot to Death on Lake Front

The body of a man believed to be Fred Newman, 60 years old, 949 Windsor avenue, was found yesterday, frozen on the rocks at Waveland avenue and the lake. He was shot through the head and police believe he took his own life. A revolver was found nearby. At the rooming house where he lived, it was said that Newman had not been seen since Thursday. Cards in his pockets indicated that he was a clerk employed by Lyon & Healy, music dealers.

SEIZE SPITALE, BITZ WITH GUNS; LINDY CASE AIDS

Gang Pair Suspected in Murder Case.

New York, Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Salvatore Spitale and Irving Bitz, New York gangsters "damned" to international fame as "go-betweens" in the Lindbergh kidnaping case, fell into the hands of the law again today.

This time the pair were booked on suspicion of homicide and charges of violating the Sullivan anti-pistol toting law. A police emergency squad nabbed them in a Broome street restaurant after a hot-foot chase from police headquarters on an anonymous telephone tip that somebody was about to be put on the "spot" in the place. Both were armed, according to detectives, but Spitale was able to produce a gun permit signed by an upstate judge which seemed to stand the test of scrutiny.

Slaying on Unsolved List.

Somebody recalled, however, that the murder of one Antonio Fontanio, "the champ," a Mulberry street character whose bullet riddled body was found in a gutter in Chinatown one morning last August, was still on the unsolved list and the pair were booked on suspicion of having had a hand in it.

Later they were arraigned and held without bail to give the police more time in which to check up on their activities not only in connection with the Fontanio case, but in connection with the telephoned tip of the supposed restaurant plot.

Arrested Several Times.

Both Bitz and Spitale have been several times in the clutches of the law on various charges. Up to today Spitale was accredited with being a gunman who was too cautious to be caught with a weapon on him. It was always whispered in the underworld that a "gun carrier" was always near at hand in case Spitale wanted a "rod" and after he had used it, the gun was returned to his follower. Both chieftains have been suspected by homicide sleuths of participating in beer and vice wars.

BOY SCOUT WORK IS HELD INSURANCE AGAINST DELINQUENCY

Chicago was urged yesterday to insure its boyhood against delinquency by supporting the Chicago council of the Boy Scouts.

In an annual report made public by R. Douglas Stuart, president, and Mason Phelps, chairman of the executive board, comparative figures were cited to show that a delinquent boy costs the citizens of Chicago $83 a year, while a scout costs only $6.87.

"There are 18,000 cases of juvenile delinquency among boys yearly, costing the taxpayers about $1,500,000," the report declared. "The number of Boy Scouts last year was 17,000, trained at a cost of $118,000."

The report went on to show that, despite a reduced income of more than a third, and also a reduction in staff, the council has maintained its members, increased its service, bettered its financial condition, and reduced the annual cost per Scout to the lowest figure in 11 years.

One-fifth of the Scouts in Chicago are handicapped boys, or live in underprivileged areas, the report revealed. There are troops for deaf, blind, crippled boys, and sanitarium patients, as well as for foreign groups, settlement houses, and boys' clubs.

HAYMARKET RIOT VETERANS SPLIT TREASURY FUNDS

Drop Plan for Last Man to Take All.

Veterans of the Haymarket riot decided at a special meeting yesterday to split up their treasury assets into shares of $60 for each of the 11 surviving members of their association. Enough was left in the treasury to cover funeral expenses of approximately $150 for each man.

The veterans also voted to present their colors, a flag used by the association since its organization, to the Chicago Historical society.

Capt. Tyrrell Presides.

Capt. Frank P. Tyrrell, 74 years old, of Oak Park, president of the association, presided at the meeting held in the Des Plaines street police station. Six of the 11 members still living were present. The decision to split up the treasury, according to Capt. Tyrrell, was prompted by the hard times. It had been the plan of the association that the last surviving member would receive what was left in the treasury.

"We also took into consideration proposals that the money left after the last man died should go into the Police Benevolent fund," said the captain. "But in view of present economic conditions it seemed fairest to everybody to divide the surplus into cash shares and pay them now."

Survivors at Meeting.

Those at the meeting were Capt. Tyrrell, Edward J. Hanley, 82, of 2606 North Kedzie avenue; John T. Gibbons, 78, of 3618 Maple Square avenue; John M. Sisk, 84, of 3516 South Damen avenue; Thomas Meany, 84, of 215 North Parkside avenue; and Andrew O'Day, 78, of 1940 North Ridgeway avenue.

They were among the 176 policemen who fought in the anarchist riots in Haymarket square April 4, 1886. Nine policemen were killed and 66 wounded.

FIFTY RADICALS HELD FOR U. S. ALIEN INQUIRY

Fifty men arrested in the radical demonstration Saturday on Michigan avenue were ordered held at the detective bureau yesterday for questioning by immigration authorities and possible deportation. A number of the men admitted to Sergt. John Adair of the industrial squad that they were aliens. Sergt. Adair recognized a number of the others as foreign born agitators.

Among those held are Sam Cacciattoro, who was arrested on a charge of murder two years ago; Steve La Grassa, who, under the name of Joe Martissa, had been convicted of operating a disorderly house, and Zygmont Zalenski, for whom immigration authorities already hold a deportation warrant.

Police released 113 other men arrested during the demonstration, and booked 11 men and 11 women on charges of disorderly conduct. Five women and a girl were released, and four girls are being held for juvenile authorities.

The prisoners spent their day in detective bureau cells shouting blasphemy at evangelists who went to the cellroom to conduct their regular Sunday services, and in voicing complaints at the jail fare of bread, bologna sausage and coffee. Later in the day sympathizers brought them hot food and fruit.

GARY DISTRICT PUTS SELF-HELP INTO ITS RELIEF

Report Shows 35,000 Had Gardens in 1932.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Self-help projects, notably the home gardens, whereby idle persons have been aided in the steel mill and oil refinery region of Indiana in the Chicago metropolitan district, form absorbing chapters of a survey made public last night. Its title is "The Story of Unemployment Relief Work in Lake County, Ind.," and it is issued by Col. Walter J. Riley, Gary banker, chairman of the county relief committee.

The study, which is not loaded down with statistics, is an effort to give a human interest picture of what is being done to relieve the depression in a compact manufacturing center of more than a quarter of a million population.

An Industrial County.

Lake county in its northern portion is highly industrialized. It embraces Gary, the iron and steel center; Hammond, Whiting and East Chicago, whose manufacturing activities include iron and steel, railway equipment and oil refining.

During the latter part of 1932 the steel industry, which normally employs 40,000 men, was operating 10 to 15 per cent of capacity. The railway equipment industry was prostrated, and the depression in the county was aggravated by the failure of 31 banks since 1930.

In 1932 the expenditures for public and private relief in Lake county are estimated at $2,100,000, about 11,000 families receiving tax paid aid from the townships, and 19,000 families receiving free flour.

Accomplishments Are Listed.

The great feature, however, of the Lake county relief methods, which have attracted national interest, lies "in the "constructive relief" as it is termed, through which, without adding to taxes, the survey sets forth the following projects as having been accomplished:

1. A relief and home garden movement, in which 35,000 people anxious to help themselves produced $600,000 worth of food stuffs last year, the largest project of its kind in the United States.
2. Canning of the surplus food for winter use.
3. Self-help in the way of reclaiming coke and coal from industrial dump piles, cutting fire wood and digging peat.
4. Voluntary repatriation of more than 3,000 Mexican workers in their former homes below the Rio Grande.
5. Enlistment of several thousand women to make garments from Red Cross goods.
6. Expansion of the share-the-work movement.
7. Made-work for those receiving township and other relief.

35,000 Work in Gardens.

The garden movement, as a method not only of giving taxless relief but of sustaining morale among the idle is one of the great high lights of Col. Riley's survey. Last summer, the report says, more than 35,000 people—"more than the wartime strength of an army division"—toiled in some 5,000 group and industrial gardens and in more than 20,000 home gardens.

The "to the soil" movement was successful despite difficulties, for the northern part of Lake county is a stretch of sand, and south of this are marshlands.

Seeds and cabbage and tomato plants were furnished free, the state government and local industries sent tractors to plow up the garden lands, technical advisers and garden supervisors were furnished by industries and good fellowship clubs. Also motor trucks were provided to haul the gardeners to and from their tracts. Purdue university helped organize the canning classes.

Garden Projects Listed.

In detail, the industrial and community gardens in Lake county in 1932 as surveyed by Purdue university, are given as follows, the list not containing numerous group tracts not under supervision:

	Gardens.	Acres.
INDUSTRIAL.
Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co.	617	75
Illinois Steel Co.	1,272	177
American Sheet and Tin Plate Co.	1,367	130

Ford Motor Co.	125	8
Anaconda Copper Mining Co.	130	20
Elgin, Joliet and Eastern Ry.	365	50
Universal Atlas Cement Co.	75	6
Industrial group gardens, employes of Illinois Steel Co.	230	32
COMMUNITY GROUP.
North township [trustee]	260	60
Center township [trustee]	37	4
SETTLEMENT GROUP.
Katherine Settlement, East Chicago	75	20
Brooks Settlement, Hammond.	251	80
COMMUNITY MADE-WORK.
Calumet township [trustee]	105
Gary-Alerding Settlement house	40
INDUSTRIAL MADE-WORK.
Illinois Steel Co.	76
Total	5,221	948

Among other self-help projects, residents of Gary and East Chicago were allowed to reclaim 30,000 tons of coke from a steel plant dumping pile at Gary. Coal was reclaimed from an industrial cinder dump at East Chicago. In Hammond the bureau found work for people who earned $238,000 last year.

Cut Wood for Needy.

In East Chicago and Hammond car shops turned over discarded wood from dismantled freight cars, and jobless workers cut them into 7,000 loads of wood of usable size, which were distributed to the needy. In Gary an industry with a large amount of timbered land issued permits to family heads. As a result last season 1,746 wood cutters and peat grubbers got fuel for 1,021 families, and 14,200 cords of wood were cut under supervision.

"Lake county industries were among the first to apply the share-the-work plan," says the report. "In some industries, like oil refining, it now means the five day week, while in others it is the six hour day, or some other method of distributing employment to as many persons as possible."

HURLS WRENCH AT HIS STOLEN AUTO AND LANDS THIEF

A well thrown monkey whench sent an 18 year old youth to the Bridewell hospital as a suspected auto thief last night and recovered a stolen car for Herbert Heiber, a traveling salesman living in Evanston. Heiber threw the wrench.

About a month ago Heiber visited his mother, Mrs. Emma Heiber, at her home at 1539 Harrison street. His car was stolen from in front of the house. Maxwell street police recovered it. Last night he visited his mother and his car was stolen again.

Indignantly he reported the theft to police and then, armed with the wrench, began a search for his automobile. At Loomis street and Elburn avenue he recognized his car approaching. He poised himself on the sidewalk and as the automobile passed him slowly he hurled the wrench at the driver. It struck the driver on the head. He was Louis Codulo, 3239 Flournoy street.

RELIEF OFFICIALS OFF FOR CAPITAL WITH LOAN PLEA

Wilfred S. Reynolds, executive secretary of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, and Deputy County Controller M. J. O'Connor left for Washington yesterday to ask for loans totaling $6,535,030 from the Reconstruction Finance corporation for the purpose of continuing relief for the idle in Chicago during February. Of the total to be requested $553,250 will be asked for downstate counties.

SON, 16, BATTLES IN VAIN TO HALT FATHER'S SUICIDE

Max Strauss, 53 years old, formerly employed in the county clerk's office, walked into the bathroom of his home at 1084 Granville avenue last night. His son, Stuart, 16 years old, knowing his father was despondent, became suspicious and followed.

The boy arrived just as the elder Strauss placed a revolver to his temple. Stuart struck at the weapon, hit his father's hand, and turned the gun downward. In the same movement the gun was discharged.

The bullet lodged beneath Strauss' heart. He died shortly afterward at the Edgewater hospital. His wife and his daughter were home at the time of the shooting.

3 Bandits Rob Manager of 18 East Elm Street Hotel

Three armed men, one carrying a shotgun, invaded the offices of the apartment hotel at 18 East Elm street last night. They threatened J. D. Seitz, the manager, and Jacob Coleman, the elevator operator, and then stole $32 from the cash drawer.

GIVE OLD GOLD TO CHURCH FOR RELIEF OF IDLE

New York, Jan. 29.—[Special.]—As the three wise men went to the manger bearing gifts for the Christ child the parishioners of historic Trinity church today brought to church with them gold and silver plate, trinkets and jewelry to be converted into funds for the benefit of the idle.

Articles strange to the interior of a church were collected in large wicker baskets at the threshold as the first step in a plan sponsored by the Protestant Episcopal church relief committee. The articles are to be melted into bullion or sold as they are. Those who have contributed sentimental heirlooms usually ask that they be melted.

Among the articles collected and kept under guard during the services by a uniformed policeman and a detective were silver trays, silver cologne bottles, chafing dishes, fruit dishes, salt shakers, bonbon spoons, powder boxes, and table silver.

The Rev. Dr. Frederick S. Fleming, pastor of Trinity church, in his sermon said religion was a means of keeping men's hearts tender in the depression and that the day of miracles had not passed.

"A period of depression is one that makes a man hard, soft or broken-hearted," he said. "How many people can you think of who are going through life with all the joy taken out of it? They are people who have reached the point of collapse and have no vitality left. When people are down and out they begin to worry. You must be on the lookout for disease, physical and mental. Religion is the one thing now that can keep hearts tender."

LONG BEACH, CAL., FLOOD PERILS FIFTY FAMILIES

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—As nine life guard boats were kept busy today rescuing some fifty families from their flooded homes in the Lake street district of Long Beach, a heavy rain continued to drench Los Angeles.

An area of about twenty-five square blocks is under water in Long Beach, and life guards experienced difficulty in reaching many of the marooned residents.

The refugees were ferried to the American Legion hall, where the Legion kitchen provided them with food and shelter.

Meanwhile apprehension was expressed for the safety of thousands marooned in California's snow-clad mountains. It was estimated tonight that more than 3,000 were trapped in mountain regions by the storm.

Seized as "Peeping Tom" Near South Side Home

Morris Evans, 23 years old, of 7709 South Laflin street, was arrested last night as an alleged "peeping Tom." He was seized by Clifford Yiskis, 7710 Bishop street, in an areaway of the Yiskis home. Yiskis charged that Evans was looking into the bedroom window of his 19 year old sister. Evans denied the accusation, but was held by Gresham police on an open charge.

'NOT HOSTILE TO GREAT BRITAIN,' DE VALERA SAYS

Believe Irish Will Renew Talks to End War.

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Eamon De Valera, who will be reelected president of the Irish Free State when the new dail eireann meets a week from Wednesday, said today the policy of his government concerning the land annuities to Great Britain would remain unchanged.

It was believed in many quarters that negotiations with Great Britain concerning the annuities, the oath to the crown, and other matters opposed by De Valera would be resumed at an early date.

In an interview today in which he made the statement concerning the land annuities, De Valera said the election of last Tuesday which returned his Fianna Fail party to power with a one vote majority "does not indicate hostility towards Great Britain."

For Freedom; Against Hate.

"Of course, there is a vast difference," he said, "between a positive sentiment for freedom and a negative one of hate for another people. Our desire and the desire of a vast majority of our people is to live on friendliest terms with the people of the neighboring island."

Nothing had been decided, he said, regarding the Irish senate, but he favored a second house consisting of 25 which would be representative of all the economic interests of the nation. During his campaign De Valera mentioned the advisability of reducing the number or curbing the powers of the senate, which now numbers 60.

He said he thought the dail was too large. He added that he thought a body of about 120 would be sufficient and would be less expensive. The dail now has a membership of 153.

Discussing the economic policy of the Fianna Fail government, De Valera said: "We hope to ruralize or decentralize industry."

From Cities to Farms.

"Instead of getting people into cities," he said, "we want to establish small industries complementary to the great industries of the land and to build up, with smaller towns as the centers, communities which would be moderately and reasonably self-contained."

Despite his defeat in last Tuesday's election, William T. Cosgrave, former president and leader of the opposition to De Valera, faces the future with confidence and hope. In a message to his constituents today he said:

"For the remarkable manifestations of public confidence which the people of Cork have reposed in me and in my party I tender my sincere thanks. Heartier welcomes and beautiful gifts were followed by support at the polls which will be to me a constant inspiration. We face the future with confidence and hope."

Says Ulster Wants No Change.

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Lord Craigavon, premier of Northern Ireland, today decried talk of conflict between Northern and Southern Ireland and flatly contradicted a report attributed to him that Ulster was prepared for war with the Free State.

"As far as I know," he said, "there has been no suggestion either from Ulster or from the Free State that there might be border fighting. Why should there be? Ulster is definitely against an all-Ireland republic. I have said over and over that we stand firm for the British empire and no force of arms would alter us."

TWIN SONS SEIZE BANDIT WHO SHOT THEIR FATHER

Abe and Max Levin, strapping 16 year old twin sons of Jacob Levin, butcher at 3521 West 16th street, leaped upon a bandit who shot and wounded their father in a holdup of his shop yesterday afternoon and held him until police arrived. The father, who was wounded in the right leg and beaten over the head with a pistol butt, was taken to Mount Sinai hospital.

The bandit, Jack Niedle, 20 years old, 1331 South St. Louis avenue, entered the shop with a drawn pistol. The sons were trimming meat in the back of the shop. They did not hear the bandit order Levin to raise his hands or see the father swing his fist at Niedle's chin. But they heard the shot which the robber fired when Levin missed his swing.

The youths ran into the shop to find their father lying on the floor and the bandit looting the cash register. The sons pounced on him. A passerby called the Lawndale police, who arrested Niedle.

LABOR PROTESTS NEW RECOGNITION OF RUSSIA MOVE

No Compromise Despite Hard Times.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—The widespread circulation of reports that the incoming Roosevelt administration may recognize soviet Russia today prompted the American Federation of Labor again to place itself squarely on record as opposed to the resumption of diplomatic relations with the communist government.

In a statement of the position of the American Federation of Labor, William Green, president, asserted that labor considers that the cost of recognizing Russia would far outweigh any commercial advantages derived. He declared that labor would not compromise with communism.

"The American Federation of Labor is against the recognition of soviet Russia," said Mr. Green. "Labor holds that those who make up the Russian dictatorship must disavow in clear and unmistakable terms the doctrine of world revolution and of the establishment of communism by force before any consideration whatever is given by the United States to the recognition of soviet Russia.

In the last few months scores of reports have been circulated to the effect that recognition of the soviet was on the way. Polls of the senate have indicated several senators favor such a step. Some of those who are labeled Roosevelt experts, are reported to favor resumption of trade with Russia.

Apparently authentic reports have indicated a study of the soviet situation will be made early in the Roosevelt administration.

"There is abundant evidence at hand," stated Mr. Green, "which clearly shows that an intense drive is being made to bring about the recognition of soviet Russia by the government of the United States.

"There may be those who would infer that because of the mistakes of capitalism and of the representatives of American industry and because of widespread suffering among the masses of the people labor, driven almost to desperation, would compromise its attitude regarding soviet recognition. Such an impression, if it prevails, is erroneous. Labor will not compromise upon this principle."

2 TRAINS HIT CARGO OF PORK; MAKE SAUSAGE

The landscape was strewn with pork chops and sausage yesterday at 159th street and the Rock Island railroad tracks, near the Oak Forest infirmary, when a truck carrying five and a half tons of pork products was struck by two freight trains.

The driver, Eric J. Vigfusson, 3048 Rutherford avenue, and his helper, Eugene Beasant, 432 Winneconna parkway, were thrown clear when the first train hit the truck, which was the property of Swift & Co. The impact threw the truck onto another track and a train going in the opposite direction completed its demolition.

TRANSPORT HEAD SEES NO VALUE IN SEAWAY PROJECT

HALIFAX, N. S., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Joseph S. Wood of Cleveland, president of the Lake Carriers' association, said here today he could see no immediate advantage for Canada or the United States in development of the upper St. Lawrence for ocean commerce.

Mr. Wood, who was a member of President Hoover's commission on transportation, arrived aboard the Montcalm on the way to Cleveland after a visit in Europe.

"It is possible that 50 years hence such development might benefit both countries," he said. "But I have no doubt that for many years no benefits would accrue."

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

DEFENDERS GIRD FOR AIR BATTLE IN HAWAII 'WAR'

Test of Strength of U. S. Outpost Begins.

HONOLULU, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Grim looking guns—their muzzles threatening but their breeches empty—pointed seaward tonight in readiness for an "attack" on Honolulu fortifications.

An expected air attack from the "black" fleet, steaming from San Diego, will demonstrate as definitely as unloaded guns can establish whether an enemy advancing on the Pacific coast could first silence and destroy America's mid-Pacific outpost.

Hawaiian Attack Significant.

Although Hawaii's part in this year's army-navy maneuvers will be of short duration, military authorities regard it as significant. They point out that an enemy bent on attacking the western mainland could ill afford to ignore this base, from which United States forces could launch a counter attack.

Tonight every defense force on Oahu island was secure and alert as the war games officially began.

The army's newest anti-aircraft guns—which officers believe will keep attacking planes at altitudes where bombing aim would be haphazard—were anchored at advantageous spots, their muzzles trained skyward. The valleys of Oahu's mountainous terrain echoed the drone of patrolling night flyers and searchlights gashed the skies.

10,000 Troops Hidden.

Ten thousand troops who moved out of Schofield barracks into the field Friday lay hidden in clumps of trees and fields of brush. Gulches sheltered huge field guns dragged into position by tractors. They were so securely hidden as to be undiscernible beyond a few yards. Every post was on 24 hour duty.

Generally discounting a night raid, military officials believed a dawn attack tomorrow or Tuesday was most probable. They pointed on the "enemy" aircraft could hope to accomplish little by "dropping" bombs at random during darkness, and the necessity of lighting decks of aircraft carriers for returning planes would make them easy targets for defense aircraft.

"Black" Fleet Near.

The "black" fleet, which left San Diego a week ago, has had time to come within striking distance. Its cruisers may simulate a bombardment of Oahu later, but "defending" army-navy forces expect the first burst of action to come from the planes.

Scouting craft from Pearl Harbor lay out to sea to report the "enemy's" approach. Until it is sighted defense planes will patrol 150 miles into the Pacific.

NAVY MAY DEVELOP BASE FOR U. S. FLEET AT SAN PEDRO, CAL.

San Pedro, Cal., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Naval officers announced here today investigation of possible sites and costs for a base at San Pedro harbor sufficient to handle the entire United States fleet has been ordered by the navy department.

Immediate acquisition of a site in the harbor was recommended by Admiral Richard H. Leigh, commander-in-chief of the United States fleet, and, acting favorably on his suggestion, the navy department has commissioned Rear Admiral T. J. Senn, commandant of the Eleventh naval district, and Commander H. A. Jones, new naval reserve chief here, to conduct the study.

Prime factors of the enterprise were given as enhanced security for the nation in war, and economy and convenience for the fleet.

The need of centralized shore facilities in San Pedro harbor was said by the naval authorities here to include a transport dock for passengers and cargo, a warehouse and freight office, a terminal for securing base force small craft and ship's boats, and a receiving ship or other suitable quarters for recruit and transfer groups and short working parties.

"The need of base facilities should not be confused with a navy yard," said Admiral Leigh. "We already have too many navy yards."

SILVER SERVICES GIVEN ADMIRALS BY GOVERNMENT

Rep. Blanton Incensed at Gifts.

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—The average admiral in the United States navy was not born with a gold spoon in his mouth; but once he becomes a high officer, your Uncle Sam provides him with 105 stylish silver spoons for which Mr. Taxpayer, you foot the bill.

This silver quota is divided in the following way:

There are 18 each of: spoons to dip up bouillon at luncheon; spoons to lap up soup at dinner; spoons to stir the tea at 5 o'clock; spoons to dangle in dainty after dinner coffee cups of an evening; spoons with which to eat dessert. There are six silver salt spoons [that's not a tongue twister, it's a statistic]; and six tablespoons; there are two silver spoons for the sugar bowl, and one miserable little silver spoon for the mustard pot.

18 Silver Finger Bowls.

Nor is that all. There are 18 silver finger bowls, and, of course, 18 silver plates to go under the 18 silver finger bowls. All together, there are 105 pieces of flat silver furnished by the federal treasury.

I got all this from Representative Thomas L. Blanton, the turbulent Texan, who got it from the assistant secretary of the navy, Ernest Lee Jahncke, who sent along an inventory of the silver, linen, china, and glassware allotted admirals on their ships or when they are assigned to shore duty.

Tom Blanton took one look at the list. Then he got up in the house and made as fiery a speech on free silver as William Jennings Bryan ever did in the old days. With this difference: Mr. Bryan was all for free silver, the kind the taxpayer gets at a bank; Mr. Blanton was all "agin" free silver the kind the taxpayer gives to an admiral.

"I want to ask my colleagues," Representative Blanton shouted, "how many families are there in the United States that have in their homes as much silver, linen, glassware, and china as is furnished these high naval officers by the government?"

Other Items on List.

The list contains such items as this, in the free silver department: dessert forks, 36; oyster forks, 18; nutcrackers, 6; dessert knives, 36.

All the silver, including bonbon dishes and celery dishes, fish dishes and fruit dishes, totals 371 pieces.

"And, remember," cautions Mr. Blanton, "it is the finest heavy silver plated ware that is manufactured."

Just to give the proper nautical touch to the admiral's table there are two silver boats. They are for the gravy.

Mr. Jahncke's list also tabulated 96 pieces of linen; 296 pieces of chinaware, and 67 pieces of glassware.

CHINA ORDERS KIN OF JAP 'PUPPET,' PU-YI, ARRESTED

PEIPING, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Peiping military authorities today issued an order for the arrest of Prince Kung, known as "Mr. Pu Wei," a cousin of Henry Pu-yi, the regent or administrator of the Japanese supported state of Manchukuo.

The order was issued following a report from the commandant of local gendarmerie that Pu Wei had arrived in Peiping from Manchuria to recruit former members of the Manchu Imperial guard for service in Manchukuo.

Sino-Jap Clashes in Jehol.

SHANGHAI, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Chinese dispatches today reported clashes between the Chinese and Japanese along the eastern border of Jehol province, the advices saying the Japanese had again bombed Kailu, in northeastern Jehol, from the air.

One hundred houses in Kailu were reported to have been destroyed and many persons killed. It was further stated that Japanese infantry had attacked Woshin, in eastern Jehol, and had been repulsed by the Chinese with the loss of 250 men.

Low Hanging Clouds and Smoke Darken Chicago

Low hanging clouds and insufficient wind to dissipate the smoke beneath them produced an unusually dark condition in Chicago yesterday. The wind, from the south, averaged about two miles an hour during the afternoon. Moderate southeast winds, somewhat warmer temperatures, and possibly light rain were forecast for today by the government weather bureau.

BEG YOUR PARDON

Senator James Hamilton Lewis writes to state that while he voted in the senate against tabling a free silver amendment to the banking bill, he is not in favor of the amendment. He objects as a matter of principle, he explains, to the tabling of any motion without giving opportunity for a hearing or vote on its merits. THE TRIBUNE'S heading in the roll call indicated that those who voted against tabling favored the measure.

It was stated in yesterday's SUNDAY TRIBUNE that Gilbert McClevey, 1131 Loyola avenue, was sentenced to two years in prison by Federal Judge Woodward on a charge of impersonating a prohibition agent. It should have been added that the sentence was suspended and that McClevey was placed on probation for three years.

JUDGES REJECT MEYERING'S PLEA FOR HIS POLICE

Sheriff William D. Meyering was notified yesterday that his plea asking the Circuit court judges' committee on help to reconsider their recent order abolishing the county highway police had been denied.

The order, issued Jan. 20, decreed that the force of 100 men should be dropped on May 1. This was done, it was explained, as an economy measure because of the expected creation of a metropolitan police force to take over the duties of the highway force. The judges indicated that if the metropolitan force were not created, they would reinstate the county department.

In asking for reconsideration of their action, Sheriff Meyering asserted that provision should be made in the 1933 budget for the payment of salaries of the county force. The budget will probably be passed by Feb. 12. Sheriff Meyering said that if the salary provision is not included, any effort to reinstate the county force after the budget is passed will be futile. The judges considered the sheriff's argument, and yesterday, Judge Philip Finnegan advised him that the abolition order would stand for the present.

The horn of the animal caught the matador in the left side, under the armpit. The fighter was thrown to the ground and before he could rise the bull gored him again, this time in the right side.

Human fly
ILLUSION:
Like a fly this remarkable woman walks—head down—in defiance of gravity—backward and forward across a board hung from the ceiling!
EXPLANATION:
This old illusion is dependent for success on a simple scientific principle. Attached to each of the performer's shoes is a rubber "sucker" or disc which creates a vacuum and adheres to the board—supporting the "human fly's" weight.

It's fun to be fooled— ...it's more fun to KNOW

We all like magicians' tricks. But tricks in cigarette advertising are quite another matter.

Here's one you may have wondered about. The illusion that only one cigarette is "pure."

EXPLANATION: All popular cigarettes are made under the most sanitary conditions. All use a good cigarette paper. All are made with practically identical modern machinery. All are pure.

But the quality of the tobacco is another story.

The pleasure you find in a cigarette is determined by the quality of the tobaccos used. Mildness and fine flavor come from the costlier tobaccos.

It is a fact, well known by leaf tobacco experts, that Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.

It's the tobacco that counts—plus a matchless blending of leaf with leaf to bring out the delicate flavor of choice tobaccos.

That's why Camels have given more people more pleasure than any other cigarette.

CHILEAN SCHOOLS ARE REVEALED AS RED INCUBATORS

Dismiss 1,000 Teachers as Moscow Agents.

BY NORMAN INGREY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SANTIAGO, Chile, Jan. 29.—After months of vacillation the Chilean government has stood four square to the communist menace among state school teachers and dismissed 100 more of them.

This action was the sequel to two meetings, one at Antofagasta and the other at Concepcion, where representatives of 10,000 teachers passed resolutions that the class room should be used immediately to convert children to communism.

Half Teachers Involved.

Although the government's step brings the number of recent dismissals to nearly 1,000, public opinion is not satisfied. It is pointed out that at least half the national body of teachers is involved in the anti-social movement and that their proselytizing work in the classrooms has already involved the rising generation to such an extent that the stability of national institutions may be endangered at an early date.

Tardy investigation commissions found that the state school teachers, many of them women, had been preaching communism in the provinces for years. Even in the Santiago metropolitan area one hour daily had been devoted to "the class war" in 40 per cent of the scholastic establishments. The Red flag, it was discovered, had displaced the national banner in assembly halls. Moscow was the central point in geography lessons and music and singing was dedicated to the glories of communism.

Parents Protest.

President Arturo Alessandri, who, with Domingo Duran, minister of education, signed the decree expelling 100 of the teachers, admitted that the "Concepcion and Antofagasta assemblies are communistic in character" and that "fathers of families had lost faith in the moral prestige of those who taught the rudiments of knowledge to their children."

Resolutions passed by the teachers' federation bound them to organize a solid front in the class war, to work for a communist state with equality for all, to teach school children that communism was their only hope in the world, to use the classroom to expose the dangers of foreign imperialism, to be in the vanguard of the revolutionary movement, and not to hesitate to use violence to achieve their ends.

BRAZIL'S TROOPS PREPARE TO ACT AS PEACEMAKERS

MANAOS, Brazil, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Gen. Almerio Moura, commander of Brazilian land and river forces in the Amazon area, announced today he will sail soon for Tabatinga, the Brazilian town across from Leticia, an upper Amazon port over which Colombia and Peru are in dispute.

Gen. Moura said that he expected to inspect Brazilian border detachments sent to preserve Brazilian neutrality in the controversy and that he was prepared to take over Leticia when diplomatic arrangements for such an action were completed.

[Brazil has suggested that Leticia be turned over temporarily to that nation pending settlement of negotiations between Colombia and Peru. Columbia is said to have accepted the proposal, while Peru has announced partial acceptance of the plan, known as the Brazilian formula.]

Brazilian border forces are well placed in the upper Amazon region and stand ready to carry out the Brazilian formula when finally approved, Gen. Moura said.

New troops recently have been added to the force at Tabatinga within a mile of Leticia and outposts have been established in the towns of Benjamin Constant, Porto Cleto, and Armassa. These forces total several thousand troops and are aided by two gunboats.

PLEA OF GUILTY WILL BE MADE BY MRS. CARRELL

Sentence on Manslaughter Charges Planned.

Charleston, Ill., Jan. 29.—(AP)—A compromise move tonight removed the threat of a death sentence from Mrs. Inez Steed Carrell, 30, former Chicago business woman, accused of the slaying of her three small children.

Defense attorneys announced that an agreement had been reached with the state's attorney whereby Mrs. Carrell would plead guilty and be sentenced on manslaughter charges.

Agree at Conference.

Charles S. Fletcher, chief defense attorney, said a conference was held this afternoon between representatives of the defense and State's Attorney J. I. Dilsaver at which it was agreed that Mrs. Carrell might enter a plea on a manslaughter charge.

A guilty plea carries a mandatory term, Fletcher said, of from 1 to 14 years. Mrs. Carrell, who fed her children poisoned candy and then drowned them in a bathtub of a Mattoon [Ill.] hotel room, has been indicted on three charges of murder. It was expected, Fletcher said, that Mrs. Carrell would enter pleas of guilty tomorrow on three separate manslaughter counts and would be sentenced separately on each.

Parole After Thirty-three Months.

Such a procedure, Fletcher said, would make her eligible for parole in 33 months, if the sentences on each charge were to run consecutively.

Fletcher described his client as a victim of the economic situation. She killed the children, he contended, because she became unbalanced mentally through fears of starvation for them after her savings evaporated in the bursting of a utility bubble.

Act to Form Coalition to Oust South Africa Cabinet

CAPE TOWN, Union of South Africa, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Dr. Colin Fraser Steyn, a lieutenant of Tielman Roos, former Supreme court judge, arrived here today with authority to conclude an alliance with Gen. Jan Christian Smuts for a movement opposing the government. Rumors were current that Prime Minister Hertzog's government would resign if the former judge's envoy and representatives of Gen. Smuts' South African party were successful in forming a coalition.

WE found out, first, that there was a kind of tobacco that grew in the Blue Grass section of Kentucky called "White Burley," and that there was a certain kind of this tobacco which was between the tobacco used for cigarettes and the tobacco used for chewing tobacco. It is this tobacco which is best for pipes.

And this is what you smoke in Granger. The best pipe tobacco grown—made by the right process, the famous old-time Wellman Method—cut right. It smokes cooler, lasts longer and never gums the pipe.

SWANKIEST CARS IN HISTORY SET AUTO SHOW MARK

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

The 1933 automobiles are as exciting as A Century of Progress buildings, and almost as revolutionary, a crowd that thronged the Coliseum discovered yesterday. In the thirty-three years of annual displays of motorized vehicles in Chicago, the exhibits of the current exposition top the record for agitating the onlookers with their low prices and high standards of beauty.

The electrified price tickets on each car tell one story, and the restrained opulence of the perspective on the entire show reveals another. The price tickets proclaim that automobiles are cheaper. Their looks indicate that they are better machines than have ever been built before.

Thunder of Custom Built.

These domestic, utilitarian equipages standing so temptingly and so sturdily on their soft carpets, or revolving grandly on automatic turntables with girls of magazine cover pulchritude draped effectively behind their wheels, have stolen much of the thunder of the custom built cars. Their colors are balm to the senses of the most esthetic minded—soft creamy beiges, the paler tints of blue, and individual café au lait, as well as the staple midnight blues and blacks.

In the far flung perspective of the Coliseum, the current show is by far the swankiest, the most entertaining, the best dressed, the most cheering to the casual citizen who comes to see and remains to buy. It has more than vividly garbed majordomos prancing hither and yon, chic girls in spotless white uniforms demonstrating the mechanical perfection of powerful brakes, the shimmer of chromium and the gleam of lacquer. It has all these, but it has more.

Bullet Shaped Racing Sedan.

For instance, the focal point for the crowds since the doors first were thrown wide on Saturday, has been a new sedan built by one of the higher priced concerns. It sells for $10,000 and looks like nothing so much as a variation of the bullet shaped racing car as was used to shatter records at Daytona Beach some months ago.

Because of the price, only five of these cars were manufactured. One has been sold to Irene Bordoni, the French musical comedy star. Its replica, standing yesterday at one end of the main hall of the Coliseum, was guarded by a Negro giant in an ivory uniform almost the identical hue of this ultramodern automobile.

The top of the tonneau slopes backward with only a slight dip to permit insertion of a wide slit of a window atop the back seat. Then it swoops on downward in uninterrupted grace to the tip of the almost conical body. There is room for five passengers, three in the front seat and two in the back.

At the other extreme of the exhibition hall is a modestly priced chariot that has created nearly as great a sensation among the spectators. It is a sedan with two doors on each side which fit neatly into each other when closed, but when opened leave the entire inside of the car open to view. It sells for $875.

Thursday Is Women's Day.

The back doors are hinged at the back of the car and the front doors at the front. Thus if all four doors are opened at once the vehicle resembles a shelter house on wheels, open to the elements and with no stationary post to support the sides, since that support comes from the doors once they are shut. Absence of the post permits easy entry to the car. This model is priced at $1,077.

Thursday will be women's day at the show. Feminine celebrities will be present, and special stress will be laid on the features that appeal to women. One of the attractions is expected to be the introduction of leather upholstery used with fabric. The top of the back of a seat and the front of the bottom is upholstered in the leather and the remainder in fabric, thus bringing the tougher material into service where the friction is greatest and wear obvious.

Enameled radiators in the same tint as the body of the car are expected to gain the approval of the feminine element. So are the polished, prow shaped radiators that resemble the shield of a knight of old. And the fenders of the new models that are made in one piece lending grace and strength to the design.

Animated models of various processes of manufacture, including one showing the entire routine of assembling a certain make, attracted visitors by the score.

There is approximately $600,000 worth of merchandise on display in the exposition. Two hundred and fifty passenger cars are shown and not a single truck, for lack of room. Fifty accessories' booths show various types of gadgets of especial interest to women, but not lacking for men in their audiences yesterday.

AUTOMOBILE SHOW NOTES

Forty thousand men, women and children attended the national automobile show on Saturday and Sunday Alfred Reeves, vice president of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce and manager of the show, made this estimate and said it broke all records, surpassing even the crowds of the boom years of '28 and '29.

Walter P. Chrysler, head of the corporation bearing his name, will be host to 2,500 dealers and salesmen at a banquet tonight in the Naval armory at the foot of Randolph street. Other executives will include B. E. Hutchinson, chairman of the board of Plymouth; J. E. Fields, president of Chrysler Sales corporation; Byron Foy, president of De Soto, and K. T. Keller president of Dodge. Roy Peed, De Soto general sales manager, is chairman of the banquet committee.

A thousand Buick, Oldsmobile, and Pontiac retail dealers of the Chicago zone will meet at a luncheon in the Palmer house today to hear 1933 plans. The principal speakers will be R. H. Grant, vice president of General Motors; I. J. Reuter, president of B. O. P. Sales corporation, and W. A. Blees, general sales manager for the B. O. P.

Five cars built prior to 1900 will parade under their own power in front of the Coliseum at 3:30 this afternoon in an "oldest automobile" contest sponsored by the management of the motor show. The makes are an Oldsmobile, two Duryeas, a Stanley Steamer, and an Orient Buckboard.

Barney Oldfield, the first man to drive an automobile a mile a minute, was 55 years old yesterday. He made his record in 1903. He is now highway safety director for Plymouth Motors corporation, and is in Chicago for the automobile show this week.

Child, Believed Kidnaped, Is Found Frozen to Death

Boyertown, Pa., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Believed to have become lost in attempting to follow his father to a store, two-year-old James Weinsteiger was found frozen to death today in a field near his home at Englesville. The child's disappearance last night led police to fear he had been kidnaped.

NEWSBOY ROBBED IN HOTEL.

Joseph Pope, 1111 South Marshfield avenue, a newsdealer at Clark and Van Buren streets, was robbed of $55 by a bandit yesterday when he stepped into the washroom of the Vestibule hotel, 66 West Van Buren street.

EXPECT BRIGGS STRIKE CRISIS AT NOON TODAY

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Indications today were that the Briggs Manufacturing company and its 6,000 striking employes still were at odds over recognition of workers' committees for negotiations concerning working conditions.

Without official confirmation, either from the strikers or from the company, it was reported that the workers were agreed to the guaranteed base rate of pay offered by the company, but that unless some agreement could be reached on the basis for future dealings the men would not return in a body before the deadline at noon tomorrow.

Tomorrow noon, a week after the strike started, company officials have announced that relations with the strikers will be broken and the gates open to new applicants.

In the face of discouraging reports concerning negotiations there were predictions that the strike would end tomorrow morning.

Officials of the Ford Motor company, whose plants have been shut down since Thursday because the supply of automobile bodies manufactured by the Briggs company was cut off, predicted the strike would end by Tuesday.

Edward Horacek, 48 years old, yesterday was found shot to death, a revolver in his right hand, in a flat at 1168 West Twentieth place where he lived with his brother, Joseph.

Church Afire, Chimes Ring as Short Circuit Occurs

Hot Springs, Va., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Fire today heavily damaged St. Luke's Episcopal church here and partly destroyed a number of religious pictures in the apse which were being painted by Mrs. William Sergeant Kendall, well known artist. Firemen who until late afternoon continued to fight the stubborn blaze attributed it to an overheated furnace. A short circuit caused by the flames rang the chimes and led to the discovery of the fire.

The Style-Conscious Motor Car Buyer now looks to the Interior

It is here, too, that Bodies by Fisher clearly evidence their superiority—the smartest fabrics and latest modes of tailoring are seen first in this fine coachcraft.

One of the most significant examples of quality and style in the new Bodies by Fisher for General Motors cars is the extensive use of the new Mohair Velvet upholstery. It is the opinion of many discriminating motorists that no other material in the entire field of motor car trim can compare in regal luxury, rich depth of color and fine luster, with this handsome new pile fabric. Mohair Velvet lends itself perfectly to the new style effects in tailoring—wears so extremely well through years and years of the hardest use—and has such a delightfully comfortable, cool texture that it is rightfully classed as America's favorite upholstery.

Fisher coachcraft—featuring extraordinarily beautiful, smart, new interiors—is on view now at the National Automobile Show at the Coliseum, and at the Hotel Stevens. It is a signal example of the exceptional value now offered in all General Motors cars—the only cars with Body by Fisher.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

MR. HOOVER HOLDING OVER.

It is said on Capitol hill in Washington that the supporters of President Hoover's 1936 comeback are trying to see to it that no bills reach him which would be hurtful for him to sign or veto. If that should be true, then legislation in the closing days of this congress would be calculated for its effect, good or bad, upon certain political prospects three years from now.

The interim between an election and inauguration, about to be shortened by constitutional amendment, contains many curious phenomena. They will vary with circumstances, but may be at their worst in just such times as the present.

When a President is holding over after the exhaustion of his ambitions by the limitations of unwritten law, and is to be succeeded by a friendly man of his own party, the tension is least. When defeated ambition and frustration merely wait for the results of an election to take effect the consequences may be the worst. Just as a President at the top of his swing is the world's most powerful ruler, one with his stride stopped by defeat is the most impotent. All the animosities which his days of success recruited in his rear come down upon him. Now, if ever, is a level headed man required, and a stubbornly opinionated man will do damage.

Mr. Hoover, at present, is a locum tenens, a person in temporary trusteeship. His office, it is true, carries real responsibilities which do not lapse until Mr. Roosevelt has repeated the words of the high oath he must take. Nevertheless these responsibilities should be separated from Mr. Hoover's purely personal opinions and convictions. His policies received a vote of lack of confidence.

It would not be unnatural for him to think that the nation was temporarily out of its senses and that upon sober reflection it will again look to him for leadership. To an impersonal view nothing now seems less likely. In 1936 the country may be tired of Democratic administration and turn again to the Republican party. It does not follow that the return will be of any personal consequence to Mr. Hoover. More likely a man of deeper comprehension of the American political institution will be in the lead. There are a number who showed they were perceptive when Mr. Hoover was not.

Mr. Hoover's vetoes should be considered, before they are signed, with a view to paramount interests of the country. A mandatory interest should appear before he undertakes to undo the decisions of congress. Even as a lame duck congress the assemblage on Capitol hill is closer to the popular determination of questions than is the administration. It is not to be urged that the popular feeling is in all respects wise; neither is it apparent that Mr. Hoover's personal feelings are. Some questions of policy have been removed from his personal determination if there's anything at all valid in our system of representative government. One question concerns the Volstead act and the eighteenth amendment.

Certainly here Mr. Hoover, in his remaining days in office, can, with propriety, exercise nothing but self-restraint. Whatever he may think of modifications of liquor regulations proposed in congress, he must know that he had his day with the people on the question and lost. Vetoes here would reveal a stubborn misconception of the terms of his present trusteeship. The closing days of a President are not properly reserved for final exhibitions of willfulness. Nonconformity when opposed to legislative action based on popular decisions is not creditable to a President's opinion of his place in the government.

THE HARPO MARXISTS.

The Doukhobors are funny folk, especially in Canada. When the spirit moves them nothing will satisfy their craving but to take off their clothes and parade where they're not wanted. A more intimate knowledge of their spiritual and mental processes would be required to know what they are trying to achieve or precisely what gratification they get. The human body is certainly no spectacular rarity. The earth has been cluttered up with it for some spell. Theoretically it is a thing of beauty, but that theory is best served when the body is covered with anything from a drapery of rags to an outfitting by the best tailor. The average beef steer is a comely thing, but it takes such exceptionally fine bodies as predominate the picture along the Chicago bathing beaches to sustain the idea that the nudist is offering the world anything to gladden the eye.

Consequently the Doukhobors in one of their nude parades merely outrage the rest of the community and, as has been said, what they accomplish remains a mystery. But a good deal of the world is run on the professional theory of Harpo Marx. It gets a glint in its eyes, rumples its hair, and does something crazy. The demonstrations against the relief stations may be put in this category. The purpose of the communistic cells, easily distinguishable from brain cells, is fairly apparent. Its transparency does not, however, include any sanity. The victims of the agitators can maintain no higher degree of responsible purpose than Harpo Marx. Their eyes are wild, their hair on end, and the more illogical their performance the greater gratification it seems to afford.

Many citizens who find the work of maintaining these relief stations and of conducting all the emergency work which the United States has undertaken, politically and privately, such a staggering aggregate as a charge against their incomes, are beginning to feel that the provocation is a little too much. They want neither a Stalinized nor an Insullated society, but they feel a justified exasperation when the difficulties out of which they are trying to pull their neighborhoods, their states, and their country are given over to such gratifications as those provided by the Harpo Marxist damn fools.

A GOVERNOR DEALS WITH REALITIES.

Gov. Schmedeman's budget message to the Wisconsin legislature is refreshing. It contains nothing about the iniquities of the rich, if any, recognizes that the administration of the state is a business with a reduced income and sets out to balance the budget by cutting its costs to meet its means. The governor recommends a reduction of a little more than 25 per cent in appropriations as compared with the present biennium. This is a reduction of $14,000,000, and is $20,000,000 lower than the requests of the department heads, still unconvinced that there is a depression.

The governor recognizes that tax uncertainty has been only less paralyzing than tax payment, and defines his plan of raising what additional money may be needed to meet extraordinary expenditures. "I feel that taxpayers of all classes are entitled to this measure of assurance from their executive," he explains.

While there may be disagreement with the means the governor selects there remains admiration for the definiteness of his program. Gov. Schmedeman definitely opposes a sales tax. He opposes any general state property tax, and opposes any increase in income and inheritance taxes. He proposes to raise $2,000,000 by a tax on beer, and recommends diverting $1,000,000 of the gasoline tax to the general fund. He also advises making departments more nearly self-supporting and warns officials there must be uniform coöperation in cost cutting or else a special session will be called to make additional recommendations.

Gov. Schmedeman has had the courage to keep his campaign promises. His budget message may meet the disapproval of the payrollers whose salaries are cut or who see the extinction of their jobs, but it will have the unqualified approval of the voters and the taxpayers, be they Democrat or Republican.

He has said the costs of government must be cut and has proceeded to show how. He asks for complete suspension of capital expenditures, suggests legislation to permit towns, cities, and villages to use their $4,000,000 highway allotments for relief if necessary, and recommends generous reductions of salaries, especially for higher officials. He is ready to dispense with numerous unnecessary services, and recommends applying the ax vigorously to the numerous state aids that have exhausted the wealthier counties to pay them and the poorer counties to qualify to share in them.

The University of Wisconsin is called upon to stand part of the general economy to the extent of nearly a million dollars a year. This is regrettable, the governor hints, but still bearable to those friends of the faculty to whom he points out they will still receive salaries much higher than the state ever paid the strong men of other days who gave the university its rank and prestige among the best American institutions of higher learning.

Gov. Schmedeman's message is one in which Wisconsin may take comfort. It reveals an executive with intelligence to see there is no bottomless source of money available to support indefinitely public enterprises that are not necessary, even though highly desirable. It reveals an executive with the stamina to begin a long needed movement towards state economy.

It is a new and in these days a welcome sort of a message.

Editorial of the Day

WHAT'S GOT INTO THE BOY SCOUTS?
[New York Daily News.]

We're concerned about the Boy Scouts of America. The concern arises partly from an item found in our esteemed contemporary, the Ossining Citizen-Reporter, and partly from what Manhattan Scout executives have to say about present day Scout policies.

The Ossining paper tells how a Scout may obtain one of his organization's merit badges. He must do any eighteen of the following twenty-three odd jobs—many of them very odd for a Scout, we'd say:

Paint a door or a piece of furniture. Whitewash or calcimine a ceiling. Repair gas fittings. Repair sash lines. Repair window and door fastenings. Replace gas mantels or fuse plugs and electric light bulbs. Replace washers. Solder. HANG PICTURES AND CURTAINS. Repair window shades. Repair curtain or portiere rods. LAY CARPETS. MEND CLOTHING. MEND UPHOLSTERY. Repair furniture. REPAIR CHINA. Sharpen knives. Repair gates or sagging doors. Repair screens on windows and doors. Varnish floor and woodwork, or revarnish furniture. WAX OR POLISH FLOOR. Set glass. CLEAN OUT A SINK TRAP. [Capitals ours.]

Why isn't bathing the baby or cooking dinner included; and what happens if the poor fellow gets housemaid's knee in the course of performing these merit badge jobs?

Asked about what kind of training our boys are getting in the Boy Scouts of America, Scout executives in Manhattan have this to say:

"The Boy Scouts have been criticized so often by pacifists and radicals on the charge that it is a militaristic organization, that Scout policy leans backward to avoid all appearance of militarism, or of teaching the boys to be hard boiled in any way, shape or form.

"There is one merit badge for marksmanship. But few of the boys go out for it, and target practice, though possible in a few Scout camps, is not encouraged.

"Boxing? Wrestling? Well, sometimes, in a few troops. But no inter-troop or city-wide boxing or wrestling tournaments.

"No hunting; and the organization is officially against trapping, except in the case of country boys.

"No manual of arms, no military drill, ever; Scouts cannot bring guns to camp."

That sounds as if pacifists and uplifters and animalarians and grownup goody-goodies had wormed pretty well into the ruling circles of the Boy Scouts. It doesn't make inspiring reading, any more than the sissified list of general housework requirements for a merit badge does.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

HAPPY DAYS!

How nice to go down to the Auto Show. We went in yesterday with a couple of dimes jingling lonesomely in our southeast pocket and a street car transfer still clutched fondly in our left hand. The cold weather, the dark skies and the piercing wind made the depression seem much more depressing. But inside the big building all was warmth, bright lights, flowers, music and lovely new models. Right away a salesman, a bright, keen young man who was certainly able to judge human nature, tried to sell us an eighteen thousand dollar car. It made us so pleased we almost burst into happy tears. That keen, bright young salesman who was so very able to judge human nature thought we looked able to buy an eighteen thousand dollar car. The lights in the great room seemed even brighter, the flowers burst with gorgeous perfume, and we seemed to hear the angels singing in the distance.

We strolled on and another nice young salesman said: "Would you like to look at our 24 cylinder Googoo?" We said we would love to look at it. We would even look at a 30 cylinder car or one with 48 cylinders and with diamonds heavily encrusted in the steering wheel. "You'll never regret buying that car," said the salesman. We felt sure we never would. In fact, we were positive we wouldn't. It was such a truly magnificent car. It had gadgets and handles all around that you just pushed whenever you wanted to go anywhere and the car would go there, stop of its own accord and then give two silver, birdlike notes indicating you had arrived at your destination and it was up to you to get out. But we demurred. We were looking for a car that would do more than call our attention to the fact we had reached the place we wanted to go.

So we said we wanted a car that would gently open the door, lift us up and stand us on the sidewalk. The agent said he didn't think there was any car with that attachment yet, but the inventors were working on it and as soon as the thing was ready it could be installed in our car without the slightest trouble.

And then we asked the price of the car. We were getting so brave by that time we would have asked the price of the Atlantic ocean if somebody had been around there offering to sell it. And when the agent named the price we didn't bat an eyelash. An hour before, if we had been told the price of that car, we would have wondered if there was that much money in the world. But after you've been in the Auto Show for a few minutes what's fifteen thousand dollars? Just a lot of silly money. So we told the agent that we were looking for a car of a little higher cost. The price didn't matter—oh, it didn't matter a bit. The higher the price of the car the more we would be pleased. Which was quite true, for, as we weren't buying a car anyhow, what difference does a few thousand dollars make. Oh, none whatever. Not at all. Not at all.

So we toured happily through the show, feeling richer every minute, and when we came out we climbed into a street car and said "Home, James," to the conductor just like that.

BEST WISHES.

I dress my wishes up in rhymes
And send them out to play.
And one in silver gray.

And one in rose, and one in gold,
And one's a rainbow hue.
Right merrily they dance about
And play at coming true.

And you may smile to realize
That dreams so gay can be;
But I have many dearer far
That you shall never see.

The ones I cherish most I keep Safe hidden in my breast.
I do not dress them up in rhymes
Nor ever send them out to play
For fear that they might run away!

THE DAVIDSON COUNTY, TENN. (and Nashville, the state capital, is in Davidson county), W. C. T. U. has petitioned Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes to refuse to administer the presidential oath to Mr. Roosevelt because the latter "by open opposition to a part of the constitution had disqualified himself to 'preserve, protect, and defend the constitution.'" Which makes one wonder whether we humans ever really grow up or do we always remain children?

SWAMP SKETCHES.

VII.—ECLIPSE.

Nobody liked Tim Mallory's woman there,
A wind-blown Amazon with flaming hair,
Her cheeks stung scarlet underneath the tan.
Only the teacher with the dying dream,
With whose few books she fed her starving mind,
Could partly follow down the thundering stream
Of her blood's boiling energy to find
The buried heart of beauty in her breast;
And much of it was hidden even from him.
There came a day they found her body pressed
On a bright kitchen knife, and poor weak Tim
Babbling above the horror he had done,
Wild-eyed and saying he had stabbed the sun.

THAT TIRED FEELING.

It is said that marathon racers show a need for sugar, water, and salt at the end of their grueling contests. When physiological tests were made during some of the contests a few years ago there was some surprise that nothing of importance was revealed. The heart was not found to be particularly enlarged or dilated and no evidence of strain was noted in the lungs. There was some evidence of albuminuria, but it was transitory and no Bright's disease was noted as a sequence.

In more recent contests the method used has tended to be more along chemical lines. One of the results of these tests has been evidence that during an endurance run of more than twenty miles and lasting more than an hour the contestants' blood sugar is burned almost to exhaustion. The muscle and liver cells feed sugar into the blood stream to supply the shortage, but, do the best they can, the deficiency is not met and blood sugar runs far below the normal level. In consequence, the runner feels weak, suffers from exhaustion, and may go into collapse. He keeps on his way because of his guts and will to win and in spite of an urge to quit on the part of all his organs lower in the scale than the brain.

Sugar in the blood is necessary for life, and absence of blood sugar is an invariably fatal disease, if the term can be so used. This statement, without further elaboration, will cause some to think there is no sugar hunger except among those who are very uncomfortable and in great danger.

On the other hand, a large number of persons suffer minor discomforts as a result of temporary low blood sugar. A man gets up in the morning with an "all gone" feeling. He is good for nothing until he has his morning coffee. We will assume that he is not a steady drinker and that his yearn is not for the drink of liquor that his body cells crave. The probability is that the man has used up considerable of his sugar during the night and his blood sugar is very low. He drinks a cup of coffee and feels fit. The warm drink has helped and the coffee has contributed its part, but far from being useless is the sugar used in the coffee. The man might have felt just about as happy had he dissolved some sugar in warm water and substituted that for coffee.

A woman goes shopping. Toward the fag end of the tour she feels faint and "gone." She may stop and have a cup of tea and chocolate. It might not be so pleasing but she would brace up pretty well if she ate a little candy or a few lumps of sugar, or drank some sweetened, flavored, warm water to which no coffee or tea had been added. Sugar is an excellent bracer.

Marathon racers sometimes fortify themselves by drinking some sirup or eating some sugar before the contest. During a marathon the contestant loses an excessive amount of water and more salt than he can spare. This adds to the discomforts and may cause him to have cramps.

LEAKING HEART.

An Anxious Mother writes: I was informed by the doctor at the school that my 15 year old daughter has leakage of the heart. Is it serious? Can they ever get better and live to a ripe old age? How does this condition affect the general health?

REPLY.

As long as compensation remains good there are no symptoms. There may be none for fifty or more years. Wisdom and judgment as well as information are needed in handling such cases. Many are harmed by too many restrictions. Some are not restricted enough.

ONIONS AND BEANS.

M. T. writes: Are onions wholesome? How about green pickled tomatoes? How about green beans?

REPLY.

Onions and beans are. Pickled tomatoes are with reservations. The tomatoes are wholesome but the pickling is apt to be rather rich in condiments.

HANDS ARE NUMB.

Mrs. C. S. writes: I am 43 years old, the mother of four children. Every day, working around the house, my hands become numb. Can you tell me the cause?

REPLY.

It may result from pressure on the nerves in your neck, your shoulders, or in the upper arm, including the elbow.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 30, 1917.

NEW YORK.—The name of Count von Bernstorff, German ambassador to the United States, today figured most prominently in the congressional committee's investigation of the reported "leak" which enabled Wall street speculators to profit enormously from advance knowledge of peace negotiations. The name previously mentioned by Thomas W. Lawson was first uttered at the afternoon hearing, when Attorney Sherman L. Whipple, in a savage examination of Archibald White, forced the head of the brokerage firm of White & Co. to tell of his acquaintance with the German diplomat. Despite an all day grilling, White refused to divulge any information of value.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The largest naval appropriation bill in the history of the United States, carrying authorization for the expenditure of approximately $356,000,000, will be reported to the house. The bill is $44,000,000 greater than last year's bill, which, up until that time, was twice as great as any naval bill ever offered. The bill contains provisions for the construction of three battleships at about $28,000,000 each, one battle cruiser at $26,000,000, three scout cruisers at $9,000,000 each, fifteen destroyers at $1,700,000 each, one submarine tender, $2,300,000; one submarine tender, $1,900,000, and eighteen 800 ton coast submarines at $1,300,000 each.

BERLIN.—An armed transport vessel, "crammed with troops," sank ten minutes after an attack by a German submarine on Jan. 25, an official announcement today said. The transport, which was convoyed by a French cruiser, was sunk 250 miles east of Malta by a submarine, which sank three vessels in two weeks' operating in the Mediterranean. The statement also reports the sinking of three Norwegian, two British, and one Russian vessel yesterday.

WAR SUMMARY.—Petrograd announces further advances near Jacobeni, on the Rumanian front, with the capture of 1,000 men. A British attack on German lines near Armentieres was beaten off, the German war office says. London states a German effort in Alsace failed. Petrograd reports the destruction of Turkish trenches in Galicia; Berlin says the Russian attacks failed. London announces extension of the North sea "dangerous for shipping" zone from a point off the Jutland coast of Denmark to the northern section of the Dutch coast. From Berlin comes news of the blockade of Helgoland bight by the British. The aim is to check the arrival and departure of submarines.

EL PASO, Tex.—Juarez, from early yesterday until darkness, again was the scene of rioting as a result of American quarantine regulations. Today more men than women took part and it was late night before the Carranza officials across the international bridge were able to get the mob under control. During the rioting the Mexicans approached the middle of the bridge and hurled missiles at United States soldiers on guard. Two American soldiers were injured, one by a flying bottle and the other by a rock. The Juarez chief of police last night said he had ordered all of the ringleaders of the rioters arrested. He is said to have admitted Villa partisans were largely responsible for the mob's actions.

CHICAGO.—While new court action seeking the discovery of the "kidnaped" Marjorie Delbridge was taken last night a massmeeting of Negroes was held in Dreamland hall, 3518 South State street, to protest against the action already taken to remove the little 14 year old white girl from the custody of the Negro "Mammy" Jackson. Notice was served on "Mammy" Camile Jackson, her granddaughter, Wilmae Powell, and Attorney Chester W. De Armond and James G. Cotter, that proceedings in contempt would be brought against them before Judge Bowles by the officers of the Juvenile court, based on the belief that they have knowledge of the girl's whereabouts.

A ROUTINE DAY IN THE SENATE

RADIO NOISES AND THE EDISON COMPANY.

Chicago, Jan. 23. — Twelve radios in our building are suffering from scratchy line noises which two competent radio men claim is caused by a leak in a transformer pole in the rear of the building. The Edison company will do nothing to remedy it unless a service charge of two dollars (for first half hour) is paid.

It seems strange that the public should be made to pay for repairs to the Edison company's plant. We are paying for power service and we are entitled to the best possible service that the Edison company can render, whether the service be used for lighting or for radio.

When your telephone needs repair it is repaired without charge. Why not the same with electric service?

I wonder if the Edison company pays the investigators two dollars per half hour. Pretty good wages.

Do you suppose a service charge would be made if Chicago had two power companies and the Edison had a little competition? WILLIAM R. SPENCER.

STRANGE LOVE.

Chicago, Jan. 23.—This morning, in glancing over the movie section, my eyes rested on the announcement regarding "Mädchen in Uniform." When I read the short, concise description of its theme I wanted to cry out in protest. Imagine characterizing such a fine, human story as a "drama of love hungry school girls and their strange loves." There should be a law against the crime of perverting the public mind.

Here is a story of a very lonely child who found an ideal in her teacher. Innocently she loved this admirable, human, and understanding leader. Why should this normal school girl attraction be cruelly distorted so that a morbidly curious public may call it a "strange" love and view it with a suspicious eye? It is an undeserving slam at a perfectly directed, simple story. To think wrong of its theme is as ill-founded as misunderstanding a mother's passionate love for her child or a painter's enthusiastic fondness for earth and sky.

GERTRUDE E. GILBERT.

FOR THOUSANDS OF NAMELESS GIRLS.

Pueblo, Colo., Jan. 22.—Many parents wish to name their children in honor of the President. President Roosevelt's name can only be used for boys, and girls are handicapped. So I thought of the name of Franklynne to be used for girls. The editor of the Pueblo Star Journal thought it a very good idea and printed an article about my inventing the name Franklynne. But Pueblo is only one place and I thought if the Chicago papers—and I rather like yours—would give it a writeup it would be used by thousands who are trying to name their girl babies for the President.

MRS. J. J. TURNER.

THE HOOEY FINDS AN ADMIRER.

Park Ridge, Ill., Jan. 17.—There is a growing conviction that Senator Huey P. Long of Louisiana is not quite the fool you newspaper men try to make him out to be. Let us take the Glass bill for example. Very few people know exactly what that piece of legislation is all about beyond the fact that it aims at the establishment of branch banks, and the press of the nation (including the world's greatest newspaper) certainly maintains a very, very discreet silence on the subject.

Why not, in the interests of fair play and as a matter of vital information, publish the full text of the measure conceived in the offices of the Morgan interests? Let us know the exact implication contained in, say, section 19. Let us know whether the United States is to stand back of this new system and guarantee the moneys of the depositors as is done in Great Britain, etc. No, I thought not! But you will hold up to public ridicule Senator Long, terming him obstructionist, etc., just as the father of Lindbergh was scoffed at and derided for his efforts on behalf of the people—a people, incidentally, who care more what becomes of Tracy or Orphan Annie than they do about pending legislation. What incentive has a man like Long for fighting the battles of the people? It is a matter for deep wonder that there are not more crooks in the senate and congress.

WILLIAM STACK.

COLOR ON THE DIAMOND.

Maywood, Ill., Jan. 26.—Why don't the baseball managers buy more up to date outfits for their players—for example, more form fitting suits and silks instead of cotton denim for blouses? I would suggest something on the order of a jockey outfit, with a flowing silk handkerchief to be used around the neck. This would give the diamond more color and prevent that drabness most baseball diamonds emanate. They should also have bats to match the suits and baseballs of colored leathers.

Those old fashioned bloomers that resemble our grandmothers' gym suits of 1890 look decidedly ugly and ungainly.

TERESA PETERSON.

FAIRY TALE.

Chicago, Jan. 27.—A young Chicago chemist has accidentally stumbled into the formula so long sought for—a method of transmuting a base metal into gold at a cost of $142 per ton. The gold assays higher than the requirements of the treasury of the United States.

What should he do with it?

If he were to exchange it for real estate, common stocks, or the like, what effect would it have on the economic life of the United States and the world?

If the two tons he now has were to be put into circulation would it prove a blessing to mankind or a curse?

ARREST WOUNDED YOUTH.

Police yesterday took into custody Anthony Bubano, 20 years old, 4355 South Hermitage avenue, when he appeared at a physician's office for treatment for a bullet wound in his foot, which he said he received in a fight with a private watchman.

MOLINE MAN KILLS HIS 2 BROTHERS AND THEN ENDS OWN LIFE

Moline, Ill., Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Tom Harkcum, 36, and Ben Harkcum, 32, both of Moline, were shot to death by their brother, Henry, 45, in a deserted farm house 10 miles east of here today. The murderer then committed suicide by shooting himself through the head.

The reason for the act was not made clear in a note the killer-suicide left for another brother who lives in Moline.

The letter, in which was inclosed the receipt for a cemetery lot and a key to Henry's deposit box, said he anticipated impending tragedy, but did not reveal its nature. There was $750 in the deposit box which he had received from the government for war service.

WET DEMOCRAT WINS CONGRESS SEAT IN TEXAS

Houston, Tex., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Joe H. Eagle, 63 year old Houston Democrat and world war veteran, goes back to congress from the Eighth Texas district.

Eagle, prohibition repealist and advocate of payment of the soldiers' bonus, was elected by a landslide yesterday to fill the unexpired term and the coming long term of the late Representative Daniel E. Garrett, the final unofficial tabulation of returns showed today.

The tabulation gave Eagle 23,033 votes; Chester H. Bryan, Houston banker and former county judge, likewise an advocate of prohibition repeal, 6,573, and Robert L. Cole, who appealed for united "dry" support, 5,572.

The 30 other candidates in the sweepstakes race divided the remaining votes. A total of 426 had been counted for the sole Republican in the race, Clarence Miller.

CHURCH STUDIES NEW THEORY OF BIRTH CONTROL

Doctors and Clergymen Meet in Discussion.

organization for nearly 2,000 years; that many times she has been slow to place approval on some new discovery, and has often been censured for withholding that approval. But I cannot recall any instance where, once given, it had to be retracted.

Watch Theory's Practice.

"Therefore let me recommend that we proceed slowly in this matter. I should like to call your attention to the fact that while the Chicago clergy is deeply interested in the theory presented here, that there has been no official approval registered. We shall watch its development with close attention."

Salient points in the Ogino and Knaus theory are these: That taking the monthly cycle of twenty-eight days, normally, as a base, there are only five or six days, during the disturbed period, when conception is possible and in fact practically inevitable; and that the remaining time, almost three times as long, constitutes a period when conception is definitely impossible.

The controversy between scientists on these points centers on the length of time that the cells remain potentially capable of uniting and causing conception. The accepted belief of most of the medical world today is that the mother cell may live for three days or perhaps longer, and the father cell for as long as eight days.

The research of Dr. Ogino and Dr. Knaus, Dr. Latz said, has placed the maximum life of the mother cell at a few hours, and the minimum life of the father cell at two days, unless fecundation occurs. This is the mating of two of these cells while both are actively capable of creating life, in which instance conception takes place.

Dr. Latz displayed a graph indicating the respective "safe" and "unsafe" periods as charted by the two gynecologists for the cycle of a normal woman. It depicted a total of twenty-two days of sterility and six of fertility, when marital relations would be respectively encouraged or discouraged according to the desire of the couple to have children or not to have them.

In reference to Catholic doctrine on birth control, Father Reiner said during yesterday's meeting that the spacing of children by natural means is agreeable to the ethics of the church.

"No Law Requiring Children."

"When there is a good and sufficient reason for a young couple not wanting to have children, because of poverty or other factors, the church imposes no law requiring them to do so, contrary to some opinions," he said. "So long as birth control is practiced by natural means they transgress no law. It is the interference with natural laws that has brought the condemnation of church authorities on those who use artificial means. Speaking for myself alone and not in any sense for any group or organization, I am convinced that this theory is effective and should be given a thorough trial.

"I have been interested, in following the subject in many medical publications from Europe, to find that practically without exception they take it for granted that the theories of Ogino and Knaus are well established.

Dr. A. G. Miller of Hobart, Ind., presented statistics and charts depicting the results of two years of experimentation with the theory in 130 cases which were followed closely. A total of 87 women, he showed, utilized the theory over most of that time with complete success. Two of these voluntarily became pregnant after practicing birth control for some months.

Errors Found in Records.

The remaining cases in the group of 130, Dr. Miller declared, were found in each instance to have used faulty and inaccurate computations in setting the respective days when conception was to have been expected.

The method of computation is open to some doubt, in the opinion of Dr. Henry L. Schmitz, president of the American Gynecology society, head of the gynecology department at Loyola university. He declared further that while the Ogino-Knaus theory appears to be well worth further study and experiment, it includes a radical departure from the findings of noted medical men as to the relative span of fecundation of cells, and will require close examination and a wealth of corroborative evidence before it is generally accepted.

"As to the individual women who do not have regular cycles," Dr. Schmitz added, "a variance indicates that treatment is needed. I have figures showing that only 9 per cent of women have a twenty-eight day cycle. There are shortened periods for 63 per cent, and lengthened ones for the other 28 per cent.

Serums of Correction.

"This irregularity," Dr. Miller commented, "proves that a case enters the field of endocrinology. In the last few years serums have been perfected which can be injected into the blood correcting this condition without great deal of trouble. It not only can but should be done."

Dr. Louis B. Moorhead, dean of Loyola university school of medicine, said he was unprepared to comment on the theory at this time, and that he would be glad to study it further. Dr. Moorhead is head of the medical board of the archdiocese of Chicago.

Dr. Joseph L. Meyers, gynecologist of John B. Murphy hospital, entered a strong plea that no sweeping claims be made for this theory by Chicago physicians until the weight of evidence showed unmistakably that there was no chance of error. The possibility of a failure, he declared, might bring disastrous consequences in individual lives.

DIG UP CASTLE BELIEVED BURIED TO FOIL VANDALS

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 29.—Important archeologic ruins are reported to have been discovered on the San Felipe ranch, about twenty miles from the celebrated center of Chichen Itza, in the state of Yucatan.

Telegrams announcing the find say field laborers came upon the ruins when preparing the land for the next crop. So far an immense castle has been located, spread over an area of one hectare [2.47 acres] and 50 meters [158 feet] high. Local authorities express the opinion that further excavations will show it to be surrounded by an entire city.

The castle is believed to have been buried by some Indian prince to preserve it from the vandalism of the early conquerors of Mexico.

60 SEIZE TRAIN; DISARM POLICE; KILL 3 RIVALS

Macedonians Hand Back Guns; Disappear.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Jan. 29.—(AP)—A troop of 60 Mihailovists swooped down on a passenger train at Belitza last night and summarily seized and killed three Macedonians accused of killing a Mihailovist—a member of a revolutionary band of Macedonians seeking to end the rule of Greece, Bulria, and Jugoslavia.

The troop boarded the train when it stopped at the Belitza station between Petpitch and Sveti-Vratch, not far from here.

They quickly disarmed seven gendarmes who were escorting the supposed killers, took the trio to the station platform, shot the prisoners without delay, and then returned the rifles to the gendarmes.

Interrupts Peace Moves.

They disappeared as quickly as they had come.

This latest spectacular outbreak of Macedonian disorders came in the midst of efforts by a Bulgarian reserve officers' association to mediate between Mihailoviet and Protogheroff factions and to end a long and sanguinary Macedonian strife.

War Minister Orders Posse.

Only a few weeks ago gunfire in front of King Boris' palace caused the immediate death of two persons and the wounding of several others, of whom four eventually died.

The raid on the train aroused great indignation throughout Bulgaria. The minister of war ordered a quick and thorough pursuit of the raiders.

FILIPINOS STAGE PARADE IN FAVOR OF FREEDOM LAW

CEBU, P. I., Jan. 29.—(AP)—A crowd of several thousand persons formed a torchlight parade here Saturday night favoring acceptance of the Philippine independence act passed recently by the United States congress.

Speakers asserted 90 per cent of Philippine youths and 90 per cent of the Visayans [most populous native race] favored the act.

FATHER JOHN'S MEDICINE

THE DIN in your ears may be a bit disturbing, America. The back-seat drivers' chorus never was harmonious. "Turn left—turn left," shriek the radicals. "No—no—down the hill—the easy way!" clamor the "cheap money" advocates. "Stop—beware—disaster ahead! thunder the technocrats.

IN TIMES like these, America, your strength is in clear-seeing, stout-willed men who know how to hold a steady hand on the wheel . . . men who have no patience with backward looking philosophies . . . men who see through and combat the subtle temptations of unsound legislation.

There are plenty of those men in your midst, America. We know because we talk to thousands of them each month. Alert men, level-headed men—they know what's going on . . . and how to meet new times, new problems, new situations without being shunted to dangerous byways.

They will read with eager interest such articles as that in the February issue of NATION'S BUSINESS, for example . . . an interview with William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor . . . his first authorized elaboration of Labor's new "Forceful Methods" policies.

This article, and others equally provocative, are the kind that bring NATION'S BUSINESS an average of 500 letters a month . . . letters that comment, question, praise, blame. One single department in NATION'S BUSINESS, called "No Business Can Escape Change," produces from 300 to 400 letters more each month.

NATION'S BUSINESS is alert, vital, vigorous. So are its markets. Advertisers get results. Evidence of advertising response is available from more than a hundred different advertisers.

Let's buy a CAR!

WE know a man who ought to have his head examined.

He admits he needs a new automobile, but says he's ashamed to buy it in times like these.

Apparently he doesn't know that Prosperity Boulevard is jammed with millions of rattletraps driven by muddy thinkers like him, costing men jobs and holding commodity prices down to ruinous levels.

Yet all this time, bottled up in the country is enough delayed buying to break the back of the depression and send America whistling to work.

If you really want to see 1933 off to a flying start, march down to the Coliseum this week and buy a new automobile.

Select from that gleaming galaxy of gala cars the one that best suits your needs and dreams and be proud to drive it.

If your station in life rates a limousine or town car, then buy it and hire a chauffeur.

But if you can only manage one of the most reasonably priced automobiles, buy that, the principle is the same.

No other investment you can make will be farther reaching in its benefits.

Every car sold means more employment in offices, factories, mills, and mines—more food consumed, more clothing purchased—buying stimulated in every branch of industry.

Every car sold means an upturn in the power curve and in freight car loadings.

Every car sold means an earlier stiffening of commodity prices all along the line—in steel, copper, glass, lead, lumber, rubber, oil, cotton, wool, dyes.

Go look at those cars. Examine those prices.

WHY THE TRIBUNE IS FIRST IN WANT ADVERTISING

Without public confidence in the medium which prints your want ad, the most attractive offer will not get response.

Paper, ink, and circulation alone cannot get results for you.

The cheapest want ad is the costliest if it fails to get results.

For twenty years the Tribune has built reader confidence in its want ad columns by maintaining a strict censorship over them. The Tribune does not permit the reader's confidence in all advertising to be undermined by the questionable practices of a few advertisers.

The Tribune guards its want ad columns vigilantly against misrepresentation, extravagant claims, sharp practices, and fraud. It does not force reputable advertisers to work under such a handicap and so increase their cost of doing business.

The Tribune also has built up the confidence of its advertisers in its want ad columns by insisting that all advertisers enjoy equal opportunities, pay promptly, and at regular card rates.

It does not give away advertising to some while charging others.

It does not allow free re-runs except for reasons stated in its rate card.

These are some of the reasons why the Tribune is the preferred want ad medium for reputable want advertisers.

—why the Tribune gets better results and gets them more quickly than any other Chicago newspaper.

—why the Tribune during 1932, as it has for more than twenty years, printed more want advertising than any other Chicago newspaper.

Here, with names, addresses, and photos, are the facts about recent experiences of people who rented apartments, found lost pets, sold real estate, and solved other problems through inexpensive Tribune Want Ads!

When you have a job that want ads can do, phone the newspaper that can do the job quickly and at low cost—the Tribune.

Heating Plant!

"I had such good results from a Tribune Want Ad last September when I sold my Buick sedan that I decided to use a Tribune Want Ad again to find a buyer for our Arco heating plant. Thirty people answered it. I sold the heating plant for cash to the second caller."

MRS. E. LA PRISE
4202 S. Western Av.

Truck!

"The Ford truck which I advertised in the Tribune was sold the same day to one of the nineteen prospects who answered the ad. I got my price, too. Replies were still coming in three days after the ad ran."

JAMES W. KEELAN
5925 Diversey

Auto!

"After all, the least expensive kind of advertising is the kind that gets results. That's why we use Tribune Want Ads. For example, we offered a Chevrolet coupe for sale through a Tribune Want Ad which ran for three days. The fourth person to answer the ad bought the car."

N. L. BIERMANN
Ellis-Biermann Motor Co.
4645 Washington Bl.

Auto!

Board and Lodging!

"My want ad in the Tribune offering board and lodging pulled ten replies. I had accommodations for only two persons, so there are eight people who were disappointed."

MRS. JANE GARDEN
4544 N. Seeley Av.

Business!

"I have been advertising my services as painter and decorator in the Tribune Business Directory every day for the past six weeks. Results have been very satisfactory. My want ads have brought me between $1,000 and $2,000 worth of work. I get from two to three inquiries daily."

FLOYD STARKWEATHER
4545 N. Harding

Business!

"As an experiment, I decided to use a Tribune Want Ad for a week to see if I could establish a demand for my services as a dressmaker. The ad brought at least seventy-five replies. So far, I have completed more than $60.00 worth of work and have at least that much more to be done. Besides, I now have a large list of prospects for my services in the future."

CORA HARMON

Stove!

"We had a combination coal and gas stove in our home that was not in use, so I decided to sell it. I placed a want ad in the Tribune to run two days. The first day 38 people called. The second day, 40 more. I sold the stove the first day for cash."

MRS. ELSIE BLACKMER

Apartment!

"I ordered a want ad in the Tribune to advertise my furnished apartment for rent. The ad ran four days. The first two days the weather was so bad that I didn't expect people to come out. On the last day the sun came out and so did the prospects. The second caller rented my apartment. If I hadn't ordered the ad for four days my apartment would not have been rented."

MRS. WILLIAM DAVIE

Apartment!

"In times like these I thought it would take longer to rent my apartment. So I ordered a want ad for seven insertions in the Tribune. But the Tribune is still the Tribune, regardless of the times. The day the first ad ran ten people answered it, and I rented the apartment to one of them."

MIKE GOLDSTEIN

'Blossom Time' Is Revived by Splendid Cast

Gilbert Gets First Place Among Schuberts.

"BLOSSOM TIME."

An operetta, score based on the melodies of Franz Schubert, by H. Berte and Sigmund Romberg; book and lyrics by Dorothy Donnelly, adapted from the German of A. M. Willner and H. Reichert. Given at the Grand Opera house Jan. 29, 1933, under the management of the Producing Associates, Inc.

THE CAST.

Vogel.....Charles Chisney
Greia.....Betti Davis
Bella Bruna.....Manila Powers
Count Sharnoff.....John Goldsworthy
Franz Schubert.....J. Charles Gilbert
Mitzi.....Gertrude Lang
Kitzl.....Berta Donn
Fritzl.....Winifrid Cahoon
Mr. Kranz.....George Hassell
Baron von Schober.....Allan Jones
Mrs. Kranz.....Lorraine Weimar
Novotny.....Robert O'Connor
And others.

"Blossom Time," the operetta that during the last ten years has firmly embedded itself in the traditions and folklore of the American stage, came to the Grand Opera house last night to tell Chicago playgoers, for the seventh time, about the sad, sweet life and the gay, sweet lyrics of Franz Schubert. And if this were the seventieth time, instead of only the seventh, it would not be too often, for "Blossom Time" contains some immortal music, faithfully quoted or adapted from the compositions of its hero, classic melodist supremely gifted in the art of song.

This revival is no makeshift affair, but a special production that gives the veteran piece the freshness and color of its youth. The cast, moreover, is excellent. In fact, although I am unable to assort and classify my memories of the "Blossom Times" of other seasons, I suspect that this company is the best in the series. Certainly J. Charles Gilbert's characterization of Franz Schubert has first place in the annals of "Blossom Time"; he is ideal as the plump and diffident young genius in Viennese goggles, helplessly in love but unable to win his Mitzi. He sings in the Schubert manner also; the famous tunes, including the rhapsodic "Song of Love," flow from his lips as easily and naturally as if he had composed them.

The rôle of Baron von Schober, who is to Schubert what the handsome musketeer is to Cyrano de Bergerac—a friend, a rival and a heartbreak—introduces a young tenor named Allan Jones to "Blossom Time" patrons. He is a new boy in the operattas who won popularity in the municipal repertory at St. Louis last summer, and he is coming up fast. He has a profile that will gratify the matinée taste; in fact, it suggests John Barrymore's. No doubt this resemblance has already been called to his attention, for he also carries himself like Mr. Barrymore—and on this point I will not congratulate him.

Mr. Jones has a graceful, casual style in tenor deportment, and a voice that should make him much in demand for heroes of the light lyric stage. He is by far the best of the "Blossom Time" barons, to date, and fortifies the plot as well as the vocal score.

The duties of the chief comedian are in the hands of George Hassell, the tall, eccentric clown of many musical shows who has a collapsible neck which permits him to imitate, in turns, the turtle and the giraffe. He is quite amusing as the frantic father of the story. Manila Powers is correctly cast as Bella Bruna; Gertrude Lang is exactly in the tradition as Mitzi, the heroine, and sings the "Tell Me, Daisy," number charmingly, and Robert O'Connor is a brisk second comedian as the fantastic detective.

"Dixie on Parade," a revue given by a company of Negro entertainers, began an engagement at the Garrick theater last night. The performance will be reviewed tomorrow.

The "Show Boat" company, headed by Helen Morgan, which ended an engagement at the Auditorium theater last Saturday night, will move to the Chicago theater next Friday for a week's stay as a special feature of the program. The show will be condensed to an hour's playing time.

White Ruffles Frost Tops of Winter Frocks

Crisp Organdy Guimpes Are Latest Arrivals.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

All the white clouds of glory that you will notice in the neckwear sections are engaging new white trifles that frost the tops of the dark winter frocks of the gal who knows just how devastating these very trilly feminine white accents can be.

Among the new arrivals are the crisp white organdy guimpes, fitted with huge puffs of sleeves and shoulder braces of double fluted organdy. Other ruffles which are new are the billowing, bias cut, wide organdy neck ruffles that wander around a neckline, down a shoulder seam and fashion a pair of utterly charming double ruffled sleeves in less time than it takes to tell this fashion story. This same innocent looking ruffled stuff comes wound on bolts, so that you may buy shrewdly exactly what you need, no more, no less.

The minute you decide that nothing can be invented in the way of new bracelets, some smart young person fools you and you stumble into the newest wrist gadgets—the cuff bracelet, a band o. enameled metal shaped to fit snugly around three inches of your wrist. You can buy all the eye filling dotted displays — black with white dots and red with white spots, a bright yellow with dark or white dots, and other exciting color contrasts that will make your head spin.

If you have been shopping for smart looking warm, slender hose you must have discovered the thin lace lisle numbers that come in some effective street shades, a warm gray and a beige that is stunning. They are particularly good buys for the chilly days when even the busiest shopper shivers and yearns for warmth without bulk. This lace lisle hosiery comes in a delightful small mesh and of a design that looks tailored and simple, perfect foils for knitted frocks, suits, walking brogues, and street oxfords.

At last the bagmakers have come out of a conference huddle with a handbag that has a separate haven for cigarets, a perpendicular compartment that holds fourteen to sixteen fags, and the compartment zooms into sight and disappears from sight with a slight push of the finger.

This is an invention that guarantees the absence of loose tobacco mixing with lipstick or vanity case. The scent of tobacco is all that reveals the presence of the cigaret.

This obliging handbag comes in all colors, patent, and dull kidskin, as well as some good looking fabric affairs, and you are promised all kinds of summer colors and fabrics just as soon as you will need them.

A trick evening bag that any nighttime gadabout will cherish is made of a luscious silver and oyster white brocade. It is lined with shimmering white satin with all pockets and extra purse and compartments edged with a hair line of silver.

But the best feature is the long, horizontally placed mirror that can be turned down for face duty without opening the bag, and last but not the least of the lovely feminine fittings is the platinum white comb.

Other white evening bags are made of puffy blistered dull crepe and another that looks like the surface of a well dented waffle. Attached price tags are as alluring as the exquisite satin interiors of these evening vanities!

MINUTE MYSTERY CAN YOU SOLVE IT?

BY H. A. RIDLEY

[Copyright: 1933: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Dr. Fordney is professor of criminology at a famous university. His advice is often sought by police of many cities when confronted with particularly baffling cases. This problem has been taken from his casebook covering hundreds of criminal investigations.

Try your wits on it! It takes but ONE MINUTE to read! Every fact and every clew necessary to its solution are in the story itself—and there is only one answer. How good a detective are you?

THE COUNTERFEIT RING.

Just as secret service agents were about to close in on him, Austin Carpenter, head of the most successful counterfeiting ring in recent years, was murdered!

Learning through the underworld grapevine that one of Carpenter's five confederates was the killer, they were rounded up and brought in. Among them was the leader's right-hand man, the most skillful engraver the secret service had ever encountered.

They were John Turner, William Black, Paul Harris, Daniel Leighton, and beautiful, cultured Helen Owings, who fronted for the ring.

After much investigation and severe grilling the following was learned:

(a) Leighton and the killer both came from the same small middle-western town.

(b) Recently the killer had spoken his resentment at the superior manner of the engraver, the chief's confidant, and had told Helen and one of the others that he was suspicious of him.

(c) One of them, believing the secret service was about to close in, wanted to get out. The killer's sister had told Black that Harris' brother knew too much about the ring's operations and said she believed he was obtaining information from the engraver who was unfriendly to both Black and Harris.

(d) Turner, on learning this, said he was of the same opinion and demanded that Black speak to Harris about the engraver's "loose tongue." Black refused. He and Harris had been cell mates in Sing Sing.

[See solution on page 29.]

A Job a Day

Every little improvement we give our home right now helps us—and the other fellow, too.

Shoes deserve a restful spot in their leisure hours. And by installation of built-in shoe racks one saves tremendously on space. Have your carpenter build you some slanting toe shelves. One above the other, each of these shelves can accommodate one or more pairs of shoes. If they house but one pair each they need a space no more than six inches wide. Painted, of course, to look attractive and given moldings along the edge to keep the shoes from sliding off, they are substantial holders of our treasured footwear. Shoe holders of divers kinds there are, but the built-in type, like all built-in utilities, have much to recommend them to the feminine mind.

"Trailing the Killer" Has Enough Suspense.

"TRAILING THE KILLER."

Produced by Zeidman.
Directed by Herman C. Raymaker.
Presented at the Castle theater.

THE CAST:

Lobo.....Caesar, the Wolf Dog
Pierre La Plante.....Francis McDonald
Windy.....Heinie Conklin
Pedro.....José de la Cruz
Manuel.....Peter Rigas
Sheriff.....Tom London

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

Know, then, the story of the good wolf dog Lobo, that upon circumstantial evidence is ALMOST hanged for murder, but survives to be acknowledged keeper instead of killer of the sheep!

"Trailing the Killer" is a naïve little out of doors number with rather too much exploitation of animal agony to be the pleasantest of entertainment. The sheep suffer; Lobo and Lobo's mate suffer, and Lobo's master is killed. There are trappings and gnawings and shootings, and an impressive collection of assorted beast cries. To offset these amusement liabilities are beautiful scenery, some human interest angles, comedy provided by one of the cutest puppies the Lord ever let live, and much excellent acting on the part of Lobo.

Lobo is a trapper's dog, son of a wolf and a domestic pet. He looks just as his wild parent did and is suspected by nearby sheep herders of being the killer that almost nightly goes marauding among their flocks. Twice has Lobo been seen in the immediate vicinity of a slain animal. And when Lobo's master is found dead, the teeth marks in his throat correspond to those left in the bodies of the sheep. How are the observers to know that in each case Lobo has come just too late to prevent the successful onslaught of a murderous mountain lion?

They're not—till Lobo, well—till Lobo . . .! [Business of creating suspense in reader by writer.]

Anyhow, the finale shows the canine hero and his family sitting pretty.

Performances by humans are unremarkable—but good enough for the general layout. The main interest centers round Lobo the noble, the accused, the triumphantly vindicated.

See you tomorrow!

Civic Orchestra Opens Season; Concert Praised

BY EDWARD MOORE.

In presenting the first concert of its fourteenth season at Orchestra hall yesterday afternoon, the Civic Orchestra of Chicago once again gave a view of one of the fine and inspiring things Chicago is doing for the cause of music. This is the organization that, under Frederick Stock as musical director and Eric DeLamarter as conductor, takes talented and sufficiently advanced young musicians and gives them the routine and training of orchestra, quite a different matter from individual playing.

A sign of its success is seen in the fact that some twenty of its graduates have become members of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, and about thirty more have been drafted into other symphony orchestras here and there in the country. Another sign is that by the time it is ready to give a public concert it plays with good tone, excellent unanimity, and the manner of a well trained ensemble. The string tone was particularly striking in yesterday's concert.

Orchestra hall would seem to have been the abiding place for young musicians over the week-end, for on the night before Nondas Rudig, having been the winner in the Society of American Musicians' piano contest, was rewarded with a public appearance in MacDowell's First Concerto in the popular program of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, a task which she met to the loudly expressed approval of a capacity audience.

Then came yesterday's concert, presenting as its leading feature the first performance in Chicago of Turina's "Sinfonia Sevillana," a blithe, melodious, and winsome work based upon Spanish melodies. Hazel Eden, a well known Chicago soprano, won much applause from the audience by singing "Ritorna vincitor" from Verdi's "Aida," and Marcia X. Johnstone, harpist, gave a neat and accurate performance of Thomé's "Legende," playing one of the Brahms waltzes as an extra number.

Madeleine Seymour, soprano, gave an interesting and entertaining program of songs at Kimball hall yesterday afternoon, when with agreeable voice and in the costume of a former time she sang American songs drawn from little known sources. Two came from the eighteenth century, one by Francis Hopkinson, rated as the first American composer in point of time and a signer of the Declaration of Independence as well, the other by A. Reinagle, who founded the New theater in Philadelphia in 1793.

Then came an Indian melody, some spirituals, Kentucky mountain ballads, and Louisiana plantation songs.

Jews Are Urged to Provide for Own Charities

Judge Joseph M. Proskauer of New York, speaking last night at the 33d annual meeting of the Jewish Charities of Chicago in the Standard club, 320 Plymouth court, asserted that hard times will not force the Jewish people of the large cities to relinquish their independence in solving their own problems of charity.

Before the speaking program began it was announced that on March 14 the Chicago Jewish community would be host to Prof. Albert Einstein. He will speak here on that day on the Jewish university and the Jewish telegraph agency.

Judge Proskauer, for many years a close associate of former Gov. Alfred E. Smith and president of the New York Federation for the Support of Jewish Philanthropic societies, said:

"In New York the Jewish charities have had to make drastic economies, as you have in Chicago, but we, too, have resolved that the great contribution which we feel we are making to the welfare of our city, as well as to the welfare of our people, shall continue.

"It is unthinkable that a group that has for so many hundreds of years stood for a rugged independence will not, even though times are so depressed, continue to solve its own problems, and will not continue to make a contribution to the general welfare."

More than a thousand members of the Jewish charities were present at the dinner-meeting. At each place was a printed folder showing the present financial condition of the organization and a summary of the work accomplished in 1932.

Sol Kline, acting president, announced in his report that the charities have adopted a budget of $1,605,413 for 1933, of which $1,275,000 is expected to be received from subscribers and from the Emergency Relief fund. It is planned to raise the remaining $330,413 in a spring drive, he said. There are at present 6,692 subscribers.

Institutions supported by the Jewish charities include the Michael Reese hospital, the Mount Sinai hospital, Winfield Tuberculosis sanitorium, Chicago Home for Jewish Orphans, Jewish Home Finding society, Jewish Children's Welfare society, Home for Aged Jews, Orthodox Jewish Home for the Aged, Jewish Social Service bureau, Marks Nathan Jewish Orphan home, Jewish Board of Education and others.

Mr. Kline pointed out that these organizations gave service and help to 120,000 persons last year for which the Jewish charities appropriated more than a million dollars.

Samuel A. Goldsmith, executive director of the organization, reported on the activities carried on by the charities last year. "We have labored," he said, "as long as it is humanly possible to make available to the Jewish destitute and to others who come to our institutions the best service that can be rendered at the lowest possible cost. To us the maintenance of standards has been a holy cause. There is no value in maintaining social work institutions on a basis that does not make possible the rebuilding of human life and the rehabilitation of families and children."

Find Emerson House a Place of Happy Hours

Junior League Members Work There.

BY JUDITH CASS.

At least a dozen members of the Junior league declared recently that there was only one place to do social work and that place was Emerson house on West Grand avenue.

Whether or not they have "hours" to work out, 9 o'clock of any week day morning finds three or four of them on hand to assist Miss Catharine Levine with the activities of the settlement.

Miss Janet Bard is the musician. She plays the piano for musical choirs, movie stars, and that old, old favorite, "Adam Had Seven Sons," where one child is the leader and the rest jump and whirl according to his whim.

Then there are Miss Barbara Bullard, Miss Helen Marie Castle, and Miss Barbara Eldridge, whom all the boys and girls like because they teach them how to make paper houses and transparent goldfish bowls. There is a young lad who never fails to choose Miss Edith Behr for his partner in a game and two dark eyed little girls who always vote for Miss Laura Thorne.

Lunch comes daily at 11:30. And this is a happy time because Miss Ethel Dixon pumps the old player piano and sings while the children have their soup and coleslaw, bread and butter, prunes and milk. After this the afternoon nap from 12 to 3.

Saturday Is Red Letter Day.

Miss Edna Doering, Miss Nancy Traylor, Miss Lydia Swift, and Miss Honore White have made Saturday a red letter day for as many of the youngsters as they can pile into their smart little roadsters. There is always a trip to the zoo, a circus, or the aquarium. A few weeks back 40 boys and girls saw "The Magic Garden," the play the Junior leaguers produced, and how they loved it! Another Saturday Miss Doering entertained 20 little west side boys in the basement playroom of her Astor street house.

FOLLY ISLAND

By Wallace Irwin

SYNOPSIS.

Bart Burgess is marooned in a catboat on Peconic bay, fifty miles from his Long Island home in Wyattville. His companion, Israels Frederick Warren, spoiled child of a new-made fortune, known as "Nosey Ingy," rows to town for a carpenter. A girl in a canoe invites Bart over to her family's island, but her small brother says their mother would have a fit. Bart senses a family secret. Ingy sends help and taxies home. Bart learns that the Bayleys have lived on the island fifteen years, but don't mix. The father travels. He invites the girl, Alice, to visit him in Wyattville. Less than a week later Trevor Burgess, Bart's father, dies suddenly from a heart attack. Bart is left with the care of his invalid mother. The family lawyer gives Bart a letter left for him by his father, in which he confesses to being a bigamist. The Bayleys of Folly island are his second family. They know him as Matthew Bayley. He asks Bart, for his mother's sake, to guard the secret and leaves a fortune to provide for the Bayleys. Bart calls on Mrs. Bayley, posing as a lawyer, and finds her a lovely woman, not the harridan he expected. He returns two weeks later with the legacy. Bart is happy to learn from her mother that Alice isn't Matthew Bayley's daughter. But to keep her from visiting his home and seeing his father's pictures is now a problem.

INSTALLMENT XIII.

TORMENTING LOVE.

Suddenly Bart felt his increased responsibility; not only must he guard his mother from the truth, but this innocent family, victims of his father's madness.

Alice was gazing at him, puzzled at his silence, until he said dryly:

"I've been thinking it over, too. You know, I don't believe you'd enjoy Wyattville." Then, because she seemed waiting for an explanation. "Your father wouldn't have liked you to go there."

"O, but you're wrong." Passionately certain. "This was his island. He wouldn't want us to stay, now that he's gone. Yes, and he said to me, 'Pretty soon I'll fix it so that you can play with more young people—your sort.' If you'd known Daddy you wouldn't think that way about him." As if to clinch an argument.

"But your mother——"

"O, Mother!" That was expressive. Then, not resentfully, but with one of her teasing smiles, "I thought only girls changed their minds over night."

"Well, you don't certainly," he jeered. A dreadful worry was on him, but he was glad that she could come back to her bantering tone.

His heart was pumping. He could marry her, take her away. India, China, Japan—anywhere but Wyattville. They needn't come back.

"Barton Burgess, a rising young lawyer," she said. "He thinks everything out, very, very carefully. Two weeks ago he discovered a girl who fitted Wyattville just like a glove. But today he finds that the glove is a frazzle—sort of. I bet if you acted like that in court the judge would hurl you out. And everything we do on Folly island is strictly legal."

"Strictly legal. Unfortunate phrase.

"Well," he laughed unhappily, "let's hear your side of the argument."

"It's just silly. I only know that when you come to the end of a road you ought to take another one. We're through here. It isn't fair to Mother, she's sacrificed so much, being lost here." Then with one of her sudden turns, "Honest Injun, why don't you want me to go to Wyattville?"

He invented rapidly. "You're too nice, too well educated for that place. If the Wyattville girls caught you reading Anatole France in French they'd put you in quarantine. It's awfully poor form there to know anything but games."

"I should like to play games."

"But who'd you play with? Your mother's wise enough to see that. The interest on her money and yours, wouldn't be a drop in the bucket over there. Your mother wants you to be happy, Alice. Now listen. I'm not a sere and yellow old person, but I'm your guardian. Suppose I plan a trip for you. Something on one of those floating hotels, going around the world." His heart was pumping. He could marry her, take her away. India, China, Japan. Anywhere but Wyattville. They needn't come back. . . .

But Alice was shaking her stubborn little head. "Guardian, I don't know anything. I'd be lost. Later, maybe. But I'm green as grass now."

Green as grass; like the young grass, charged with the sap of youth. He felt that she was disappointed in him. He hated himself for this disagreeable item in his ghastly job. But he must hew to the mark, even though he hacked himself cruelly.

"I don't want you to dislike me. Alice!"

"You mustn't ever think I do." In a quick breath, broken, excited.

Then he knew that she was his for the taking. His arms ached for her. With a man like Ingy Warren it would have been so simple a case. To Bart Burgess it was an insoluble puzzle, sinister with hidden traps. He sat disconsolate, not moving to touch her, tormented with a knowledge of his love. Then harshly he came to his feet and mumbled something about seeing her mother and getting away before the tide turned. She rose too, but made no effort to hold him back.

"As your legal guardian," he said with a horrible attempt at a joke, "I hope you'll let me see you again soon."

"O, yes. You must come back." In a still, small voice.

He found Mrs. Bayley in the garden, calm and pleasant. He had a feeling that by some mutual understanding she and Alice had shed the bitterness of sorrow. He was surprised by his liking for the woman, so intellectually mature, so physically beautiful. Whatever her story—and it was a grave robber's task to pry into that—she was a person who had arisen above the discord of circumstances.

"I think you're very wise about your daughter," he said.

"My daughter?" Her voice was pleasant, a little too sharp.

"Most mothers," he insisted, embarrassed, but determined to go on, "would spoil an attractive young girl like that—letting her fluff around."

He had a suspicion of pain behind her mask.

"You mean," she asked, "that I'm keeping her away from the things a girl should enjoy?"

"O, not that, I'm sure." Here was his chance. Alice had set her mind perversely on Wyattville. She must never go there. "I admire you very much for the way you've raised her."

"Thank you."

Mrs. Bayley's hardness vanished as quickly as it had come. Whatever her reasons for keeping Alice from the young people of her kind, she was quite capable of managing that for herself. With a new sympathy he listened as she spoke wisely, affectionately of the little group now entirely under her charge. Matthew had wanted Teddy, the oldest one, to go to Harvard and study medicine. That would be eight years with the academic course, and there's quite a difference between what a father wants and what a son wants. Ben's ambitions weren't formed yet, he was only nine. And Alice. . . .

"I think she's beginning to feel the restrictions here." The love in the mother's eyes was curiously contradicted by the tightening of her mouth. "That's because she has reached a certain age, I suppose. We were not in a —position—to send her to the schools we might have preferred. She has a taste for good reading, and sometimes I think she dwells too much in her imagination. She lives in her own world, possibly because we've—had to keep her here so long."

But why had they had to keep her there so long?

Divorcees May Not Be Favored Group, After All

Is Their Position as Enviable as Painted?

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Are divorcées the favored group of women that a certain form of popular fancy paints them?

"No more favored group of women has ever filled an engagement book since grass grew over the courts of Versailles," one observer of the species declares.

On her side the divorcée combines experience and freedom; isn't afraid of spinsterhood, therefore makes none of the mistakes of the too eager or gawkish young woman. She doesn't need a chaperon and she is without the domestic money worries surrounding the still legally wedded woman. Consequently, she finds sweet favor in male eyes. Or, so the divorcée has been presented.

Well, that's one side of the picture. The divorcée does combine experience and freedom. She is without the gaucheries of the girl eager to avoid spinsterhood. She goes unchaperoned where, how and when she pleases. But she has her worries over bills. She usually has her own housekeeping establishment. And her freedom combined with experience often turns out to be her defeat at the hands of men.

Time and time again divorced women have written of her fifth wheel position in social life. Married women, big and broadminded even as they are supposed to be, do not relish the presence of these women. They are the "extra" person at the party or they are just so much dynamite that is preferred at a distance.

Ask any attractive divorcée about her experiences with women, how eagerly she is taken into the family bosom. Then, ask her about her experiences with men. The fact that she is free, experienced and unchaperoned may gain her male attendance—but of what sort, for the most part? And what sort the attention—for the most part?

It's a common wail of women of this so-called envied group that with them men are not the men nor the gentlemen they were thought to be when said divorcées were recognized wives. Before this propaganda about the divorcées' life being a merry one gains ground we would ask for first hand confessions from the fair ladies themselves, in which they might explain their well known eagerness to return as quickly as possible to the protection of marriage.

Finds Dietrich Most Popular with Europe

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 29.—Ernst Lubitsch, just back from Europe, says the three most popular film actresses of America, from the continental point of view, are Marlene Dietrich, Greta Garbo, and Jeanette MacDonald. This isn't a very big percentage for native American girls.

Marlene Dietrich's pants are not a complete hit with her friend Maurice Chevalier or with many of the other male stars on the Paramount lot. Chevalier says: "I treasure my friendship with Miss Dietrich, but I cannot be a 'yes man' and I have told her she should wear women's clothes part of the time. If she should wear men's clothes and women's clothes even to the extent of fifty-fifty it would be an attractive and charming custom."

Richard Wallace, after completing the direction of Ronald Colman in "The Masquerader," is leaving for a four months' tour of Europe, including on his itinerary England, France, Germany, Belgium, Switzerland, and the Holy Land. Wallace believes that vacations are an essential thing to Hollywood success. Claudette Colbert comes forward to say that she, too, believes in travel—her first long trip was around the world in a freight boat last year.

Lilian Harvey, British picture star of German residence, has been much entertained at Hollywood teas and evening parties since her arrival last Tuesday, but this will stop tomorrow, when she begins screen tests. Miss Harvey is tiny and slender, in this being a contrast to the usual European beauty, who has to lose weight before being considered usable on the American screen.

Her first American venture will be "My Lips Betray," in which she will have John Boles as her leading man at Fox's.

Ernest Truex may be deserting the Broadway stage for good. Having been on the stage for nearly 40 years, now at the age of 45, with two grown sons, a young wife, and a baby, he wants to soak up leisure and sunshine in southern California and if he isn't kept too busy working in one film after another and if the steady rains of the last three weeks will only let up out here, he probably will start in on the leisure and sunshine any day.

Minna Gombell, comedienne, is going around with a cane and a bandaged and swollen left ankle. The accident occurred when she tried the Marlene Dietrich stunt of wearing pants and stepped on the cuff of her drooping slacks, twisting the ankle.

Junior League Members Work There.

celved one day while driving a social worker around on her calls. The bread is seems resembles a whole waffle but is several degrees tougher, with a rubberlike resiliency that makes it possible to fold it into any shape.

When the volunteer arrived home on this particular day she threw the bread, all folded up, on her bed where a maid in the household later found it. Thinking it a bulb or plant, she put it in a bowl of water, and surprising enough, the amazing victual is now sprouting!

The lasting attraction of Emerson house is proved by the Senn twins, Miss Dorothy and Miss Barbara, and Miss Florence Otis, who have been making once-a-week trips west on Grand avenue for three years.

Mrs. Borden to Be Bride Today.

The Rev. Samuel Eliot will officiate at the noon wedding today of Mrs Ellen Waller Borden and John Alden Carpenter, at Elmwood, the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Kingsley Porter in Cambridge, Mass. Mrs. Porter is an aunt of the bride. The residence is the old homestead of James Russell Lowell.

The wedding will be extremely simple with no witnesses other than Mr. and Mrs. Porter and Mrs. Borden's two children, Mrs. Adlai E. Stevenson and Mrs. Robert S. Pirie. Mr. Carpenter and his bride will sail for Europe from New York on the Europa on Wednesday. They will be at home temporarily at her residence, 1020 Lake Shore drive, upon their return in about two months.

Expect Many at Army Benefit.

Mrs. Harry D. Mitchell, wife of Col. Mitchell, adjutant general of the 6th corps area, who is general chairman of the committee making arrangements for the benefit party to be given on Washington's birthday by Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Frank Parker and other regular army officers and their wives in the vicinity, reports that the early response to the invitations has been generous beyond expectation.

Mrs. Arthur A. Small, who is not only a national vice president of the Army Relief society but is intimately connected with the regular army through her brother, the late Maj. Gen. G. Le Roy Irwin, is giving much time and thought to the success of the party, which will include cards and dancing at the Army and Navy club in the Lake Shore Athletic Club building.

Mrs. Dan I. Sultan, who recently returned from Nicaragua, where Col. Sultan directed surveys for a possible new interoceanic canal, has been successful in obtaining prizes on the south side, and Mrs. Clifford L. Corbin is obtaining those from the north side. Col. and Mrs. J. M. Graham [the colonel is Gen. Parker's new chief of staff] and Col. and Mrs. George T. Langhorne, who will be in charge of the card rooms, and Col. and Mrs. William H. Burt, who are making arrangements for the dancing, intend that this shall be a memorable affair in Chicago's social history.

Friends of Music Dinner Tonight.

Advance reservations indicate that more than 600 members of the Friends of Music will attend the dinner the organization is giving this evening at the Drake hotel. The feature of the evening will be a performance by a quintet of musicians in which Frederick Stock will play the viola and George Lytton the double bass.

Mr. Stock has not played the viola in public during the many years that he has been conducting the Chicago Symphony orchestra. Rudolph Ganz, who is also a member of the quintet, is to play several selections from Chopin.

Alliance Will Hold Causerie.

Mrs. Carter H. Harrison and Mrs. Moise Dreyfus will be hostesses at the second causerie of the Alliance Francaise on Thursday afternoon. While the members are sewing for the Red Cross, Mme. Garabaldi will read French short stories. Following tea Mrs. Helen Walton will recite a group of French poems.

The second Thursday night buffet dinner and dance held at the Deerpath inn in Lake Forest last week was so successful that the parties will be continued throughout the winter. Some of the people who enjoy these parties are: Miss Rosamond Baker, the Arthur Farwells, the Mason Phelps, the Barrett Scudders, and the Corson Ellises.

The Cradle society announces that Miss Helen Hedges, soprano, and Miss Hadassah McGiffin, pianist, will be the artists at the third Tiffin musical on Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock at the Cradle in Evanston.

The musical Mrs. Bowman C. Lingle and Mrs. Clifford D. Caldwell are to give at the Three Arts club will be next Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Through an error the party was announced for yesterday.

Society is much interested in the talk that Sir Frederick Whyte, polit ical adviser to the Chinese government, is to give at a luncheon meeting of the American Friends of China at 12:30 o'clock today in the red lacquer room of the Palmer house. Sir Frederick's topic is to be "Changing Conditions in China," and any one who desires to hear him will be welcome to attend the luncheon, whether or not he has received an invitation from the organization sponsoring the talk.

Lady Whyte is to attend the luncheon and will sit at the table where a committee of hostesses, headed by Mrs George T Langhorne, whose husband is president of the Friends of China, will be seated. Among those who have made reservations are Mrs. Robert B. Gregory, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Dempster, Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Silas H. Strawn, Robert Hall McCormick, the British consul general, Louis Bernaye, and Mrs. Bernays; the Japanese consul, Yoshio Muto, and John M. Cameron.

The Arts club announces the opening view of the Gardner Hale memorial exhibition and of a collection of paintings by Henry Billings, to take place at a tea and reception on Friday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock.

Hold Farewell Party Tonight.

Tonight Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Smith Gorham Jr. will say "bon voyage" to Mrs. Gorham's mother and sister, Mrs. Fortunato Jerace and Miss Jean McVoy, at a small dinner party at their apartment, 220 East Pearson street.

Mrs. Jerace and Miss McVoy will leave town early tomorrow for New York to sail on Feb. 14, but not together. Mrs. Jerace will board an Italian liner direct for Naples where she will meet Mr. Jerace and then take a train for Rome. Soon the Jeraces are to have a house on one of Rome's seven hills.

Miss McVoy on the other hand is to join the floating university in New York and embark on a six months cruise to foreign ports. She will return on June 21.

The Fletcher M. Durbins of 1449 Astor street have Max Eastman, the poet-philosopher, as their house guest. Mr. Eastman will give his second lecture in Chicago this evening at the University of Chicago. He spoke Saturday morning before the patrons of the Town Hall series. Mr. Eastman was a classmate of Mr. Durbin at Williams college.

Mrs. Wallace Campbell of Providence, R. I., will arrive on Wednesday to visit her husband's sister, Miss Eliza Campbell, at the Pearson hotel. Mrs. Campbell will speak at a tea to be given on Tuesday of next week at the Fortnightly by the alumnae and friends of the Mary C. Wheeler school at Providence, of which Mrs. Campbell is an alumna.

Mr. Campbell, who is a native Chicagoan, although he now is a resident of Rhode Island, has recently been elected to the state senate there.

Miss Theresa Rew, daughter of the Irwin Rews of Evanston, is forgetting about the north shore community chest long enough to take a two weeks' holiday in Palm Beach as the guest of Mrs. Albert R. Hansen. Mrs. Hansen has taken a house at the resort for the season.

Miss Rew left home yesterday in company with Mr. and Mrs. George A. Eddy, cousins of Mrs. Hansen. This winter Miss Rew has been dividing her time between the Evanston community chest and the Evanston Woman's Republican club, of which she is secretary.

Mrs. Edward T. Jeffery of 1344 Astor street will open her house at 10:45 o'clock this morning for a talk by Julie R. Adams on "France Today."

Intelligence Tests Gauge Mental Ability

Result in Figures May Be Mystifying.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

To hear for the first time from a teacher or principal that George has an I. Q. of 1.20 or that Elizabeth an I. Q. of 99 must often sound like an abracadabra to the uninitiated parent. Many parents are hazy about what seem to be mystic symbols for the intelligence of their children. For those who are not quite sure what it is all about, an explanation might be of interest. Here is one that begins in a roundabout way.

Certain tests have been worked out with the idea of gauging the mental abilities of children—for purposes that we'll go into another time. Let us start by supposing that a boy of 8 is given an intelligence test. The results show he has the mental grasp of a 10 year old child. Therefore, although in actual years his age is 8, we say that his mental age is 10.

If he were mentally 8 as well as chronologically 8 years old, which is what might be called normal, as a little sum in arithmetic it would look like this:

$$\frac{8}{8} = 1.00$$

or we'd say he has an I. Q. of one hundred, as it is commonly expressed. But since he is mentally 10 and in years 8, it would be put down like this:

$$\frac{10}{8} = 1.20$$

As the answer in any division is called a quotient and this is concerned with an intelligence matter, the result 1.20 is the child's intelligence quotient or briefly his I. Q. So this boy has an I. Q. of 1.20.

If we used as an example a child who is mentally younger than his age in years, the arithmetic would look like this; if it concerned a 12 year old child who was only 9 years old mentally:

$$\frac{\text{9, mental age}}{\text{12, age in years}} = .75 \text{ I. Q.}$$

Start Sunday Sauerbraten Monday Before

Its Spicy Succulence Will Delight Family.

Miss Meade will be glad to answer questions pertaining to cookery and the kitchen. For personal reply, send stamped, addressed envelope.

BY MARY MEADE.

Have you eaten out and about lately and noticed on the "carte du jour" a popular new arrival—though one which may be an old friend of yours—sauerbraten?

You'd know it, even if it were not named, once you had been introduced, for if you remember your German—and whether you do or not—sauerbraten means "sour roast." Spy upon the cook in the kitchen and you will find a big beef roast a bit darkish in color and blessed with one of the most spicy, soul warming flavors you have ever met. Tenderness is its middle name, for into the heart of the roast has been run a network of slim, salt pork lardoons to add succulence to firm fibers. More, for a week now the roast has been swooning happily in mild spiced vinegar which makes the meat tender while it flavors it.

Back at your table again you will be in time to receive it, sliced exceedingly thin under a blanket of steaming, spicy-tart gravy, the whole hot goodness flanked by sturdy potato dumplings—not quite so feathery light as our American puff balls, but flavorful and filling, with crunchy fried croutons adding surprise texture within.

Sauerbraten is perhaps best chosen by a large family, since it requires quite a certain amount of meat for most luscious results. But still a family of four or five can handle the situation nicely, since left-over "braten" gains rather than loses by being sliced and served cold with a supporting caste of German potato salad and spinach—and perhaps used yet again in croquette form still later in the week.

"If you plan German "sour roast" for a Sunday treat start preparations the Monday before. If there are good sales of meat the Saturday before that buy the meat then. On Monday down it goes into a vinegar mixture or marinade for a week. Six pounds of the round of beef or the rump will be needed, for when small pieces are used for sauerbraten they come out dried and shrunken from the oven heat. Now for the recipe:

SAUERBRATEN
(Sour Roast After the German Style.)

6 pounds round or rump of beef
1 medium sized onion
1 tablespoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
1-3 teaspoon allspice
3 bay leaves
8 peppercorns
5 cloves, whole
4 cups vinegar
¼ pound salt pork
1 cup rye bread crumbs
1½ tablespoons flour

Wipe the beef and place in a large pot or covered pan. Over it spread the salt, sugar, bay leaves, allspice, peppercorns, and cloves. Chop the onion and add that, too. Pour the vinegar over all this and cover.

Every day turn the meat over, adding additional vinegar if the meat is not submerged. On the day of the roasting drain out the meat and by means of a larding needle draw strips of the cold salt pork through the roast, trimming off the outer ends of the fat strips. Enough of these lardoons should be run through to riddle the inner portions of the meat, as these, when melted, will supply fat for roasting.

Now place the roast in a good sized roasting pan, uncovered, and add one and one-half cups of water. Sear in a hot oven (525 degrees F.) for ten minutes, turning once. Reduce the heat to a slow oven (300 degrees F.) and let roast for two and one-half hours or until perfectly tender. Hot water may be added from time to time and the roast basted occasionally. Half an hour before serving sprinkle the top of the roast with the bread crumbs and with more finely minced onion.

When the sauerbraten is done remove it to a hot platter while you make the gravy. For this add the flour, dissolved in a little water, to the liquid in the pan and stir until it thickens. Add more hot water to give the gravy the right consistency and season with salt, pepper, and a very little vinegar from the bath if a tart gravy is desired.

Tomorrow I shall give you the recipe for German potato dumplings to serve with sauerbraten.

THIS SOFT-WATER WAY MAKES WASHING EASY

Women everywhere are talking about this amazing soap that makes the hardest water soft as rain. Without water-softeners or other washing aids it makes plenty of creamy, active suds that last and last.

Now you can use the same simple, easy soft-water washing methods that women in soft-water cities use. With Rinso, neither scrubbing nor boiling is necessary. The dirt is soaked out of clothes. It just floats out by itself and clothes come 4 or 5 shades whiter.

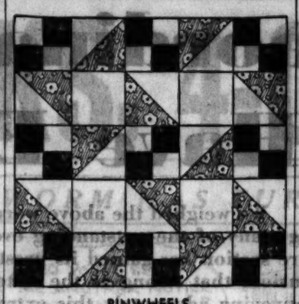
This new, scrubless, "soft-water way" to do the family washing not only saves the hands but the clothes as well. Women say that wearing apparel and household linens washed by the soaking method in Rinso suds last 2 or 3 times longer.

Rinso is so economical; cup for cup it gives you twice as much suds as lightweight, puffed-up soaps. They're wonderful suds for washing dishes and all cleaning. No wonder Rinso is the biggest-selling package soap in America.

Try Rinso Free

If you have never tried Rinso, send a clipping of this offer with your name and address to Lever Brothers Co., Dept. C 48, Cambridge, Mass. A full-sized package will be sent you without cost.

'Pinwheels' Quilt May Use Prints or Solid Colors



PINWHEELS

BY NANCY CABOT.

The "Pinwheels" quilt block reminds us of the days when we made paper pinwheels, patterning them from stiff paper and pinning them at the tips of long sticks to whirl in the wind. Almost any variety of prints may be used, though the uniformity of a standard color scheme adds distinction.

For a pattern of the "Pinwheel" design, send 5 cents in stamps or coin to Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune; or call at Tribune Public Service office, 1 South Dearborn street.

Sunday School Heads Hear Plan of Church Loyalty Campaign

Representative Sunday school superintendents from all denominations of the Chicago Church federation met at the La Salle hotel yesterday to hear plans for their part in the Church Loyalty campaign. The campaign is now under way and will continue until Easter under the direction of Dr. George G. Dowey. Dr. Dowey told the superintendents of a plan for a series of meetings for all officers and teachers of nearly 1,000 Sunday schools.

Dr. Dowey explained that the crusade will reach all leaders of church enterprises. This week, he said, there will be three meetings for pastors and church officials. The first will be held at the Buena Memorial Presbyterian church on Tuesday. The others will be held in the Englewood Baptist church on Friday and at the First Presbyterian church, Oak Park, on Thursday.

Mrs. Silvester Schiele, leader of the women's committee, has announced a meeting of women leaders to be held a week from today at the Central Y. M. C. A.

KOLYNOS DENTAL CREAM

This Formula Makes Weary Eyes Bright

It's Simple Way to Relieve Strain.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Want to make a pair of tired eyes into two shiny bright eyes?

I guarantee this only up to a certain point. Rather, covering certain conditions of eye health. If your eyes are weary from long strain, or if they're reflecting a bad state of nervous tension, ill health, or concrete eye affliction then what I'm going to tell you to do will be but a temporary lift, but it will be that even in cases of poor eyesight.

But for you and you who have fairly good eyes and want to keep them that way, and for some other you and you whose eyes suffer occasional sprees of sleeplessness, or unusual work, or reading, or strain, here's an eye pickup that will permit you again to sign "Bright Eyes" to your lovelorn communications. Another group I might invite in on this bright eyes secret is comprised of those women who do their face cleansing principally with cream and whose eyes get the benefit of very little water.

This water treatment for the eyes has good sound sense back of it. You know that each time your eyelid winks a tear is washed over the eye and that this winking and blinking helps to keep the eye cleared of dirt and foreign matter and helps the eye in other ways.

The bright eyes principle on which we work is to establish a way of providing expansion and contraction of tissues and improve circulation, eliminate congestion and improve sight. We do this with hot and cold applications to the eye. A little salt added to the water is the best imitation of tears, the well known eye washer, that we have.

A cloth may be wrung out of hot water and applied to the eyes. A small hand towel serves, or a fresh washcloth. The water should not be scalding hot but fairly hot. Then the towel wrung out in cold water is applied. The latter is not allowed to remain on as long as the hot towel. The cold application may be but a quick sponging. Its value lies in its stimulation to circulation.

About five of these alternating applications at a sitting are recommended. This treatment is beneficial when the eyes are suffering from colds or sties.

Miss Elizabeth E. Wade, daughter of Bishop Raymond J. Wade and Mrs. Wade of the Methodist Episcopal church in Stockholm, Sweden, was married Saturday to Irving McFarland Pettis, son of Mrs. Gertrude M. Pettis of Evanston. Queen of Italy Selects Chanel Frock That Is Regal in Royal Simplicity

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS. — [Special.] — When queens go shopping they do it in two ways. Her majesty may slip off to Paris with a lady-in-waiting or so to have a look-see at the fashions in their own atmosphere. In this case, unless she has official duties, she will hide under a transparent incognito, as Comtesse Something-or-other, so she can shop to her heart's content, even as you and I. The second way, and the more usual one, is for the shop to go to the queen.

When the queen of Italy decided recently that she needed a new frock, Mlle. Chanel sent a big slice of her collection down to Rome for her majesty to choose something from, and what the queen selected is the simple, little dress you see illustrated today. It is only regal in its royal simplicity, which is the best kind of distinction.

The dress is made of a new Chanel woolen, in the prettiest pale rosy beige color. The material is one of those transparent rough fabrics that are so smart in themselves. This material has been fashioned by Chanel into one of her typical frocks which have made her so famous. The simple bodice buttons diagonally down the front, from just below the left shoulder to the waistline, and the top three buttons are left unbuttoned, so the white piqué collar and revers show.

The skirt has two set in front panels, at the top of which are two small points suggesting a vest.

BY CHARLES NEVADA.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Oconomowoc, Wis., Jan. 29.—Melvin Johnson of Detroit, Mich., and Miss Kit Klein of Buffalo, N. Y., are the 1933 national ice skating champions. They won their titles today before Gov. A. G. Schmedeman and 5,000 others who lined the banks of Little Fowler lake.

KIT KLEIN.

Johnson's winning total was 110 points, 20 more than had his Detroit rival, Charles Delphier. Miss Klein finished with 70 points after a thrilling duel with Detroit's third blade star, Rose Marie Brady.

Johnson succeeds as champion the aging Jimmy Webster of St. Paul, Minn., who was unable to break into the scoring column. Miss Klein takes the place of Helen Bina of Chicago, who passed up this meet to compete in Norway.

Chicago Youths Win.

Chicago boys monopolized the minor divisions in which national crowns were not at stake. Leo Freisinger headed the intermediate ranks with 110 points. Bernie Cannata with the same total topped the junior class, while little Kenneth Kisselberg and his perfect record—three victories in as many races—piled up 90 points for a triumph among the juveniles.

The women's championship was not determined until the last race, for Miss Klein started today's events 10 points behind Miss Brady. She picked up the 10 points by finishing behind Dorothy Franey of St. Paul, Minn., and Mabel Swanson of Chicago in the 440 yard dash, and then climaxed her exhibition with a triumph in the one mile.

Today as yesterday breaks figured in deciding the lead in the point standings. Miss Klein fell yesterday and Crystal Bruce of Milwaukee streaked through to deprive her of points necessary to top Miss Brady. Today Miss Brady went sprawling 30 feet short of the finish mark after leading the field throughout the 440 yard race. The mishap let Kit Klein take third place and provided the points for her final margin.

Ocock Takes Five Mile.

Johnson picked up 40 points today. He finished second in the 440 yard event, a foot behind Delphier, and wound up in the same position in the three-quarter mile race, which went to Wallace Fee of Chicago.

Except in two instances the star Detroit pair had matters their own way. Delphier was shut out in the three-quarters' mile qualifying trials and both finished several yards back of the leaders in the five mile grind, which concluded the two day performances here.

The five mile race had the most thrills and unexpected situations. Robert Ocock, winner of the 1933 Milwaukee Silver Skates tournament, rushed from far back on the final lap, beat off several challengers, among them Al Kucera of Chicago, and captured the event in the fast time of 16:00.2. Ocock, a Racine boy, represented Oconomowoc. Robert Peterson, one of the most promising among Milwaukee's younger skaters, came in second. Kucera was third. Ninety started in this endurance test.

Catches Johnson Flatfooted.

Fee's outstanding victory was achieved in a last lap rush in which he passed Johnson, who was caught

Referee—Mallinson. Judge of play—French.

New York, Jan. 29.—(AP)—George Patterson's lucky goal in the first period started the New York Americans off to a 4 to 0 victory over the Chicago Blackhawks in a National league hockey game tonight and put the Americans back into a tie with the Montreal Maroons for second place in the international division.

CHUCK GARDINER.

The goal, first of two scored by Patterson, came on a long, easy shot from outside the blue line. It hit Goalie Chuck Gardiner's skates and caromed into the cage in a fashion that drew a smile even from Gardiner. But it was the deciding factor, for it enabled the Americans to play for the breaks and concentrate on defense. By this procedure they found openings for three more goals as the Hawks attacked continually.

Despite New York's defensive play and Chicago's inability to break through, there was an abundance of action. The Hawks never stopped trying. Paul Thompson, Lolo Couture, and Johnny Gottselig were the most effective of Chicago's forwards.

Hawks' Attack Fails.

The game had hardly started when Thompson slipped into the goal mouth with the puck, but he was turned around and before he could get the disc on his stick for a shot, Dutton plunged in and slapped it away. The Hawks played a rushing game and got three good shots before the Americans got by Abel.

The first real shot the Americans had resulted in the trick goal by Patterson, the only score of the period. Patterson shot from behind the blue line. Gardiner stepped out, attempting to take the low, easy shot between his skates, but the puck caromed into the far corner of the cage.

Gottselig was robbed of a goal when he had Worters beaten, but slipped and fell without getting a shot. The game slowed down for a moment, then Thompson and Cook broke loose, the latter getting a good pass only to miss an open net.

Fans Want Action.

Starting out to play for the breaks in the second period, the Americans hustled Himes down the ice for two shots. A dozen Chicago attacks were balked by the Americans' defense and the fans began to yell for action.

Mackenzie responded with a rush and the Americans dashed down several times without shooting. Worters beat Thompson in a race for Couture's pass and shot the puck out to start a play that ended in the second American goal. Patterson made the goal, slapping it behind Gardiner's back from short range, after passes by Phillips and Starr had pulled the goalie out.

Phillips split the Hawk defense a few seconds later, but was off balance and failed to sink another setup.

Hawks' Rushes Repulsed.

The third period opened at a lively clip and Brydge promptly drew another penalty for holding Cook. The Hawks continued to force the action, but made no progress through Dutton and Ayres. The Americans picked their openings for occasional raids.

As Brydge returned, Coulter went off for a cross check and the Americans scored on the first play. Filmore went down the right side and slammed a hard one at Gardiner. The puck dropped behind the goalie as he came out and fell. Jackson stepped up to drive it into the cage.

A few seconds later Himes pulled Gardiner out again on Wasnie's pass, but he overskated and was stopped before he could shoot. Then the continued rush brought another goal before Coulter came out. Sheppard scored it from a scrimmage, with Himes making the pass.

TALKING IT OVER

BY ARCH WARD.

"STOP counting, referee, stop counting, I'll get up. Ooooh, my legs! What makes everything go around so? I'll kill that fellow yet. Ah, there's the bell. Let's see, which is my corner? Makes no difference, any corner will do."

That's what scores of young fellows will be saying to themselves when the battle for Golden Gloves gets under way two weeks from tonight. The first sectional round of the Chicago tournament will be held at Guyon's Paradise ballroom Feb. 13-14. Other qualifying tests will follow on the far south side, north side and south side in that order.

There will be more fun this year than ever. Introduction of the novice division will bring increased entry and additional thrills. Hundreds of young men who never have had on a pair of gloves will match skill with others in the same class. No contestant will have the advantage of experience over his rival. None of the entrants in the novice division will have won more than one bout in major tournament competition.

While the inexperienced boxers are holding a tournament of their own, there also will be competition involving the more seasoned performers. Out of this group, of course, will come most of the boys who will represent Chicago in the intercity bouts with New York.

Contestants entering the tournament for the first time are warned not to overtrain. Light exercises are all right, but there is no necessity of strenuous preparation. Don't try to work off too much weight. Fight at your natural poundage. This is a meet in which participants fight themselves into condition. Sleep and rest are more important than hours in a gymnasium.

From the competitive angle, at least, the sixth annual Golden Gloves tournament will be the biggest ever. Entries everywhere exceed previous records. Admission of new centers means more and better talent. New York had better prepare for the toughest opposition it has had.

Lafayette, Ind., where the Journal and Courier is conducting a qualifying meet, challenges any center outside Chicago to show as large a field. Gordon Graham, sports editor of the paper, reports as follows:

"Three hundred and eleven entry blanks were received two days before the opening night last Tuesday. Of that number, 256 weighed in. Two rings were required Tuesday and Thursday nights to reduce the field. We believe this is the first time two rings have been necessary in an Indiana tournament. Capacity crowds of 3,000 attended both nights, and at the opening card hundreds were turned away. The fans are more enthusiastic than ever."

Three more rounds will be required to determine the championship team Lafayette will send to the Tournament of Champions at Chicago Stadium Feb. 27, 28 and March 1. The remaining dates are Jan. 31, Feb. 2 and Feb. 9.

Grand Rapids is giving Lafayette a battle for maximum entries. Roscoe Bennett, sports editor of the Press, which has charge of the meet, predicts his entry list will exceed 300. He reports this is the largest field in any tournament in his part of Michigan. Two rings will also be required for the preliminary rounds at Grand Rapids. The dates of the tournament are Feb. 1, 2, 3 and 10.

Contestants this year must compete in their own sectional tournament. For instance, a boy living in Rockford will not be permitted to enter the Dubuque meet or the Milwaukee meet. Last winter there were a few instances of a boy winning championships in two sections. The rule against transfers was necessary, too, because of efforts of racketeers to embarrass certain newspapers in charge of the promotion. In one city a gymnasium proprietor who controls a number of amateur boxers threatened to take his fighters to a neighboring qualifying center if the newspaper did not turn the meet over to him.

Boys who are interested in taking part in the biggest event amateur boxing provides are urged to deal directly with the newspapers in charge of the meet. That is the surest way of getting a square deal.

Bell and Mangin Capture All-South Tennis Title

Miami, Fla., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Berkeley Bell of New York and Gregory Mangin of Newark, N. J., won the all-south doubles tennis championship here today, defeating George M. Lott of Chicago and Jimmy Van Alen of Palm Beach, 6-1, 6-2, 6-3.

SCHROEDER WINS 10,000 METERS RACE BEFORE KING

Beats Norway Champion for Second Victory.

OSLO, Norway, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Eddie Schroeder of Chicago outskated Norway's best at 10,000 meters today to achieve his second victory of the international ice tournament.

A record crowd of spectators, including King Haakon and other members of the royal family, saw Schroeder, TRIBUNE Silver Skates champion of 1931, win the event in 18 minutes 1.8 seconds, and defeating, among others, Ivar Ballangrud, Norwegian champion.

At the finish, King Haakon shook hands with the Chicagoan and complimented him upon his victory. Schroeder won the 5,000 meters yesterday.

Wins By Six Seconds.

Schroeder won by nearly six seconds, Ballangrud being clocked in 18:07.7. Valentine Bialis of Lake Placid, N. Y., was third in 18:20, and Hans Engnestangen of Norway was fourth. Bert Taylor of New York placed sixth; Eddie Wedge of Detroit, eighth, and Carl Springer of New York, ninth.

Engnestangen, who won the 500 meters event yesterday, won the 1,500 meters today with Schroeder second and Ballangrud third. Engnestangen was timed in 2 minutes 23.2 seconds, Schroeder in 2:24.3.

Norway Holds Lead.

Norway was leading in points at the end of the second day of the competition, 57½ to 86½. Scoring is under cross country system.

WHITNEY STABLE AGAIN LEADS IN TURF WINNINGS

New York, Jan. 29.—[Special.]—The C. V. Whitney thoroughbreds earned a total of $403,681 in 1932, which is less than the total rolled up by the same owner's racers in 1931, according to a report made public today. The 1931 total was $422,923. Whitney has been the country's leading money winning owner since 1930, the year he took over the racing stable of his father, the late Harry Payne Whitney.

Harry Payne Whitney was the leading money-winning owner in 1929, giving the family uninterrupted sway since that year. It is interesting to note that Harry Payne Whitney also led in 1913, 1920, 1924, 1926 and 1927 and that his father, the late William C. Whitney, was the leading money winning owner in 1903.

Equipoise was C. V. Whitney's leading money winning thoroughbred in 1932 and Top Flight in 1931. The filly won $219,000 in 1931. Equipoise's total last year was $111,435.

REPORT PAT PAGE AFTER COACH JOB AT OREGON STATE

Corvallis, Ore., Jan. 29.—(AP)—The authorities of Oregon State college, especially those in whose hands the selection of a coach to succeed Paul J. Schissler, resigned, has been placed, were uncommunicative today as to who the appointee will be.

Yale, Harvard Move Up Date of Crew Race

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 29.—(AP)—The date of the Yale-Harvard crew race on the Thames river has been advanced from June 23 to June 16 as an economy measure, the Yale Athletic association announced tonight. The change moves the day of the race to the Friday before commencement. The combination crew race has been canceled. The Ell crews will report at their training quarters June 4 and will have only 12 training days before the race.

So This Is Basketball! Cubs Lose to Frain's Ushers, 36-20

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Capt. Woody English, Guy Bush, and Gabby Hartnett, heretofore known in the sports world as baseball players—in fact three of the Chicago Cubs' very best baseball players—last night picked up a little winter dough for themselves by participating in a basketball game. The spectacle was billed as a contest between the Big League All-Stars and Andy Frain's Ushers and was played at the Fronton. The Ushers won, 36 to 20.

The game was played before about 2,000 customers, apparently 1,000 being Cub fans who thought Woody, Guy, and Gabby were awfully good and 1,000 basketball fans who had a good time also.

The Boys Work at It.

It should be said for the three recast baseball gents that they made no prima donna brief appearances as per the ancient custom. The Cub boys appeared at length in both halves. English scored the first goal for the big leaguers and the most spectacular shot of the evening was that of Hartnett in the second half. Bush also got into the scoring column in the second half.

There was some embarrassment shortly after the start of the game when the players complained of confusion because of similarity of uniforms. A coin was tossed to see which outfit would strip to the waist and the All Stars lost. Hartnett, who is a trifle overweight, and who is accustomed to appearing athletically in much harness, asserted that he would not appear before his public three-fourths naked. The ushers, trained to be polite at all times, bowed to Hartnett's modest scruples and removed their shirts permitting Gabby to maintain his natty, though rotund appearance.

The baseball players, who are accustomed to retiring at 11:30 o'clock, were obliged to break their habit of living because they had to wait for two games before they took the ice. Some young men played the curtain raiser then some gals came on. It was 10 o'clock before the main event got under way.

Mr. Cahill Is Worried.

Dan Cahill, most rabid of all Cub fans, attended the show and had a miserable time. He worried every minute for fear his heroes would get hurt.

N. U. Loses Cash When Basketball Team Is Winning

Northwestern, paradoxically, receives less revenue from basketball when the team is winning than is otherwise the case. The better the team, the more the students turn out for the game; hence fewer seats for public sale. Although the Wildcat team has played to four capacity crowds this season, there have been fewer seats for public sale than ever before. The students have turned out in sufficient numbers to occupy three-quarters of the seats.

Rudolph Beats Ponzi, 1,750-1,509, in Cue Match

New York, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Erwin Rudolph of Cleveland defeated Andrew Ponzi of Philadelphia, 1,750 to 1,509, in their 14 block pocket billiard match completed at the Strand tonight. Ponzi won the afternoon block, 146 to 125, in four innings and turned in a high run of 133 against 65 for Rudolph. Tonight Rudolph won, 125 to 72, in 10 innings. His high run was 52; Ponzi's, 48.

Wyatt, Detroit Pitcher, Marries Georgia Girl

Cedartown, Ga., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Whitlow Wyatt, pitcher for the Detroit American league baseball club, yesterday married Miss Edna Earle White of Buchanan, Ga. She is a teacher in the Buchanan schools. Wyatt attended Georgia Tech and has been in the major leagues for several years.

Taylor Trunks Defeat Davenport Quintet, 30-13

The Taylor Trunks girls' basketball team successfully defended its national title against the Davenport Superiors at White City last night, winning 30 to 13. Marie Curtin led the Taylor Trunks' scoring with six baskets, while Dot Walters was Davenport's high scorer with three. The Davenport team recently won the Iowa state title.

Mancuso Signs Contract with New York Giants

New York, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Gus Mancuso, the Texas catcher who came to the Giants this winter in a deal with the St. Louis Cardinals, has returned his signed contract for 1933, the club announced today. With the departure of Shanty Hogan to Boston, the Giants expect Mancuso to do the bulk of the catching.

Darkness Halts Contest in Overtime Period.

BY OFFSIDE.

Darkness prevented the completion of overtime play in the National Professional Soccer league game between the Maccabee All Stars and Sons of Malta of Detroit yesterday, and the contest ended in a 2 to 2 tie. The game, a preliminary to the national cup championship to be held in connection with A Century of Progress, was waged on an icy field in Kuppenheimer stadium.

The Detroit team scored after ten minutes of play in the first period. Robb handled the ball inside the penalty area and from the spot kick Callahan scored. The score was tied ten minutes later by Huber from a penalty kick when Diffel handled the ball. Near the end of the period Timmons scored to put the Maccabees in front.

Detroit put on pressure in the second half and after Julian partly cleared his goal Donaldson scored from close in to bring the total to 2 all. Detroit kept the Maccabees on the defensive through the rest of the period. Lineup:

PREP QUINTETS YIELD FLOOR TO FIGHTING FANS

Daybrook, W. Va., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Mountaineers, swinging dim lighted lanterns, trooped across the hills to Daybrook last night to see a basketball game—a game that wasn't finished.

Fascinated by the fast moving players, the swish of the ball through the net, the men from the mountains let their adherence for their favorites develop into a belligerency that disrupted the contest between Daybrook and Hundred High schools.

Hundred was leading, 12 to 10, when a broad shouldered spectator challenged "any one in the house" to combat. Another accepted. They slugged vigorously on the side lines. The game went on, but others soon got into the battle. Blood spattered the floor and women screamed.

The referee called off the game, played on a gas-lighted floor, in the third period with Hundred leading, 34 to 11.

TODAY'S SCHEDULE.
1:30 p. m.—Denton vs. Hall.
3 p. m.—Jackson vs. Scoville.
8:15 p. m.—Layton vs. Kieckhefer.

BY FRENCH LANE.

There will be one less contender in he play for the world's three cushion billiard championship after today's matches have been completed.

The fellow who will fall by the wayside will be either Augie Kieckhefer, the present holder of the title, or Johnny Layton of Sedalia, Mo., who has been the champion on nearly a dozen occasions. They come together tonight and the defeat will make it impossible for either to march on ahead and win enough games to become the 1933 champion.

Leaders Idle Today.

The two other leaders, Jay Bozeman and Welker Cochran, the Californians, will be idle throughout today's sessions. The result of the two games this afternoon will have a bearing only on the minor places in the final tournament standings. Bozeman and Cochran probably will see action tomorrow but not against each other. Their opponents likely will be Kieckhefer and Layton.

Should both the far westerners win these games the tournament will go into the championship round as a strictly California affair.

They clashed three times on the coast before coming here to seek the world's championship. In two of the struggles Cochran was victorious.

Layton Is Choice.

For tonight's game Layton likely will rule as a slight favorite despite Kieckhefer's popularity among Chicago fans. Layton, to all appearances and according to the figures on innings played and high runs made, has played better billiards throughout the early part of the tournament than Kieckhefer. He is the only player who has been able to average more than a point an inning. He has clicked off 284 billiards in 268 innings.

There was no session of the tournament yesterday. This became possible when the first two weeks of play narrowed the original field of ten down to four championship possibilities. The championship match will be played on Friday night unless there are additional changes in the schedule.

Tiff Denton plays Allen Hall and Clarence Jackson meets Frank Scoville in this afternoon's matches. All these players are down in the second division of the tournament standings.

Basketball is still a relatively new sport for the Japanese, but the Meiji team, which has been touring the United States for the last several weeks, has demonstrated unusual ability. The Japanese possess speed and better than average scoring aim.

De Paul is also scheduled for a game tonight at Naperville, meeting North Central college. De Paul is undefeated and has won seven straight games.

North Central has defeated Elmhurst, Lake Forest, and Wheaton to share honors in the Little Nineteen with De Kalb and Carbondale. Its only defeat was at the hands of North Dakota State, 35 to 31.

CHICAGO TO HAVE WORLD'S BIGGEST X-RAY MACHINE

Plan New Experiments in Cancer Treatment.

New experiments in cancer treatment, carried out with X-rays shot from the highest voltage machine in the world, will soon be undertaken in a special building at Michael Reese hospital, which is protected from ray seepage by having 90,000 pounds of lead in its construction.

This clinic will be operated by four specialists in cancer and ray treatment, Drs. Henry Schmitz, Herbert E. Schmitz, Joseph E. F. Laibe, and P. A. Nelson. The high voltage machine, which is being installed, was designed by W. D. Coolidge, director of the General Electric laboratories, and is capable of being stepped up to 1,200,000 volts.

Duplicate Radium Bombs.

The purpose of the experiments is to duplicate, or imitate, the invisible bombs given off by radium, which have been so successful in the treatment of some forms of cancerous growths.

"After 500,000 volts in the X-ray therapeutic work," said Dr. Herbert Schmitz, "more and longer electrons are obtained and the radiation becomes more intense. Above 700,000 volts you duplicate the gamma rays of radium. This is where we hope to do effective deep tissue work and cure hidden cancers. This machine is used because the cost of a similiar amount of radium treatment would be prohibitive. We are putting in a machine for $55,000, which we expect to do the work of $4,000,000 worth of radium."

A 300,000 volt machine is now being used at the clinic and in the New York Memorial hospital one of 700,000 voltage has been used successfully. In Berlin recently physicians sent 2,500,000 volts through a cancer patient, but the time of the experiment was only one ten thousandth of a second. At Michael Reese clinic the treatments will be of 15 minutes' duration.

Room Lined with Lead.

The X-ray building is 60 by 60 and three floors in height. The room for the patients is 7 by 12 feet, entirely leaded one inch in thickness to protect the operator as well as the patient. A metal target is in the room. This is covered with six inches of lead. The patient is covered with a leaded rubber blanket except for the small part of the body exposed for treatment. Measurement of the treatment is done by a chrono-radiometer.

The pencil of rays falls from the target upon the part treated. The rays are filtered through copper to get rid of destructive rays. Even with these precautions the operator of the machine has to be changed once a month, as it has been found that exposure to the seepage of rays causes anemia.

HAROLD TEEN—WHO IS THE CHISELER?

ARABS OF THREE COUNTRIES MOVE TOWARD UNION

Would Menace British Route to India.

BY ERNEST MAIN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BAGDAD, Iraq, Jan. 29.—The Arab press here and in Syria persistently talk of an Arab union, meaning a confederation of Arabic speaking peoples. Possibility of such a fusion has aroused the interest of Great Britain, since the union would straddle the route to India.

The Arabic nations of Africa appear to be excluded from the project. Egypt because she is so far ahead of the nations east of the Suez canal, and the others because their political status appears to be too clearly defined. The scheme which has been canvassed so eagerly is a union of Iraq, Syria, and Palestine.

Arabs Race Conscious.

The Arabs in Iraq, Syria, and Palestine are today very race conscious. Iraq has just won independence by the expiration of the British mandate. But both Syria, under the French, and Palestine, under the British, are still held under strict mandatory control, Britain's stern reign in Palestine being necessary to maintain peace between Arabs and Jews.

Culturally the Arabs of Syria are ahead of those in Iraq and Palestine. Economically, however, Iraq appears to hold prospects beyond those of Syria, and it is felt in Iraq that any political merger would cause Iraq to be flooded with the cleverer Syrians.

For this reason, some elements favor nothing more than the establishment of a customs union which would leave political lines intact.

Much Smuggling Goes On.

At present much smuggling goes on across all the frontiers. This is particularly true of Iraq, which has higher customs duties, necessitating the maintenance of a costly customs organization.

A new turn has just been given to the situation by the emergence of the former khedive of Egypt, Abbas Hilmi, who has come forward with a scheme for Arab unity to be discussed at a conference in Geneva. He offers to defray the costs.

Many of the newspapers are disturbed over the possibility of continued British political and Jewish cultural and commercial domination in Palestine, and French political influence in Syria. Moreover, while they admit the tangible benefits to be derived from the Mosul pipe line running to the Mediterranean and from the Haifa-Bagdad railroad, they profess to see in it the hand of British imperialism.

They fear the continuance of the British route to India by way of Bagdad, Basrah and the Persian gulf, which reduces the journey from the Suez canal to India by one-half.

THIEF TAKES CAR AND WRECKS IT TRYING TO FLEE

A youthful automobile thief who stole the car of H. B. Bellman, 150 North Parkside avenue, an auditor, last evening, was involved in three accidents before he abandoned the wrecked automobile a few blocks away.

The car was stolen from where Bellman had parked it while he entered a drug store at 603 South Clark street. He left the store as the thief drove off. At his shout of warning, a passerby jumped to the running board in an attempt to stop the theft.

The thief drove close to a passing automobile, and knocking the man into the street without seriously injuring him. After clashing fenders with this automobile, the thief drove south in Clark street and struck the rear end of a truck. He backed away and continued his flight. Doubling back, he met his third accident when he struck a post at Harrison street and Wabash avenue, wrecking the car. There the youth left the car, walked to Michigan avenue, where he told a traffic policeman that there had been a "bad accident" on Wabash avenue, and then disappeared.

Bellman, when he arrived at the South State street police station to report the theft, was told that his car had been found.

U. S. DEATHS FROM ACCIDENTS DROP 9,500 DURING 1932

Accidental deaths in the United States were 9,500 fewer in 1932 than in 1931, according to statistics gathered by the National Safety council and made public yesterday. The decline from 97,415 fatalities in 1931 to 88,000 in 1932 resulted in a death rate for last year of 70.5 per 100,000 population. This was the lowest rate since 1922, and, with the exception of that year and 1921, the lowest since 1913.

The reduced fatalities, the council stated, were due partly, but not wholly, to the depression. Drops in the industrial and motor vehicle deaths were attributable in part to reduced industrial operations and use of automobiles. Automobile deaths dropped 13 per cent from the 1931 total, however, while gasoline sales, considered the best index of automobile use, were down only 6.84 per cent.

Another passage in Moore's will reads:

SARA TEASDALE, POETESS, FOUND DEAD IN BATHTUB

New York, Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Sara Teasdale, whose lyric poetry had won her widespread recognition, was found dead today in her apartment. She was lying in a bathtub filled with warm water, but whether her death was caused by a heart attack or by drowning will not be known until an autopsy is performed.

Her body was found by a nurse, who has been attending her since last September, when she returned from London suffering from the effects of an attack of pneumonia. Her condition was complicated by a nervous breakdown. She was 48 years old.

Miss Teasdale left no note to indicate she intended to take her life, but on the strength of the nurse's story Dr. Henry Weinberg, assistant medical examiner, withheld the issuance of a death certificate pending the autopsy.

Miss Teasdale's former husband, Ernst B. Filsinger, a foreign trade expert and author of many articles on the subject, was reported to be in Africa.

Born in St. Louis, Mo., on Aug. 8, 1884, the daughter of John Warren and Mary Elizabeth Willard Teasdale, she first attracted attention in 1907 by a volume entitled "Sonnets to Duse and Other Poems." This was followed in 1911 with another collection called "Helen of Troy and Other Poems," and in 1915 with "Rivers to the Sea."

Another book of lyrics, "Flame and Shadow," came from her pen, in 1925, and six years later she produced "Dark of the Moon."

2 MOVIE GROUPS CAUGHT BETWEEN COSTS, SLUMP

R. K. O. and Paramount Yield to Pressure.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 29.—Appointment of receivers last week for the Paramount Publix corporation and the Radio-Keith-Orpheum corporation, two of the country's five principal owners of motion picture theater chains, was due, it is stated, to the falling attendance throughout the country. They were unable, it was said, to readjust proportionately the charges due on theaters purchased, built or rented during the boom years.

With the average admission to a motion picture show apparently about to become 25 cents in the country's urban sections, drastic revision of all charges against theater operation was declared to be in order. Like conditions will have to be met by the other three principal theater owners, Fox Film corporation, Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc., and Loew's, Incorporated, with Loew's in the most favorable position due to its nonparticipation in the inflation movement of the industry.

Try to Cut Charges.

The Paramount Publix corporation, which comprises about 1,500 American theaters in its chain, has been engaged for months in strenuous efforts to meet the effect of declining attendance. It recently adopted a plan for decentralization of theater operation and obtained abatements on numerous fixed charges.

Radio-Keith-Orpheum corporation, which has about 300 motion picture and vaudeville theaters in its system, undertook a capital readjustment in November, 1931, following active expansion from the time of its foundation at the end of 1928, and raised considerable additional funds. The mounting total of fixed charges, however, went hand in hand with the decline in revenues.

Observers believe there is at stake the entire theory by which motion picture companies have come to control every phase of the business, from production and distribution down to theater operation. It is the familiar theory of the producer endeavoring to control his market.

Follows Booking Practices.

The campaign for control of theatrical chains between 1926 and 1930 and the introduction of block booking schemes which obligated theater operators to take a fixed number of films from a producer each year aroused much attention on the part of the department of justice. This resulted in a moderation of the relations between producers and distributors.

Fox Film, which bought Loew's early in 1930, was obliged in the following year to give up control of the latter to the Film Securities corporation, operated by three independent trustees as officers of the federal court.

Under the debt situation faced by Paramount and Radio-Keith-Orpheum the receiverships have been viewed as inevitable for several months by competent Wall street observers. If the theatrical operating divisions had been able to sustain their own charges, it is calculated, the holding company structures conceivably could have weathered the depression.

Industry Overcapitalized.

The overcapitalization of the motion picture industry has not been confined to the theater chains alone, however, but has extended to practically every branch of activity. It resulted first from a shortage of theaters and the consequent competition for outlets for excess production. The situation at present is about reversed, as the scaling down of production has caused an actual shortage of pictures for the number of theaters available.

Due to heavy banking loans incurred by the motion picture industry in its era of expansion, practically every company now is under the influence if not the direct control of bankers.

The motion picture companies have principally pledged their film inventories as collateral for the banking loans. The recent tendency to establish faster film amortization schedules can be traced, it is declared, to a large extent to that fact.

WHEAT PRICES SHOW INCREASES FOR JANUARY

Rise Over 3c; Corn Also Rises.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

January was an exceptional month in the grain trade. It started with a strong under current of bullishness, despite the fact that January proverbially is a bear month. Wheat prices early were up about 10c from the season's low with moderate advances in other grains. The traders spent the greater part of the month in trying to force prices higher, but the finish was with only 3 to 3¼c net gains on wheat; ½ to ⅝c gain on corn in Chicago.

Trade sentiment leans to the constructive side of all grains, especially wheat. There is a crop scare on that has been increasing in scope within the last week. The greater part of the Southwest and north Pacific coast territory have the poorest prospect for a winter wheat crop in recent years. The wheat traders, however, while mindful of the strongest indications of substantial crop losses in winter wheat this season, are not taking hold of the market, because of lack of outside interest. The entire grain trade is suffering from a pronounced lack of interest on either side.

Wheat Prices Too Low.

Wheat prices are too low to warrant more than a small profit on the selling side, while expectations are of materially higher prices later in the season when the crop begins to green up and show what the real conditions are. A winter wheat crop of not more than 400,000,000 bushels and possibly materially less is the belief of the traders. A small crop is regarded as a blessing in one sense as it would bring reduction in supplies down to a domestic basis. At the same time the United States is likely to be out of the export line.

All the evidence presented of late shows that Europe will have a fair to good crop. There will be plenty of wheat in the world for all consumptive requirements. There is belief that there are more possibilities of a higher average in prices, although the political, financial, and general business conditions will have to improve greatly to bring about a material advance. There have been years, however, when the crop outlook at this period was unfavorable and material advances were made and well sustained. There is no telling what a market will do should the speculative buying craze develop, especially with wheat around 50 cents and under for a starter.

Farmers Have Wheat Ground.

All indications suggest a larger disappearance of wheat than was generally suspected. Low prices induced farmers to take their wheat to grist mills in all sections of the country and have it ground into flour as they have no money with which to buy food. Much wheat has been wasted because of low prices.

Flour orders in the hands of the Red Cross organization, including distribution up to the present time aggregate millions of barrels. The Red Cross has taken 65,000,000 bu of the Farm Board wheat leaving only 20,000,000 bu to be disposed of. Chairman Stone of the United States Farm Board announces that it has no more wheat, but he says nothing about holdings of around 30,000,000 bu of futures, that the farm board is credited with having. That board admits a loss of $200,000,000 and is asking for more money. Nothing would suit the grain traders better than to have congress close the farm board operations.

Visible Supply Decreases.

Visible supply of wheat are decreasing steadily, yet reports from the southwest at the close said it was easier to buy cash wheat in the country while the demand at Kansas City was light. The closing prices in Chicago were unchanged to ⅛c lower for the week: May, 47⅜@47¼c; July, 47½@47⅝c; September, 48⅜@48½c. Winnipeg wheat closed ⅜@⅝c net higher; Liverpool ⅛@⅝c lower for the week. Corn Traders Optimistic.

Some of the larger traders are optimistic as to the future of corn, expecting higher prices within a short time if the general public comes to the market for wheat.

Corn prices are too low, although the International Harvester corporation announced it will pay 45 cents a bu for No. 2 yellow corn in trade. The cash price in Chicago Saturday was around 25c.

Farmers sold corn more freely on every hard spot. Export business is larger, around 500,000 bu, according to some authorities. Argentine corn was, however, offered more freely in Europe at lower prices than American, despite reports of serious losses in that country due to locusts. At the close May corn was 26⅝@26¼c, July 27⅝c, September 29@28⅞, or a net loss in Chicago of ⅛c.

Oats, Rye, and Barley.

An indifferent trade was on in oats with prices for May holding between 17 and 17⅛c, July 17¼ to 17⅜c for the week. The close was at the inside, with net losses of ⅛c. Marketing of oats at primary markets since Aug. 1 aggregates 48,290,000 bu, compared with 40,078,000 bu last year.

Interest in rye and barley waned, particularly in barley, although congress passed a 3.02 per cent beer bill. The close was ⅛c higher for the week, the close today on May barley was at 37⅛c. Rye futures closed ⅝@½c lower, May being 34½c and July 33⅛c, with 532,000 bu traded in for future delivery as compared with 1,010,000 bu the previous week.

Gold Standard Under Attack of Economist

This is the eighth of a series of 10 articles reviewing the attitudes toward the solution of the depression held by business leaders, financiers, and economists in the United States today.

BY REUBEN D. CAHN.

The leading nations of the world today use one of two kinds of monetary systems. The United States, France, Italy, Belgium, Holland, and Switzerland are on the gold standard. Other important countries employ a managed currency.

Advocates of having the U. S. change over see in the gold standard a system that has worked badly. They point out that the value of gold has varied so widely that by adhering to it as a standard of value we have stopped all but the most necessitous business in this country.

The bull market for gold which has been in progress since 1929 has increased the price of the dollar so much that those who have debts to pay that were incurred between 1925 and 1929 have to give 50 to 100 per cent more in goods than they borrowed. Hence wholesale bankruptcy, foreclosures stoppage of business, unemployment.

Want Dollar Value Lessened.

Equity, say the managed currency advocates, requires that the dollar be put back in its place, so that the debts can be paid in dollars of the purchasing power that existed when the debts were incurred.

This they would accomplish by having the government suspend the redemption of currency. Thereafter gold would be used only in international transactions, subject to governmental regulation. The government would pay its bills and its debts with paper money until prices had risen to the average level which prevailed from 1926 to 1929. To restrict a rise beyond that point the plan is thereupon to retire paper currency, substituting government bonds.

"At first blush this seems preposterous," said a learned eastern economist, who refused to have his name used in quoting him. "This is so," he said, "because we are accustomed to think that we have had superior conditions in this country, and have pointed the finger of scorn at England, Germany, Italy and other countries of Europe.

Conditions Are Changed.

"Well, we could in 1923 and in other years down to 1930, for then our prices alone were stable and we were alone without serious unemployment. But the tables are turned. Since 1929 our prices have fluctuated more than have those of any of the countries which have suspended the gold standard in recent years. Absolutely, and relatively, more persons are unemployed in this country than in any of these countries. Right now we are the horrible example for the world. I am satisfied that no European country which is using a managed currency would return to the gold standard unconditionally, seeing what suffering adherence to it has been caused the United States."

To the same effect, Reginald McKenna, outstanding British banker and former chancellor of the exchequer, in a statement last Friday declared that "it is useless to return to the gold standard until it shows some reasonable prospect of being a stable standard."

German Experience Cited.

The principal objections to the managed currency are that once inflation is started it is hard to keep within bounds. Germany's experience with the monetary printing presses is often pointed to in this connection. England and Sweden's recent experience is to the contrary, but it has been too brief to be convincing. The second objection is the fact that in the indenture for billions of dollars of debts outstanding there is a clause providing for payment in gold coin of the standard and fineness prevailing at the time the debt was incurred. Unless the Supreme court should hold the gold clause of no effect a managed currency would not benefit debtors, the ones who most need help.

Tomorrow: Smaller dollars.

AMERICANS OPEN MOST FACTORIES IN CANADA IN '32

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 29.—More factories were opened in Canada in 1932 by Americans than by Canadians, it has been revealed. Announcement was made that 206 new industrial plants had opened in Canada during 1932, and that 106 of them were opened by United States interests, mostly in extension of the branch plant idea. Five came from Great Britain, five from other countries, and 92 were Canadian companies.

The latest trend in American use of Canadian territory for manufacturing mainly to obtain tariff preferences is in the milling industry. To get the 10 per cent British preference on flour some United States firms are giving orders to Canadian mills to have their trade makes turned out in Canada for shipment later to the United Kingdom at the preferential.

The latest in British moves is along automobile lines—the small car duties. Manufacturers like Austin are now sending out feelers as regards establishing branches following imperial conference preferences.

WALL ST. TURNS TO BUSINESS SIGNS FOR CUE

Dividend Meetings Hold Interest.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 29.—For the time being, the stock market seems disposed to take its cue from business rather than politics.

Some half dozen important dividend meetings are on the calendar for the new week and their outcome is popularly expected to determine the market's immediate course regardless of developments at Washington or Warm Springs.

Particularly keen interest is being manifested in the crucial United States Steel board meeting on Tuesday. The general opinion is that the corporation's regular preferred payment, which is cumulative at the rate of $7 annually, cannot be continued any longer in the face of a steadily mounting deficit from operations. In some influential quarters hopes are held out that the board will "carry on" with a reduced rate, possibly to $5, but more probably to $4 with a view to complete omission at its next meeting unless business picks up in the meantime.

Deficit Last Year.

"Big Steel" incurred a deficit last year of $100,000,000 roughly after preferred dividends. Its present operating rate is only about 17 per cent of capacity, which compares with the 35 per cent standard fixed as a minimum basis for profitable operations.

Coming as it does just when the traditional spring rally is due to get under way, next Tuesday's meeting is bound to have a widespread effect on speculative sentiment whatever the decision. If the action is to be "adverse" many will accept it as evidence that the guiding spirits of the country's leading industrial concern can find no warrant in the business outlook for further display of the confidence that moved them to continue the dividend last October when actual conditions were just as bad.

If on the other hand, a $5, or even a $4 rate should be maintained, the trade would be inclined to place a favorable interpretation upon it and hopes would be raised that General Motors, whose board is to meet on Wednesday, and some of the other directorates currently sharing the limelight would follow suit. The American Telephone board meets on Feb. 15 and Steel's action might pass for a criterion on the fate of its rate.

Other Meetings at Hand.

Other dividend meetings of the week claiming Wall street attention include that of the Borden company, Deere & Co. preferred, and Sun Oil company on Tuesday and those of the Standard Oil Companies of New Jersey, California and Indiana and Drug, Inc., on Wednesday.

It was largely in deference to uncertainties connected with these meetings that the market has been adhering to its trading rut with such dogged indifference to friendly bits of aid for the last week—the Pennsylvania railroad's dividend declaration for example and the buying into New York Central by Loree. The six trading sessions have brought a change of less than three-quarters of a point in the composite averages — that on the downside. On the last three days of the week, interest subsided to the point where some fifteen stocks accounted for approximately 35 per cent of the total turnover.

Rails Are Leaders.

Railroad shares are providing whatever leadership there is to the market at the moment. The group enjoyed a semblance of demand in two or three of the sessions and as a result emerged from the week flourishing an infinitesimal plus sign, its gain in the averages amounting to an even cent.

Increased Taxes Cutting Par Values of Listed Stocks

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 29.—The business depression and increased taxation are reducing the number of corporations capitalized with no par value and $100 par value stock, it is indicated in a survey of companies listed on the New York Stock exchange. In former years stocks with these par values far outnumbered all other groups. As a result of a strong trend toward low par values in the last year more than 200 stocks listed on the exchange have par values of $1 to $50 a share.

Cement Plant at Allentown Goes on Full Time Basis

Allentown, Pa., Jan. 29.—(AP)—M. S. Ackerman, plant superintendent, said today work will be resumed Wednesday at the plant of the Lawrence Portland Cement company, with full time employment for 150 men. Work will continue through February and possibly longer, he said. The plant had been idle since Nov. 16.

Cluett-Peabody Reports $271,752 Loss for 1932

'Can't' Control Inflation, Says Bank Review

New York, Jan. 29.—(AP)—The Guaranty Survey, published by the Guaranty Trust company, says in its current issue popular support for some form of inflation, as an artificial way to bring back good times, has gained a momentum in the last few months that is "far greater than many suspect."

Experience suggests, asserts the review, "there is and can be no such thing as controlled inflation." In the past, the Survey asserts, inflation "has never failed to get beyond control.

Record Credits Available.

"Many suggestions for the creation of more credit and more currency are being offered without any apparent study or grasp of the situation as these proposals might apply to it. There is more credit available today than ever before in our history and the outstanding currency is at its high—nearly a billion dollars more than at the peak of our boom period in 1929. So the crux of the situation is the restoration of confidence and the crucial question is: How may that be stimulated?

"Again the answer seems somewhat obvious. If congress would concern itself less with specious remedies and more with fundamental correctives, confidence would soon be revived.

For Balanced Budget.

"Established government credit through a balanced budget and a sound basis of taxes would mark the beginning of a return of confidence. Businesslike settlement of the debt problem, proper adjustment of tariffs, relief from the ills and abuses of our bankruptcy laws, and revision of the anti-trust laws to permit control of production are among the positive suggestions that would have a constructive effect."

CANADIAN ROADS CUT EMPLOYES' PAY 20 PER CENT

MONTREAL, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Officials of the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific railways have notified employés of a 20 per cent reduction in the basic rate of wages, effective March 3. Engineers, firemen, conductors, trainmen, yardmen, and telegraphers will be affected.

The new rate is 10 per cent below that which the men have been receiving during the last twelve months and 20 per cent below the basic rate. For the last twelve months the basic rate remained the same, but, by agreement of the companies and the running trades unions, a deduction of 10 per cent was made for a period of one year, subject to economic conditions.

The men informed the companies they were willing to accept a continuance of the 10 per cent deduction until the end of 1933 or other such fixed period as might be agreed upon, but the company declined to accept this, spokesmen for the men said tonight.

The general chairmen have advised the railways that the proposal "will be placed before the men represented by the general conference, parties to this conference." They hope to be able to give "more definite advice as to the position to be taken on this all important question by Feb. 23 or as soon thereafter as possible." Some 26,000 men are involved.

SPECIAL SALES HELP RETAIL BUSINESS TO MAINTAIN GAINS

A maintenance of former gains at retail, with larger sales in a few special lines, slight advances in expansion of local steel operations, a gain in the wholesale distribution of automobiles for the second consecutive month, seasonal improvements in the packing plant business and a marked pick-up in the manufacture of typewriters characterized the last week in Chicago, according to trade observers of the Chicago Association of Commerce.

Special sales, with cut prices in jewelry and house furnishings lines, held local retail sales at the previous week's levels. Officials stated that the mild weather was a disturbing factor in the sales of men's and women's apparel, which dropped considerably. At wholesale, advance registrations of visiting buyers for the Interstate Merchants council are ahead of this same time last year, and from all appearances there will be several establishments participating for the first time.

Steel operations have been gradually improving all over the country, with the most noticeable gains in Cleveland and Chicago districts. These improvements continued to rest largely on the demands of the automobile industry. The local rate of operation has risen sharply to 14 per cent. More liberal orders, mainly in small lots, and coming from various sources, are combining with the automobile manufacturers to make this improvement.

Sales of automobiles, as compared with the figures of a year ago, show only a small decline. Production of slaughtering houses displayed a seasonal increase of 9 per cent during the last month. This is compared with an expansion of 15 per cent during the same period last year.

TARIFF GROUP GOES TO HAWAII ON SUGAR STUDY

MANILA, P. I., Jan. 29.—(AP)—With their two months' study of the Philippine sugar industry completed, four representatives of the United States tariff commission have sailed for Hawaii where they will conduct a similar survey. The tariff commission also has examined sugar production in Cuba and Porto Rico.

Chairman Kenneth L. Stone suggested a possible way for the Philippines to take care of surplus production over the 850,000 ton import limitation under the independence act. He proposed insular consumption be increased through an educational campaign, pointing out that while industrialized nations consume 45 pounds of sugar per capita a year, the Philippines consume less than 21 pounds per capita.

Operations in Steel Industry Now 20 Pct.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Another jump of one point in steel production was noted by the magazine Steel today, but the orders of the Ford interests to hold up materials and parts were seen as factors which will slow up a movement that was becoming promising.

The magazine in its weekly summary, said mill activity increased one point to 19 per cent of normal last week. This snapped production back almost to 20 per cent from a holiday low.

Production Expands.

The factors were reported thus:

"Production in the Pittsburgh, Chicago, Birmingham, and eastern Pennsylvania districts expanded sufficiently to overcome the inertia of a stationary condition at Cleveland and Buffalo, and a slight decline at Youngstown.

"This week Pittsburgh and Youngstown mills have heavier programs, but Buffalo will be in the off week of a staggered schedule, Birmingham will have rolled the rails causing last week's improvement, and Cleveland may be injured by automotive strikes at Detroit.

"The net change, however, will probably be slight.

An Encouraging Action.

"To snap back almost to 20 per cent in one month after the holiday low is obviously encouraging and is quietly generating confidence, but the iron and steel industry prefers to be overly cautious, to live from week to week, and to be steeled against a temporary interruption of the upward march.

"Unquestionably, despite the recent improvement, the market situation continues extremely spotty.

"Because the Detroit automobile body plants now tied up by strikes have just got under way on Ford contracts the results may be more to block broader specification for sheets than to curtail present production. However, Ford has issued holdups on all materials and parts, which will slow up a movement that was becoming promising."

Freeport Tex. Sulphur Co. Offers Stock

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 29. — The Freeport Texas company reports for the year ended Dec. 31 a net income of $2,005,098 after reserves, federal taxes, depreciation and contingencies, equal to $2.75 a share on 729,844 capital shares outstanding. This compares with $2,376,373, or $3.26 a share in 1931.

The company, through Kidder, Peabody & Co., is offering today a new issue of $2,500,000 6 per cent cumulative convertible preferred stock of $100 par. This stock is priced at $100 a share and accrued dividends, with dividends accruing from Feb. 1, 1933. The proceeds from the sale will be used to finance in part the construction of plant and facilities for the production of sulphur at Grande Ecaille La., which will cost approximately $3,000,000.

Provision will be made by the company to retire the entire issue on or before Feb. 1, 1946, through purchases or redemptions out of surplus or net profits at a specified annual rate after payment of dividends on the preferred stock.

The stock is convertible at any time before Feb. 1, 1945. If converted prior to Feb. 1, 1938, it will be at the rate of three and one-third shares of common stock for each share of preferred, and if converted thereafter at the rate of two and one-half shares of common stock.

The consolidated balance sheet of the company as of Dec. 31 shows total current assets of $3,626,173 and current liabilities of $2,392,334, as compared with $9,618,546 and $3,618,149, respectively, at the end of 1931. Surplus increased from $3,179,199 to $3,749,957 at the end of 1932. Total assets were $19,551,596, against $19,639,375 at the close of the previous year.

REFRACTORIES REFUNDING PLAN IS ANNOUNCED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 29.—A plan for refunding the $5,000,000 of General Refractories company two year 5 per cent gold notes, due on March 1, 1933, by issuing $6,000,000 of five year 6 per cent first mortgage cumulative income bonds carrying stock warrants, is being mailed today to noteholders by a committee representing holders of nearly one-third of the present issue.

Each new $1,000 bond will carry a nondetachable warrant for the purchase of forty shares of the company's capital stock at $5 a share during the life of the bonds. Also in case of any failure in interest payments the holders will be entitled, without cost, to one share of stock for each $1,000 bond at the end of each interest period, in compensation for postponement of interest.

The new issue will be redeemable in whole or part on forty-five days' notice.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HARBOR GRACE, Newfoundland, Jan. 29.—A large shipment of flour from Liverpool, England, received here recently brought out the fact that Canadian wheat can be taken to England, milled there and sold back in St. John's at $1.60 a barrel less than American and Canadian quotations.

American and Canadian quotations are $4.80 a barrel c. i. f. [cost, insurance, and freight], while Liverpool quotes 16 shillings, or $3.20, c. i. f. [By that ratio the pound is equal to $4. Today's New York exchange rate was $3.38.]

Chartered Investors Gives Net Worth as $3,934,280

New York, Jan. 29.—[Special.]—Net worth of Chartered Investors, Inc., as of Dec. 31, taking securities at market value, was $3,934,380, equal to $78.96 a share for the preferred stock, the company reports. This compares with $4,500,634, or $88.25 a share for preferred a year earlier. Investments in the balance sheet are carried at a cost of $3,543,535, against $4,155,240 a year earlier.

RAIL AND TRUCK GROUP ISSUES TRAFFIC REPORT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 29.—Following three months of argument, which at times threatened to split the group, the joint committee of railroads and highway users issued for publication today a report in which agreement is shown on principles for the taxation of highway vehicles, reciprocity policies between states for the licensing of commercial motor vehicles, the elimination of grade crossings, and the right of railroads to operate motor vehicles.

The members of the committee "agreed to disagree" on rate regulation for common or contract carriers and length limitations for highway vehicles.

The report has been filed with the national transportation committee, the organization formed under the chairmanship of the late President Calvin Coolidge and with Alfred E. Smith as a member, to investigate the condition of the railroads and of transportation generally.

Highway Regulation.

The Association of Railway Executives previously had filed a report covering highway regulation with the national committee and the statement of the joint committee is indicative of the extent to which the interests involved in commercial highway traffic are willing to agree with the railroads.

At one time the highway members of the joint committee sought to have the railroads suspend their legislative efforts in New York and other states, but the railroads declined to accede, as they already had made substantial progress in their legislative program.

The joint committee was sponsored by the Association of Railway Executives and by the National Highway Users conference and these organizations defrayed its expenses. The conference is headed by Alfred P. Sloan Jr., president of the General Motors corporation.

Hope for Agreement.

"It is our hope and expectation that as future conferences are held and facts developed, even the present differences will disappear," said a statement issued by W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, and Alfred H. Swayne, vice president of the General Motors corporation, co-chairman of the joint committee. "To this end we are recommending to our sponsoring bodies that our committees be continued for further discussions.

"We regard the achievements of the present report as a distinct step forward in the development of sound public transportation policies, as it is always wiser that economic problems should be solved by conference rather than by legislation."

In their part of the report by the joint committee, the railroads ask for regulation of rates charged by common motor carriers, the fixing of minimum rates, and enforcement of rules and practices designed to regulate contract trucking, both in interstate and intrastate commerce. The representatives of the motor industry and of highway users on the committee hold that these recommendations should be put in effect "if and when sufficient data have been collected to

LEAGUE OBTAINS FINANCIAL HOLD OVER RUMANIA

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

GENEVA, Jan. 29.—A new method of international financial coöperation, agreed on between Rumania and the league of nations' financial commit tee, has been put into effect by the council.

It extends the league's influence from vanquished countries, off the gold standard, as previously, to victorious countries on the gold standard, but financially backward.

Provides Financial Experts.

The present scheme provides no loan, but gives Rumania a staff of experts named by the league and reporting through a chief financial adviser regularly to the council for four years. The council of the league of nations may, by a majority vote, recall its financial adviser or any one of its experts if at any time, after consultation with its financial committee, it considers their maintenance no longer likely to serve a useful purpose.

That gives the financial adviser real power. If the league ever threatens to withdraw him on the ground that Rumania's refusal to follow his recommendations makes his office useless, execution of such a threat might ruin Rumania's credit.

The delegates of all the great powers showed they were quite aware of the powers granted by the action of a majority, instead of a two-third vote.

Action Pleases France.

"This experiment delighted France," said Rene Massigli. His government had pushed an ally into it, because it was unwilling any longer to take the responsibility alone for Rumania's finances, even for political advantages.

As other allies of France are in Rumania's fix, it was significant that M. Massigli also spoke of this agreement as "the first example of a method which could be used again in the future."

Britain Sees Hopeful Sign.

Italy's representative, Baron Pompeo Aloisi, who presided at this session of the council, expressed great satisfaction with this initiative "which offers every guarantee that it will work well."

Only Germany showed concern for the dogma of national sovereignty, Dr. A. F. W. Keller saying the reich would have been unable to approve, had not the agreement made it clear that it involved no infringement on Rumania's sovereign rights.

Pennsylvania-Dixie Cement.

We would appreciate your opinion of Pennsylvania-Dixie Cement corporation 6s, due 1941.—C. L. S.

Pennsylvania-Dixie Cement corporation's eight plants have an annual capacity of 12,000,000 barrels of cement. They are mainly in the Atlantic coast states and in the southeast, where competition with foreign and domestic producers is acute.

Continued overproduction of cement, intensified by inactivity in the building trade, the most important outlet, has resulted in price wars which have wiped out any margin of profit there might have been. Consumption of cement in the United States in 1931 was half the domestic producing capacity.

For the 12 months to Sept. 30, 1932, loss before interest was $1,051,000 and interest was $598,000. During the preceding 12 months the company lost $493,000 before interest of $637,000 and federal taxes of $19,000. Sales in the 1931 calendar year were $6,118,000, against $8,625,000 for 1930, $9,611,000 for 1929, and $11,838,000 for 1928. Loss in 1931 after interest of $628,000 was $1,359,000. Interest in 1930 was earned 1.88 times, against 1.47 times in 1929, and 2.75 times in 1928.

On Sept. 30, 1932, current assets were $5,110,000 and current liabilities were $247,000. Cash was $2,443,000. Working capital was $4,864,000, against $5,870,000 the year before.

Consumers Power.

Consumers Power company is controlled by Commonwealth and Southern corporation. It furnishes electricity, gas and miscellaneous utility services to 712 communities with a population of more than 1,800,000 in the lower peninsula of Michigan.

Gross revenues for the twelve months to Nov. 30, 1932, were $28,324,000 and net income was $9,374,000. Preferred dividends were $4,173,000. For the preceding twelve months gross was $30,905,000 and net income was $11,192,000. Preferred dividends were $4,101,000. Gross for 1931 was $30,860,000, against $32,512,000 for 1930, and $33,421,000 for 1929. Net income for 1931 was $11,146,000, or $15.27 per preferred share, against net of $11,957,000, or $18.21 per preferred share on a smaller number of shares for 1930. Net for 1929 was $12,047,000, against $10,604,000 for 1928.

On Dec. 31, 1931, current assets were $15,110,000, and current liabilities were $4,623,000. Cash assets alone were more than $7,000,000. Funded debt totaled $92,435,000. There were outstanding 706,954 shares of preferred stock of different dividend rates. All series of preferred have equal preference. The preferred is high grade.

SOLUTION TO THE COUNTERFEIT RING

The killer we will call X.

(a) As Leighton and the killer came from the same town this eliminates Leighton as the killer.

(b) Elliminates the engraver and Helen as the killer and as Helen fronted for the gang she was not the engraver.

(c) Elliminates Black and Harris as the killer or the engraver.

(d) Turner elliminates himself as the engraver and as every one else is accounted for it establishes Leighton as the engraver. And as the engraver was eliminated as the killer this leaves only Turner who is therefore the murderer.

YOU MAY INITIATE, BUT NEVER COUNTERFEIT.—Balzac.

It's a Fact!

Used Hudsons, as sold by us, are as smooth in operation as they are thrilling to drive, yet as safe as the very ground you walk on. You'll agree with us when you drive one. Hudson, the maker of SUPER MOTOR CARS, produced the Super 8s and Super 8s with many features entirely original with HUDSON. They are fast, economical, and well designed. Here are a few typical Hudson values:

1931 Hudson Coupe, rumble seat..... $495
1931 Hudson Sport Sedan..... 325
1930 Hudson Sport Sedan..... 295
1929 Hudson De Luxe Sedan..... 265
1929 Hudson Coach..... 175
1927 Hudson Coach..... 85

ESSEX enjoyed popularity right from the first cars that were put on the highways. That was in 1918. And Essex today is still in a commanding position. The brilliance of its performance, its smooth, powerful motor, and the economy that goes with an efficiently designed car are all qualities of the Essex. An Essex that has seen service does not lose any of these qualities. Here are a few typical Essex values. Come in and see them:

1931 Essex Coupe, rumble seat..... $275
1930 Essex Sedan, new tires..... 225
1929 Essex Sedan..... 175
1929 Essex Coupe, rumble seat..... 150
1928 Essex Coach..... 70
